MESSAGE FROM THE CHAIR

Did you know that until last September, paramedics arriving at a car accident or a shooting were not allowed to start a blood transfusion, and that emergency medical vehicles couldn't even carry blood?

We, the Los Angeles County Quality and Productivity Commission (QPC), learned that from County Fire Chief Anthony Marrone at our December 2024 meeting. The Chief was before us, just months after the regulation was changed, to request support for a pilot program to create coalitions of partners and design systems for EMTs to receive blood products, store them properly, administer them and rotate unused blood back to hospital partners. The pilot will be modeled with innovative technologies developed in field hospitals in Afghanistan and Iraq. It is the first step in making prehospital blood transfusions available County-wide as safely, quickly, and efficiently as possible.

We listened to the Chief's presentation. We listened to the analysis of the Productivity Investment Board (PIB) and the PIB Advisory Committee (County employees who assist departments with their Productivity Investment Fund (PIF) application). We asked questions about costs, timing, and complexity. And we voted YES, unanimously, to make The Rapid Operationalization of Prehospital Blood happen.

That's what we do. The QPC supports, recognizes, awards, and inspires County departments to innovate and solve problems to better serve all the people of greater Los Angeles.

In addition to the Fire Department, over the past year the QPC's PIF supported initiatives by the Natural History Museum, The Medical Examiner, Military and Veterans Affairs, County Human Resources, Public Health, and Los Angeles County Museum of Art.

At our 37th Annual Productivity and Quality Awards Luncheon in October we recognized ongoing initiatives to take on the rise in hate crimes, to make it easier to license child care providers, to provide free diapers and hygiene kits at county libraries (Did you know that the current average monthly cost for diapers is $80?), to link innovative mental health treatment with public defense, and to improve street-level homelessness services, to mention just a few of the stand-out programs.

At our annual County Leadership Conference in June, we convened the first all-County presentation and discussion of the challenges and opportunities before the County in preparing for the 2028 Olympics and other world-stage events on Los Angeles' calendar.

And finally, in 2024, we wrapped up a multi-year study and made recommendations aimed at modernizing and improving the County's procurement systems.

And next year, we will run the gamut again with new ideas, new challenges, and new concerns. We have scheduled Commission site visits at 21 departments across the County, where we'll learn of many new initiatives, get progress reports on ongoing efforts, and we will compile and synthesize all we've learned in the 2025 Strategic Learning Report.

Over the last 38 years, the Supervisors, Labor Organizations, and the Executive Office have appointed truly talented, smart, experienced, and dedicated individuals from business, academia, labor, and the nonprofit sector to serve on the Quality and Productivity Commission. It is truly an honor to serve. We enjoy the work and learn a lot from each other in the process. And the real secret sauce to the QPC is the support we get from our small and mighty outstanding staff led by Executive Director Jackie Guevarra.

On behalf of all 17 Commissioners and the staff, let me close by saying that it is a privilege, an education, and a source of inspiration to be the QPC. We can't wait to see what 2025 will bring.

QUALITY AND PRODUCTIVITY COMMISSION

MESSAGE FROM THE EXECUTIVE DIRECTOR

Change was the theme in 2024! Not only did we experience changes to Commission staffing—two key Commission staff members retired from County service—but we also had a changing of the guards in Commission leadership. I want to thank Laura Perez, Program Manager, and Tammy Johnson, Program Support, for their many years of dedicated service to the County, Commission, and the Executive Office of the Board of Supervisors. I also want to welcome Ruben Khosdikian and Betty Belavek who joined us in 2024 and will be providing Commission support in their respective roles.

Commissioner William Parent began his term as Commission Chair on January 1, 2024, along with Commissioners Will Wright (First Vice Chair) and Dion Rambo (Second Vice Chair). Together, we directed the Commission's programs and activities during the year.

The core work of the Commission – to promote efficiency, productivity, and innovation – continued throughout the year with the following activities:

- We hosted the annual 21st Leadership Conference (June 20, 2024) and 37th Productivity and Quality Awards (PQA) Program (October 16, 2024) at the Music Center (see pages 2-3 for all the PQA winners).
- We awarded over $2.6 million in Productivity Investment Fund grants to various County departments for innovative and service enhancement projects, including one that would provide daily mental health support to County veterans.
- We issued our final report in response to the County of Los Angeles Procurement Modernization and Transformation Board Motion (June 14, 2022) to modernize and transform the County's purchasing and contracting system. Click here for a copy of the report.
- We completed 16 Department Visits, both virtual and in-person (see pages 34-50 for copies of the reports).

We are grateful to the Board of Supervisors, Executive Office of the Board, Chief Executive Office, Commissioners, Productivity Managers, and Commission staff who champion the Quality and Productivity Commission year after year. Congratulations to the Commission for another year of programs committed to quality, productivity, and innovation!

COMMISSIONERS IN ACTION

OPERATIONAL TRENDS REPORT

“The trends that we have observed reflect the County’s willingness to experiment with new technologies along with continuous efforts to streamline operations while serving a diverse population. We anticipate a period of introspection for the need to anticipate and deal with potential catastrophic events such as have been recently experienced.”

EDWARD MCINTYRE

The Strategic Learning Ad Hoc Committee (Committee) identifies issues and trends that may affect the quality and productivity of County services, helping to uphold the Quality and Productivity Commission’s (Commission) commitment to ongoing learning and forward thinking. Its charge is to prepare a report with operational findings and recommendations related to productivity, based on an annual review of Department Visit Summaries, Productivity Investment Fund proposals and status reports, submissions to the Productivity and Quality Awards program, insights from the Leadership Conference, and any special projects or Board directives. Each year, the Committee examines these sources to glean relevant insights on enhancing quality and productivity across the County.

The Committee categorizes County trends and innovations into three phases: mature, current, and emerging. A mature trend has achieved widespread adoption, with successful pilots evaluated and scaling efforts underway. A current trend is under broad discussion, with gathering momentum for promising initiatives or interdepartmental collaborations. An emerging trend is a novel approach or model observed in multiple settings that merits further exploration.

OPERATIONAL TRENDS REPORT

The examples below substantiate these key trends. They are drawn from recent encounters with County departments through the Commission's various programs.

Mature Trend: Streamlining Operational Collaboration, Multidisciplinary Approach, and Integrated Delivery of Services

Among mature trends we see continuous efforts to provide operational collaboration using a multidisciplinary approach to provide integrated delivery of services. Some of this is exemplified by the continuous attempts to speed up or simplify routine processes and reduce barriers to the efficient accomplishment of tasks both within the County and by its constituents. Projects particularly at the local level highlight the need for such reform. For example, the problem faced by child care providers for infants and toddlers when seeking to acquire or renovate facilities face a complex and expensive process. In “Reducing Barriers To Attain Child Care For All”—a Productivity and Quality Awards (PQA) Top Ten winning project—the Department of Public Health worked with County departments (e.g., Fire, Public Works, Regional Planning) involved in facility development approvals to address these barriers. Providing training and technical assistance to the providers on navigating the system is an investment that has positive multigenerational effects that provide young children with safe and nurturing care while providing families with much needed support.

The Public Defender also launched the Partners for Justice project in July 2021—with a Productivity Investment Fund (PIF) grant—to provide holistic representation and assist clients with the challenges in their involvement in the legal system. There are eighteen client advocates providing holistic, wrap-around support to stabilize clients, promote wellness and reduce days of incarceration.

These are but two examples of multidisciplinary approach and streamlined operational collaboration to provide integrated delivery of services, with a focus on client priorities and needs throughout the County.

OPERATIONAL TRENDS REPORT

Current Trend: Overcoming Challenges To Workforce Development, Retention And Pipelines/Pathway To County Employment

A major current trend is seen in attempts to overcome challenges to workforce development, hiring and retention. Departments are working on reducing time to hire, addressing barriers to onboarding, and ensuring an inclusive workforce and workforce development programs. The establishment of training and recruitment “pipelines” have proved successful in several areas of the County. The Los Angeles General Medical Center developed a six-month Nurse Residency Program (NRP) program to transition nursing graduates through a tailored program. Through the NRP, the turnover rate of Registered Nurses decreased (from 22.4% to 8%), improved retention rates, and increased job satisfaction. The Department of Health Services also worked with the Department of Human Resources to expedite the hiring of newly graduated nurses within weeks (not months) to full-time permanent County positions—ensuring that Los Angeles County continues to be the “employer of choice.”

The Department of Mental Health also established a Psychiatric Technician program to increase the public mental health workforce with qualified individuals committed to providing services in high priority areas within the County.

County Counsel creates a pathway for future attorneys by engaging young adults participating in the Teach Democracy Mock Trial Competition and works with various bar associations to create opportunities for law students seeking internships.

Emerging Trend: Making Data More Accessible with Artificial Intelligence, Drone and Other Technologies

Emerging Trends include making data more accessible through the use of Generative Artificial Intelligence (AI) and later generation drones and other technologies. One such example is the Fire Department leveraging the use of cameras and sensors deployed throughout the County and State to monitor wildfires and disasters in real time affording opportunities to manage resources quickly. ALERTCalifornia (<https://alertcalifornia.org/>) provides state-of-the-art technology that supports data-driven decisions to prepare for, respond to, and recover from natural disasters.

OPERATIONAL TRENDS REPORT

Through a PIF grant, Regional Planning expanded the Department's Unmanned Aircraft Systems program (drones) for land use planning purposes. The use of drones during inspections facilitates access to sites that are considered inaccessible, too vast or laden with safety hazards (remote desert, mountainous areas, large landfills, hazardous sites), enable planners to conduct inspections more efficiently—covering large properties in a very short amount of time—and improving staff safety.

The goals underlying the County's 2024-2030 Strategic Plan — make investments that transform lives, foster vibrant and resilient communities, and realize tomorrow's government today — are evident in the operational trends identified here. From supporting vulnerable populations to creating a diverse and inclusive workforce, using data-driven decision making and having a flexible and efficient infrastructure, they reflect a commitment to investing in meaningful individual and community connections as well as in the use of technology for the public good. The trends showcase countywide enhancements in quality and productivity, helping to advance the County's ongoing mission while affirming the Board's core priorities.

Climate Change and Extreme Heat – Impacts on LACo Operations and Service Planning

GRANT

PROBLEM: Low-income communities and people of color are disproportionately burdened by extreme heat, due to a combination of factors including streetscapes that trap heat at ground level and limited household resources for cooling. Los Angeles County departments lack the in-house expertise to quantify extreme heat impacts on service demand and associated costs. Quantifying extreme heat impacts on County services will improve the County's ability to develop tailored solutions for mitigating and managing associated costs.

SOLUTION: A research partner was contracted to conduct relevant statistical analyses and develop software that enabled the County to run similar analyses more easily in the future. The Executive Office of the Board of Supervisors also worked with the consultant and relevant County Departments to interpret the findings which will be used to inform the development of new solutions for effectively mitigating and responding to extreme heat impacts through service and operation changes. This research will provide better understanding for how to support more climate resilience among disproportionately burdened communities and thereby reduce racial health inequities.

RESULTS: This project helped County Departments that provide public-facing services understand how their services and clients are impacted by extreme heat using County administrative/service data and other data sources. The project's primary outputs consisted of 1 report, 1 software package, and a published peer-reviewed research article.

Bias Mitigation Strategies for Emergency Responders

GRANT$150,000

PROBLEM: Data from 211LA on reporting hate reveal that hate based on race and ethnicity is the largest category of bias reported. Health care, law enforcement, and Disaster Service Worker (DSW) workforces are in need of support to address societal inequities and disparate treatment due to one's personal characteristics and introduce research-based strategies that would create a more equitable response.

SOLUTION: A customized, 20-minute online training was developed in response to the COVID-19 public health crisis for all Los Angeles County employees on explicit and implicit bias mitigation. The project sought to help employees acquire strategies and techniques for handling biased speech and conduct from the public they serve and mitigating feelings about service recipients based on, but not limited to, their characteristics, such as race, ethnicity, and gender identity.

RESULTS: Starting in January 2024, three training videos were uploaded to Talent Works. The project filled a critical gap in the existing training programs on diversity, implicit bias, and equity policy as it targeted a very specific group of emergency responders both in the safety and health service sectors where it is most crucial for workers to learn techniques and best practices for reducing (and eliminating) bias in their interactions with the public they serve. As of December 12, 2024, a total of 1,421 County employees have completed the online version of the training.

Building Competencies in LGBTQ+ Awareness and SOGIE Data Collection

GRANT

PROBLEM: When collecting Sexual Orientation, Gender Identity and Expression (SOGI/SOGIE) information from Lesbian, Gay, Bisexual, Transgender, Queer/Questioning (LGBTQ+) individuals, many fear reprisal and methodologies used and assume lack of acceptance from County employees and departments. Changing these concerns requires competency training with data collection methodologies that emphasize confidentiality. Note when referring to data collection, the "E" is omitted since data is not collected on Gender Expression.

SOLUTION: In the summer of 2022, the Department of Human Resources (DHR) conducted an LGBTQ+ and SOGIE data training needs assessment. The assessment included interviews with department executives and subject matter experts to better identify gaps in knowledge, skills, and abilities around LGBTQ+ SOGI data collection within their workforce. From May to December 2023, DHR hosted 5 pilot webinar sessions and tested the training method and content structure on an informed audience.

RESULTS: Over 400 employees participated in the training program. The program marked a significant milestone in the County's commitment to inclusive data collection practices. Recommendations were made for enhanced role-based training, optimized interactive learning, strengthened implementation support, mandating trainings, customer service enhancements, and integrating the newly established LA County LGBTQ+ Commission. Operational readiness metrics show that more than 75% of participants feel highly prepared to implement SOGI data collection practices.

PROJECT

Volunteer Expansion & Management (VEM) Program

GRANT

$100,000

PROBLEM: LA County Library has the second largest volume of volunteers of all County departments. In the past, individual library locations would independently handle and manage their volunteers. A centralized volunteer management system was needed to enhance efficiency, accuracy, improve communication and reporting, and provide a more consistent experience for all volunteers.

SOLUTION: The expansion of Library volunteers requires a more robust volunteer management program. The Volunteer Management System, VolunteerHub, allows staff to more efficiently receive and approve volunteer applications, track essential records and data including fingerprint clearance and background checks, and match volunteer skills to program needs.

RESULTS: Since implementation of VolunteerHub, LA County Library has onboarded 1,671 volunteers who have contributed 25,711 hours. Having VolunteerHub increases efficiencies, reduces the number of staff hours spent manually managing these operations, and makes processes consistent across all Library locations and programs. Information is centralized and easily accessible online, eliminating the need to sift through physical files. With the centralized system, statistical information regarding volunteers, such as the number of active volunteers and the total number of hours worked, can be compiled in less than a day for the entire library system and provides clearer, real-time insight into the volunteer program compared to 2-5 hours per site before the implementation of the system.

Workstations on Wheels (WOW) for Enhancement of Autopsy Service

GRANT

PROBLEM: The Los Angeles County Medical Examiner Department acquired a CT scanner in 2016 to enhance diagnostic accuracy, aid in retrieval of projectile evidence, improve turnaround time in cases involving blunt trauma as the cause of death, and avoid doing autopsies in cases of religious objection. However, the monitors to view the images were not available on the service floor.

SOLUTION: 15 medical grade workstations on wheels (WOW) were purchased for the autopsy service floor as well as surrounding areas within the department. WOW were equipped with a computer, mouse, keyboard, specimen label printer, drawers to hold accessory materials, and space to write to complete case-related paperwork and diagrams. They were first deployed into the autopsy suite in 2022, and then slowly expanded to other areas of the service floor and beyond.

RESULTS: WOW has greatly enhanced the workflows of both the medical and investigations divisions within the department. Medical examiners may use these workstations to view radiographic studies, such as x-ray and CT scans in real-time during autopsy. This is especially imperative when attempting to localize projectiles or other foreign objects during autopsy. These workstations are also used by forensic technicians to review their case assignments, print specimen labels, print body diagrams, and enter items of evidence and/or property into the case management system.

West Campus Lighting Control System Upgrade

PROBLEM: Core components of the current Lighting Control System (LCS) have become obsolete. As a result, staff from the Los Angeles County Museum of Art (LACMA) have developed inefficient workflows to execute and manage the complex lighting plans required by LACMA's exhibitions, events, and programs. While this affects staff productivity, it also impacts the visitor experience as LACMA is no longer able to titrate lighting conditions as specifically as the exhibitions require. This has long-term effects on the care of LACMA's collection, one of the County's most valuable resources.

SOLUTION: LACMA replaced the existing lighting control server, processors, and stations responsible for the west side of the museum's 20-acre campus. By upgrading to a state-of-the-art system, LACMA will better preserve and protect its diverse, 152,000-object collection, improve the viewing experience for its audience, and create efficiencies for staff.

RESULTS: The installation of the West Campus LCS was completed in September 2024. The upgrade has led to greater capacity for staff to monitor and record accurate light exposure for works of art. From an operations standpoint, LCS improved efficiency and accuracy through automation and remote control of lighting changes and enhanced efficiency by customizing lighting programming in-house. From an operations safety perspective, the upgrade has brought enhanced access and controls for security in emergency situations and enhanced daylight harvesting for site safety and energy conservation.

Under the leadership of Commissioner William R. Wright, Chair of the Department Visit ad hoc Committee (Committee), the Commission visited 16 County departments (one virtual). The Commission visits departments on a bi-annual basis. The Committee plans the visits with County departments for a given year. The intent of the Department Visits is to understand departmental operations and priorities, and to assist the department toward realizing enhanced productivity and quality services.

Activities of the Committee:

- Continued to gather trends from site visits
- Distributed Department Visit summary reports to the Chief Executive Officer, Executive Officer, Department Heads, and Network Managers
- Visited the departments on the following pages during the 2024 calendar year

Aging and Disabilities

Dr. Laura Trejo, Director

APRIL 11, 2024 (IN-PERSON VISIT)

Commissioners noted and/or were pleased to learn the following from the Department:

- The Department's responsibilities to implement and oversee programs that provide a wide range of home and community-based services designed to support independent living for older adults aged 60 and over, family caregivers, and persons with disabilities. These services include the Elderly Nutrition Program, Supportive Services Program, Family Caregiver Support Program, Legal Assistance, Long-Term Care Ombudsman Program, Senior Community Service Employment Program, Health Insurance Counseling and Advocacy, New Freedom Transportation, and L.A. Found Program, among others
- The Department's various programs, including the Purposeful Aging Los Angeles (PALA) Phase II, which seeks to prepare the region for the anticipated increase in older adult population. For example, the No-Wrong-Door Partnership enables people of all ages, incomes, and disabilities to connect with any one of the partner organizations for accessing a wide array of long-term services and support options in the community and the Building a Better Connection for Older Adults program which seeks to enhance the digital literacy skills of older adults and individuals with a disability

Commissioners also recognized quality and productivity improvements in the following areas:

- Establishing the Los Angeles Adult Protective Services Center of Excellence which includes a multidisciplinary team from various community agencies (e.g., District Attorney, Department of Mental Health, Public Guardian, Bet Tzedek, law enforcement, etc.) to serve clients better
- Creating the Data Management and Analytics section to manage the Cognos Analytics and Power BI programs that provide real-time reports and dashboards to stakeholders including managers, supervisors, and contractors for data driven decisions; it also provides real-time visibility into the Department's key performance indicators and metrics

Mandated reporting has caused an overburdening of the system with families who do not require an intervention from the child welfare system but may benefit from community-based services and supports to meet their needs and is a key driver of racial disproportionality into the child welfare system

JULY 24, 2024 (IN-PERSON VISIT)

Commissioners noted and/or were pleased to learn the following from the Department:

- In partnership with the Los Angeles County Office of Education, the Department launched the Community School Initiative (CSI). CSI is a school transformation strategy aimed at disrupting poverty and addressing longstanding inequities. The CSI Model is an evidence-based school improvement framework that recognizes the role of family and community as key stakeholders who can collaborate with educators to address external factors influencing student achievement, such as family circumstances, traumatic events (e.g., adverse childhood experiences), poverty, and health concerns, while incorporating cultural differences, and student engagement. CSI provides services at a high school in each of the 15 school districts
- In the aftermath of the COVID-19 pandemic and the protests of racial injustice and mental health challenges have come to the forefront. Unfortunately, stigma related to seeking help for mental health issues sometimes prevent people from seeking and receiving needed mental health services or treatment. In May 2023, the Department launched its inaugural "Take Action LA County" campaign. The month-long campaign is celebrated in May which is nationally recognized as Mental Health Awareness Month

Commissioners also recognized quality and productivity improvements in the following areas:

- Opening Peer Resource Centers (PRC) in various service areas in the County. The PRCs integrate high-quality, holistic care throughout the County's mental health services. The Restorative Care Village on the Olive View Medical Center campus exemplifies this commitment to delivering integrative physical and emotional support and wellness. Led by peers with lived experiences, the PRCs offer a non-stigmatizing space where individuals receive timely and culturally responsive care

THE NEUROCOGNITIVE DISORDERS TEAM

Public Defender with Probation, Southern California Health & Rehabilitation Program, South Central Los Angeles Regional Center, UCLA-Social Justice in Criminal Neuropsychology, and Clinical Psychology Department at The Chicago School, Los Angeles

Since its inception in November of 2021, the Neurocognitive Disorders Team (NDT) has reimaged how the Public Defender (PD) represents clients who have cognitive disorders such as Developmental Disabilities that start earlier in life, including Intellectual Disability and Autism, or acquired conditions that frequently occur later in life, such as brain injuries, and dementias. These clients often have unique needs, go unidentified, and are not successful without appropriate treatment and supports.

The Neurocognitive Disorders Team (NDT) brings best practices to the legal representation of justice-involved adults who are suspected of having cognitive disorders. Individuals with these conditions are vastly overrepresented within the criminal legal system but often slip through unnoticed with devastating consequences since these individuals are prone to making repeated mistakes when not offered the necessary supports. NDT is built on three foundational goals – to improve PD advocacy for impacted individuals, to increase awareness and a better understanding of client needs, and to enhance justice partner connections to treatment providers, which has historically been overlooked. Through compassionate and skillful engagement, NDT assists clients with unique needs who would otherwise be unidentified and provides linkage to appropriate and effective services.

In collaboration with qualified treatment providers, NDT successfully advocates for sentencing alternatives that result in better client and community outcomes. Illustrating the life-changing effect of combining technological advances with diligent legal work, an NDT client's success was documented in the short film "Forgiving Johnny." The NDT won the statewide California Public Defender Association "2023 Defender Program of The Year Award."

HOMELESS OUTREACH AND MOBILE ENGAGEMENT (HOME) Mental Health

As the homeless numbers in Los Angeles County continued to rise between 2014-2019, it had become increasingly evident that a coordinated approach to care was needed. As part of Measure H implementation, a countywide outreach strategy emerged to support transitions from unsheltered homelessness in a strategic manner.

The DMH Homeless Outreach & Mobile Engagement (HOME) program provides street-based engagement & treatment for individuals experiencing homelessness with severe mental illness and profound functional impairment. Individuals served by HOME are gravely disabled, chronically impaired and have a history of multiple treatment and housing failures across multiple social and medical service entities. HOME combines human connection, relentless engagement and the creativity of skilled clinicians and paraprofessionals to support individuals with complex mental health, health, substance abuse and other social support needs. The program was created in response to a growing demand for specialized services to individuals experiencing homelessness that went beyond connection to traditional outpatient treatment and/or even intensive field services.

From Fiscal Year 2022 to 2024 (year-to-date), HOME has served 5,400 unique clients. Between Calendar Year 2022 and 2024 (year-to-date), they have engaged in 465 psychiatric crisis interventions; facilitated 142 conservatorships; 488 placements in interim housing; and 392 transitions to permanent housing.

PAVING A BRIGHT FUTURE FOR NURSING

Health Services (LA General Medical Center Nursing Education and Human Resources)
with Human Resources

Prior to the COVID-19 pandemic, newly graduated RNs frequently faced challenges in adapting the academic context to the demanding and intense clinical environment. The challenges encompassed adjusting to complex patient care circumstances, making timely and appropriate clinical decisions, and accepting substantial levels of responsibility. The COVID-19 pandemic significantly disrupted conventional nursing education, resulting in significant gaps in clinical training opportunities for both nursing students and recently licensed RNs.

In October 2022, the Nursing Education Department for Professional Development (NED) implemented the very first Nurse Residency Program (NRP), a six-month program designed to prepare new graduate RNs with less than 12 months of acute care clinical experience. NRP aims to equip novice RNs with the knowledge, skill, and hands-on experiences required to transition confidently from nursing students to competent nurses. The program incorporates in-person classroom, didactic training, skills and specialty training, clinical preceptorship, professional development workshops, including mentorship and initiating a performance improvement project.

The program has shown significant outcomes, including increased confidence and satisfaction among nurse residents, improved retention rates, and enhanced clinical, organizational, and leadership skills, and improved patient care and outcomes.

LA VS HATE, ADDRESSING BIAS & HATE

Executive Office of the Board of Supervisors (Human Relations Commission)
211 LA, Special Service for Groups, Inc., and TaskForce

In February 2018, UCLA published a study that found school administrators were reporting an alarming increase in bullying with rates estimated at +11%. While law enforcement studies note that hate crimes are one of the most under-reported of crimes, research also notes that hate crimes are the most difficult to measure the true impact on demonizing others. In addition, there is no reporting mechanism anywhere for victims of hate to report hate crimes, hate acts, and bullying.

LA vs Hate is a community-driven system that was implemented to address hate violence, bullying, and the prevention and response to this violence. Since its launch, LA vs Hate represented the first hate reporting line, developed a case management system with 211LA, and integrated a network of agencies to respond to hate acts. LA vs Hate art has been used in hundreds of consumer posters, bus shelter ads, lifeguard stations, park sites, and libraries' kiosks. It has been responsible for policy changes, such as a partnership with the California Civil Rights Department's Guidance for landlords, Homeowner Associations, or property management firms, to effectively address hate acts happening in residences, or development of a video training for law enforcement to address the severe under-reporting of hate acts/ crimes which has led to state law requiring reporting of hate acts. LA vs Hate launched eight school Dream Resource Centers to address bullying.

Now, a model for other counties, it has substantially served over 50,469 County residents with effective services and has developed an interactive arts-led messaging campaign reporting 2 billion views and shares.

SAFER@HOME

Health Services (LA General Medical Center, Harbor-UCLA Medical Center, and Rancho Los Amigos National Rehabilitation Center), and CalOx

Hospitalizations can be disruptive and harmful for patients, however innovations in practice suggest there is no longer a need to hospitalize patients like before. Other systems have invested in “hospital-at-home” models that rely on in-home visits by nurses and doctors. These models are resource-intensive and untenable for systems with limited staffing and large service areas like the County Department of Health Services.

LA County Central Medical Center developed a new model of home-based care called Safer@Home (S@H). S@H provides virtual home care in lieu of hospitalization for a growing number of acute care conditions. In contrast to other “hospital-at-home” models, S@H does not deploy staff for in-home visits. Instead, S@H leverages remote device technology, a reliable roundtrip transportation process, advances in clinical practice, and an expert team to provide concierge-level, virtual home care, with bring-back visits only as needed.

In its first year, S@H enabled 876 patients to avoid 3,505 days in the hospital (avg. 4 hospital days saved/patient), generating capacity for other patients who truly required hospital-based care, improving overcrowding in the Emergency Department and hospital. When compared to eligible patients not enrolled in S@H, no significant differences were observed in all-cause mortality or 30-day hospital readmissions. S@H was implemented with no new staff or capital investments, and it achieved a net savings of $6.23M in just its first year. S@H has received local, national, and international recognition for its innovation and effectiveness.

DIAPER & HYGIENE KITS: SUPPORTING FAMILIES IN NEED

LA County Library with First Supervisorial District and Chief Executive Office

During the pandemic, LA County saw parents and caregivers unable to purchase diapers for their children. While supply is now adequate, rising costs are problematic. According to the Center for Economic and Policy Research, even prior to inflation, low-income families were spending roughly $1,000 a year on diapers, or around 14% of their after-tax income. Period poverty—or inadequate access to menstrual hygiene tools and education is also a struggle in LA County. Costly menstrual products create a disproportionate financial burden for those who menstruate.

The LA County Library in partnership with the Chief Executive Office and First Supervisorial District created a pilot program to distribute free diapers, baby wipes, and menstrual hygiene products at five high-need libraries. Funded by Los Angeles-based nonprofit, Baby2Baby, who provided the supplies, the program was designed to support families disproportionately affected by the pandemic and rising costs. The Diaper and Hygiene Kit Program aims to alleviate the financial strain caused by the recurring expense of diapers and menstrual hygiene products, which can amount to hundreds or even thousands of dollars annually, by providing free care items in libraries, a safe and trusted place where parents, caregivers, children, young people, and those experiencing homelessness frequently visit. Since October 2022, participating libraries have distributed 4,137 kits containing diapers and wipes, plus 11,355 pads, and 4,224 tampons. By removing the barrier to health and well-being and ensuring families have access to necessary products, the Diaper and Hygiene Kit Program helps families break the cycle of poverty.

MENTAL HEALTH HOUSING COURT & DIVERSION PROGRAM

Probation with District Attorney, Health Services (Office of Diversion and Re-Entry), Los Angeles County Superior Court, and Public Defender

A primary challenge in Los Angeles County is the rapid growth of the mentally ill/transient population in County jail. Jail reform has increased a need for housing and mental health treatment. An estimated 20 to 25 percent of the U.S. homeless population suffers from severe mental illness, compared to 6 percent of the public. This group often needs intensive, specialized, coordinated care to exit homelessness and incarceration.

Mental Health Housing Court Program is a supervision program for adult mentally ill/homeless clients who receive housing and mental health treatment upon release from county jail. The Mental Health Housing Court Program (MHHC) is an innovative intensive supervision program that requires Deputy Probation Officers (DPOs) to supervise their clients in a community setting. MHHC DPOs are required to conduct a home visit within 48 hours of the client's release from county jail. The MHHC DPO visits their client at least two (2) times a month at either the client's home or housing program location. The goal of MHHC program is to meet the department's expectations of providing support and guidance to a very high-risk population by collaborating with the housing case managers and treatment providers, such as Intensive Care Management Services (ICMS) and the Full-Service Partnership (FSP) to ensure clients are following their treatment plan and goals.

The MHHC program is clearly making a difference by providing supervision and support to over 4,836 clients. Currently, there are over 1,378 MHHC clients in permanent housing.

REDUCING BARRIERS TO ATTAIN CHILD CARE FOR ALL

Public Health with Fire, Public Works, Regional Planning, California Department of Social Services, Community Care Licensing Division, Conrad N. Hilton Foundation, and Public Counsel

Los Angeles County is home to more than 484,000 infants and toddlers, but the County's early care and education infrastructure is extremely limited and has capacity to serve only four percent of children under 24 months through licensed centers and family childcare homes. The insufficient supply of early care and education spaces has become a crucial economic issue across all sectors and is particularly impacting the participation of women in the workforce.

The Child Care for All Initiative supports early childhood educators increase infant/toddler child care capacity in Los Angeles County. Child Care for All will have enrolled an additional 520 infants and toddlers in early care and education programs with an estimated $100,000 in cost avoidance. A notable success from this project was the bridging of different sectors that, prior to this project, were unlikely to collaborate or interact with each other. The dedication of our partners to support Los Angeles County's vulnerable populations, learn from one another, and co-design a system that is accessible, user-friendly, and efficient for early care and education providers yielded extraordinary results, including 740 early educators participating in capacity building trainings, the launch of an LAC facility development fee waiver program, and improved access to infant and toddler child care programs.

Accessing preventive healthcare and achieving educational milestones are crucial indicators for a community's long-term well-being. LAC youth face obstacles in both areas; those in grades 9-12, who are more prone to engage in unhealthy behaviors, often lack preventive healthcare.

Since 2019, Public Health's Student Wellbeing Centers (WBCs) have partnered with Planned Parenthood Los Angeles (PPLA), the LAC Office of Education, and school districts to provide clinical services, safe spaces, and health education at 39 high schools, with 13 sites offering behavioral health services. WBCs offer comprehensive, accessible healthcare services and provide youth-friendly spaces that teach students about protective practices, and promote well-being, youth leadership, and safe sexual health resulting in an estimated $343.5 million cost benefit. In the 2023-24 school year, WBCs made 778 referrals for sexual health services, 233 referrals for mental health services, engaged 64,663 students, taught 1,810 classes, and trained 372 youth leaders. Through the PPLA partnership, barriers to healthcare were reduced, as evident through providing 5,904 preventive healthcare visits & sexual health services, and responding to over 22,000 calls on the Infoline. Furthermore, since 2022, PPLA has provided 1,618 on-site behavioral health interventions to students. The partnership fosters holistic student health and wellbeing and empowers youth to make informed decisions about their health.

DYD CREDIBLE MESSENGER MENTORSHIP PILOT

Youth Development with Anti-Recidivism Coalition, Healing Dialogue and Action, and Young Women's Freedom Center

The Credible Messenger Mentorship Pilot program was launched in March of 2023, serves about 200 youth per quarter. In response to the closure of the state youth system and realignment of Department of Juvenile Justice (DJJ) youth back to their respective counties, in September 2021 the LA County Board of Supervisor's directed the Youth Development and Diversion (YDD) Division (previously a division within the Department of Health Services, now a stand-alone department—DYD), to develop a plan to implement a Credible Messenger mentorship program to serve these youth.

The Credible Messenger (CM) Mentorship Program addresses the needs of youth incarcerated in LA County's juvenile hall and camps by providing culturally relevant support through transformative mentorship. The CM program connects youth with trusted and culturally relevant mentors, or "Credible Messengers," who have navigated their own lived experience within the juvenile or adult carceral systems. The program uses a co-staffing approach—the first of its kind in LA County—in which the CMs are present in Probation facilities full-time throughout the day. The presence of CMs in facilities provides youth with a consistent positive and relatable adult relationship to support them in navigating day-to-day successes, challenges, and healing, as well as aid in preventing future system involvement. CMs are trained in conflict intervention and de-escalation, restorative practices, and developmentally appropriate youth engagement. Additionally, the program aims to support culture change within Probation facilities, reducing harm in facilities by creating a climate and relationships that are more holistically supportive of young people.

"WE ARE STILL HERE," A REPORT ON HARMS

Arts and Culture with First Supervisoral District

Settler colonization has resulted in fraught relationships between the government, Tribes, and Native Peoples. In recent years, the County of Los Angeles has been active in both uplifting the true histories of what is now known as Los Angeles County and in prioritizing equity for its communities.

A landmark Harms Report was developed with culturally sensitivity, community engagement, strategic creativity of photography and design, and authenticity—to uplift the voices of local Tribes to inform Countywide efforts including its first Land Acknowledgment and ongoing work of acknowledging and engaging with Tribal and Native American communities. Over a nine-month period in 2022, the Los Angeles City/County Native American Indian Commission, in partnership with the Chief Sustainability Office and the Department of Arts and Culture, met with designated representatives from five local Tribes. A culminating report entitled "We Are Still Here," A Report on Past, Present, and Ongoing Harms Against Local Tribes includes an accounting of the history of the First Peoples of the region. The report reflects the thoughts, wishes, needs, and recommendations of representatives from the Fernandeño Tataviam Band of Mission Indians, Gabrieleno/Tongva San Gabriel Band of Mission Indians, Gabrielino Tongva Indians of California Tribal Council, San Fernando Band of Mission Indians, and San Manuel Band of Mission Indians.

Public Health with Little Tokyo Service Center, Thai Community Development Center, Asian Pacific Islander Forward Movement, South Asian Network, Access to Prevention Advocacy Intervention & Treatment, Pals for Health, Greater Los Angeles Agency on Deafness, African Coalition, Southern California Pacific Islander Community Response Team, and So'oh-Shináli Sister Project

Language access is critical to Public Health's mission of reaching all communities, including the 54.8% of LA County residents who speak a language other than English at home, and 30% of households that are linguistically isolated. The Center for Health Equity Language Justice Unit created the Hub for Interpretation and Translation (HIT) system, a central digital platform where DPH program offices can request document translation or interpretation to facilitate timely, quality-and cost- controlled language services.

HIT consolidates multiple processes across the department that had resulted in inconsistent and high-cost delivery of language-access services. With a centralized platform and protocol, the HIT system can process a high volume of requests to a combination of 11 in-house language translators and multiple external vendors. It enhances the monitoring of quality, manages per-request costs, and carries the potential for expanding the scope and scale of sustainable ongoing language services.

Since its launch in June 2023, HIT has processed 523 translation requests for 2,449 documents in 21 languages and 60 interpretation requests. HIT has reduced translation time by 5.75 days and costs by 90%, or $1,000+ per request.

THE ABC'S OF GENDER HEALTH - AFFIRMING BETTER CARE

Health Services (Administration) with First Supervisorial District, Children and Family Services, Mental Health, and Public Health

Due to social marginalization, transgender, gender nonconforming and intersex (TGI) people are at elevated risk for experiencing violence, trauma, discrimination, harassment, housing instability, unemployment, poverty, and lack of inclusion in public services. Large nation-wide surveys have indicated that transgender adults are more than twice as likely as cisgender adults to avoid seeking needed health care due to fear of mistreatment.

The DHS Gender Health Program (GHP) has built safe access to high-quality gender affirming medical services for DHS transgender, gender non- conforming and intersex (TGI) patients, a population which is underserved by health care systems. In particular, the GHP serves groups uniquely vulnerable to the impact of social discrimination, trauma and family rejection-including DCFS/child welfare involved youth, those who are unhoused, and people who are currently or formerly incarcerated. Through collaborative work across County Departments, the GHP has addressed limited access to best-practice gender affirming medical services, lack of care coordination, historic precedent and culture which harms the relationship between County and TGI community, and gaps in the electronic health record (EHR) which prevent recording of correct name, pronouns, and gender.

Over the last 3 years, the GHP has served more than 500 TGI individuals; enhancing access to expanded, high-quality gender affirming medical services, and establishing meaningful linkages across Departments and within the community. This has been accomplished through improved collaboration and coordination and without any new costs to participating Departments.

SAFER@HOME

Hospitalizations can be disruptive and harmful for patients, but innovations in practice suggest we no longer need to hospitalize many patients like we used to. More out-of-hospital care can also improve access at overcrowded hospitals, by opening beds for the sickest patients who need them most.

Safer@Home (S@H), provides virtual home care in lieu of hospitalization for a growing number of acute care conditions. In contrast to other “hospital-at-home” models, S@H does not deploy staff for in-home visits. Instead, S@H leverages remote device technology, a reliable roundtrip transportation process, advances in clinical practice, and an expert team to provide concierge-level, virtual home care, with bring-back visits only as needed. “EPIC-LA”: AN EXTRAORDINARY JOURNEY

Regional Planning with Chief Executive Office, Fire, Parks and Recreation, Public Health, and Public Works

As the largest County in California and the nation, it is easy to imagine how complicated land development is in LA County. Building a home or opening a business means filing multiple permits with different Departments at various offices across LA County. And when Departments work in silos, the applicant ends up responsible for passing messages and sharing updates with everyone involved.

The LA County Electronic Permitting and Inspections (EPIC-LA) system has transformed how land development Departments collaborate and serve the public. EPIC-LA is the enterprise system used by Regional Planning, Public Works, Fire, Parks, and Public Health to accept applications and fees, internally consult, and share information, and issue approvals and generate reports for State requirements and the general public. During the pandemic, EPIC-LA provided key services without interruption, such as permits for temporary outdoor businesses.

Through a customer-centric service model that supports development as a single line of business, now with more than 1,200 County staff as users and County investments exceeding $31M, EPIC-LA reflects the ongoing commitment and follow-through of County leaders to provide a seamless experience through a collaborative government to create vibrant, resilient communities and effectively implement technology to meet constituents' needs.

LEAD FREE HOMES LA: PAINT REMEDIATION REVOLUTION

Public Health with Los Angeles County Development Authority

Lead is a toxin and causes irreversible biological and neurological damage associated with cognitive and behavioral impairment. The vast majority of housing in Los Angeles County was built before 1978 and contained lead paint. Lead poisoning is completely preventable, and elimination of lead paint hazards, the primary source of lead poisoning in children, is vital to the health of future generations of Angelenos. As such, it is critical to remove lead paint hazards from homes where young children live before they are needlessly exposed to a toxin that could result in a lifetime of negative health impacts.

The Department of Public Health (DPH), in collaboration with the Los Angeles County Development Authority (LACDA), created the Lead Free Homes Los Angeles (LFHLA) program, a transformative Countywide program offering no-cost lead-based paint hazard testing and remediation for pre-1951 residential housing, prioritizing families with children who are already lead-burdened, households with children under age six, and pregnant women in communities with a high prevalence of poverty and considered to have environmental burden.

To date, LFHLA has provided education and lead remediation services to over 750 properties to reduce lead exposure in children, families, and future generations. This settlement has provided unprecedented funding to combat the longest-lasting public health epidemic in California history by allowing LAC and nine other local public entities across the state to perform residential lead-based paint hazard remediation to protect thousands of children from future lead poisoning. Efforts yielded an impressive estimated annual cost benefit of $176.5 million.

SAVING LIVES THROUGH HANDS-ONLY CPR

Heart disease is the leading cause of death in Los Angeles County, with one person dying every 33 seconds from this condition according to the Centers for Disease Control and Prevention (CDC). Each year, more than 350,000 cardiac arrests occur in settings outside of hospitals, with over 70% occurring at home and 16.3% in public settings. Although research shows that individuals who receive Cardiopulmonary Resuscitation (CPR) before an ambulance arrives are 2-3 times more likely to survive, only 40% receive CPR on average. Hands-only CPR focuses on the first few minutes following a cardiac arrest. Chest compressions move oxygen through the body to keep the brain and other vital organs alive, which buys time until an ambulance or other emergency help arrives.

Committed to addressing these gaps, the Department of Public Health (DPH) launched the Heart Heroes campaign in January 2023. This initiative set an ambitious goal to train 500,000 residents and workers in Los Angeles County in hands-only CPR. In just 1 year, 506,332 Los Angeles County residents and workers were trained in hands-only CPR with the support of over 120 collaborating partners, including 16 County departments/agencies, including 1,809 trainings in HPI+ communities.

The program potentially yielding an estimated annual hospitalization cost savings of $36,940,167. The campaign's outreach and training efforts have been widespread and inclusive, demonstrating a remarkable achievement in public health education and emergency preparedness.

RABID GUARD

Internal Services Department with Animal Care and Control

During the height of the COVID-19 pandemic, there was a surge in pet adoptions, leading to increased demand for rabies vaccinations. This created significant pressure with a shortage of staff to the Department of Animal Care and Control (DACC) to process the rabies certification.

The Los Angeles County Internal Services Department's Robotic Process Automation (RPA) team collaborated with DACC, to develop a software robot, or "bot" for DACC that can learn and mimic human's activities, and process and complete the rules-based rabies certification forms automatically without any human intervention. This innovation has significantly reduced data entry time from eight minutes per record to mere seconds, enabling DACC to process thousands of records with greater accuracy and speed. The RPA bot is highly efficient and effective compared to manual entry and is equipped with features for handling exceptions and errors to process forms with varying formats and content from different vets and animal clinics. This eases the workload for the animal care staff, streamlines the processes, and improves overall productivity.

This project offers substantial time savings for the department, totaling 1,428 hours per year. (Based on processing around 10,000 certifications per year with the manual data entry process averaging 5-10 minutes per certification).

STRENGTHENING CHILD ASSESSMENT PARTNERSHIPS

Children and Family Services

Signed into law in February 2018, the Family First Prevention Services Act (FFPSA) Part IV is a landmark legislation that allows Federal dollars (Title IV-E funds) to be used to reimburse child welfare agencies for congregate care placements. If requirements are not satisfied, child welfare agencies may lose or significantly restrict their eligibility for Federal Financial Participation (FFP) to fund these placements for children and youth.

The Family First Prevention Services Act (FFPSA) Part IV C.A.R.E. (Comprehensive Automation for Referral Efficiency) project revolutionized tracking and monitoring of Qualified Individual (QI) Assessment referrals and Short-term Residential Therapeutic Program (STRTP) court approval requests in the Department of Children and Family Services (DCFS). By automating manual processes, the project enhanced operations, reducing administrative workload for social workers, care liaisons, and dependency court staff by over 50%. The transformation ensured 80% of QI Assessments were completed within required timeframes, improving timeliness and appropriateness of placements for children in foster care.

The project maximized Federal funding drawdowns by 20%, allowing DCFS to reallocate local funds to other essential services. Real-time data sharing with the Department of Mental Health (DMH) streamlined communication, improving service delivery. C.A.R.E. exemplifies innovation and collaboration, aligning with the County's strategic goals of strengthening internal controls, maximizing revenue, and improving the administration of critical programs. The initiative exceeds compliance requirements, setting a new standard for excellence in child welfare services.

“Thank you to the Quality and Productivity Commission and Chair William Parent for this incredible recognition.

This achievement would not be possible without the collective efforts of the LA County Library team. Their unwavering dedication to enriching lives and bridging societal divides inspires me every day as a leader and a proud public servant for all our neighbors in Los Angeles County. It has been an honor leading the Library as a vital pillar in safeguarding inclusivity and the public’s right to knowledge, and increasing access to services and resources through valuable partnerships with our County family.”

MESSAGE FROM THE CHAIR OF THE PRODUCTIVITY MANAGERS' NETWORK

"It is an honor to serve as Chair of the PMN and work with the Commission on its core mission and programs."

HEIDI OLIVA

It is an honor and privilege to serve, once again, as Chair of the Productivity Managers' Network (PMN). I am also thankful for the opportunity to continue collaborating with my colleagues on the Executive Committee.

Through the PMN and Executive Committee, we successfully partner together to support the goals and objectives set forth by the Quality and Productivity Commission (QPC) to improve the quality of services provided to Los Angeles County residents and communities. 2024 presented continued opportunities for the QPC, departments, and Productivity Managers to promote and encourage innovation, productivity, and quality of services in alignment with the County's Strategic Plan and priorities set forth by the Board of Supervisors.

Those selected by their respective County department heads to serve as Productivity Managers are provided a tremendous opportunity for both personal and professional growth. The role of the Productivity Manager is multi-faceted, encompassing leadership, training, and supervisory capabilities. Through their activities with the PMN, managers play a pivotal role in coordinating the preparation of and submission of proposals for Productivity Investment Fund grants and loans along with Productivity Quality Award entries, planning department visits, and serving on various committees. For their commitment to excellence and support of the County's values of integrity, inclusivity, compassion, customer orientation, and equity – I express my heartfelt gratitude to my fellow Productivity Managers.

I am grateful to have been reelected Chair by the PMN along with the support provided to me by the Fire Department. I am also thankful for the opportunity to have worked in partnership with my Executive Committee colleagues below:

- Executive Advisors – Stephanie S. Maxberry (Economic Opportunity) and Jennifer Coultas (Child Support Services)
- 1st Vice Chair – Keisha Belmaster (Health Services (Harbor-UCLA))
- 2nd Vice-Chair – Arman Depanian (Children and Family Services)
- PQA Chair – Patricia Soltero Sanchez (Health Services - Rancho Los Amigos)
- Training and Education Chair – Connie Salgado-Sanchez (Health Services-Administration)
- Productivity Investment Board Advisory Committee – Arman Depanian (Children and Family Services) and Gregory Melendez (Chief Information Office)

I would like to take this opportunity to acknowledge the continuing support of the Commission, under the leadership of Commission Chair, William Parent, and Commission Liaisons to the Network, Commissioners E. Scott Palmer, and Derek Hsieh. Commissioners promote and encourage innovation, productivity, quality of services, and efficiencies, and shape major milestones across Los Angeles County.

I would be remiss if I also did not acknowledge and thank the Commission staff, Jackie Guevarra (Executive Director), Laura Perez (Program Manager), Tammy Johnson (Program Support), and Ruben Khosdikian (Program Support) who go above and beyond in coordinating the many activities and daily operations of the QPC. It is an absolute pleasure to work with them.

The PMN and Executive Committee look forward to lending their continued support to the QPC.

21ST ANNUAL LEADERSHIP CONFERENCE

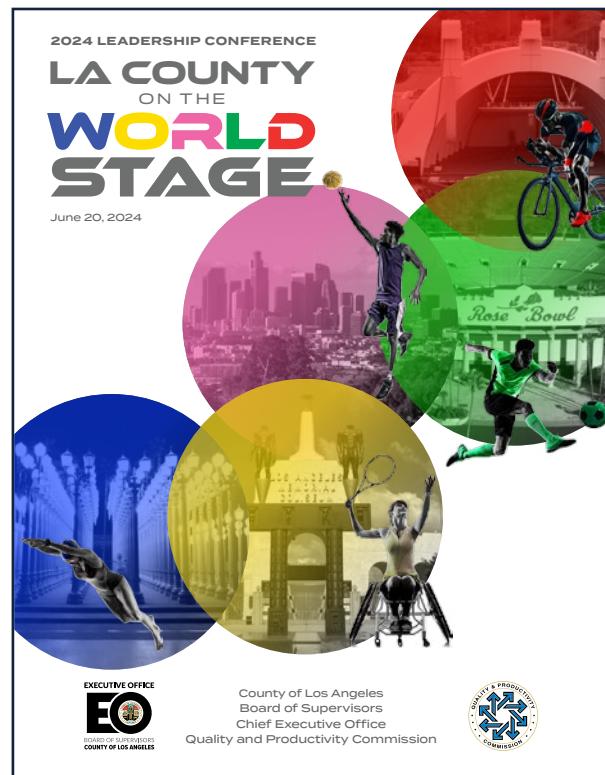

The Quality and Productivity Commission (Commission), in collaboration with the Board of Supervisors (Board), Chief Executive Office, and Executive Office of the Board hosted the 21st Annual Leadership Conference on June 20, 2024, at the Music Center, Dorothy Chandler Pavilion. The 2024 theme was "LA County on the World Stage" with an objective of fostering collaborative leadership that ensures excellence, equity, inclusion, and opportunity as Los Angeles County engages on the world stage.

True to the Conference theme, the speakers focused on the impact of the upcoming major sporting events heading to Los Angeles County, including the 2026 Men's FIFA World Cup and the 2028 Olympics & Paralympic Games.

Led by Commission Chair William B. Parent as Master of Ceremonies, attendees listened to discussions centered in collaborative leadership that fosters excellence, equity, inclusion, and opportunity. Speakers included Supervisor Hilda L. Solis (First District), Fesia A. Davenport (Chief Executive Officer), Susan Goldsmith (Principal, Deloitte Consulting LLP), Kevin McGowan (Director, Office of Emergency Management), Kelly LoBianco (Director, Department of Economic Opportunity), Kristin Sakoda (Director, Department of Arts and Culture), John T. Cooke (Assistant Chief Executive Officer, Asset Management Branch, Chief Executive Office) and Vic Nol (Director, Venue Cities Relations, LA28 Olympic & Paralympic Games).

In anticipation of the 2028 Olympic & Paralympic Games and other global sports events, Los Angeles County is poised to face challenges to infrastructure, safety, and equity. From traffic concerns to housing the homeless, there's a lot of work to be done before the Games. However, where there are challenges, there are ample opportunities to lay sustainable foundations for the future of Los Angeles County from creating a legacy of arts, diversity and creativity; to making a lasting impact on sustainability and innovation, infrastructure, and improvements; and engaging with working communities by creating youth development opportunities in sports and work, focusing on local and targeted worker hiring, and forging career pathways with major sports entertainment venues.

No matter the challenges, Los Angeles County leadership proves that being on the world stage can also bring a lasting legacy of leadership, opportunity and equity for the history books.

21ST ANNUAL LEADERSHIP CONFERENCE

Overall, each speaker provided details on their respective organizations' involvement in the upcoming Games, including planning efforts and collaborations. We thank all speakers for sharing their time and expertise at this year's Conference. We also thank the Leadership Conference ad hoc Committee members—Commissioners Dion Rambo (Chair), J. Shawn Landres (Vice Chair), Nancy G. Harris, Ed McIntyre, Marsha D. Mitchell, William B. Parent, Mark A. Waronek, William Wright, and Heidi Oliva (Productivity Manager, Fire Department)—for their leadership in planning the Conference.

SHARED PRACTICES REPORT

The Shared Practices Report highlights practices used by departments to solve complex problems, create cost benefits, and provide quality services to our residents. The Quality and Productivity Commission recognizes these innovative practices through the Productivity Investment Fund, Department Visits, and Productivity and Quality Awards.

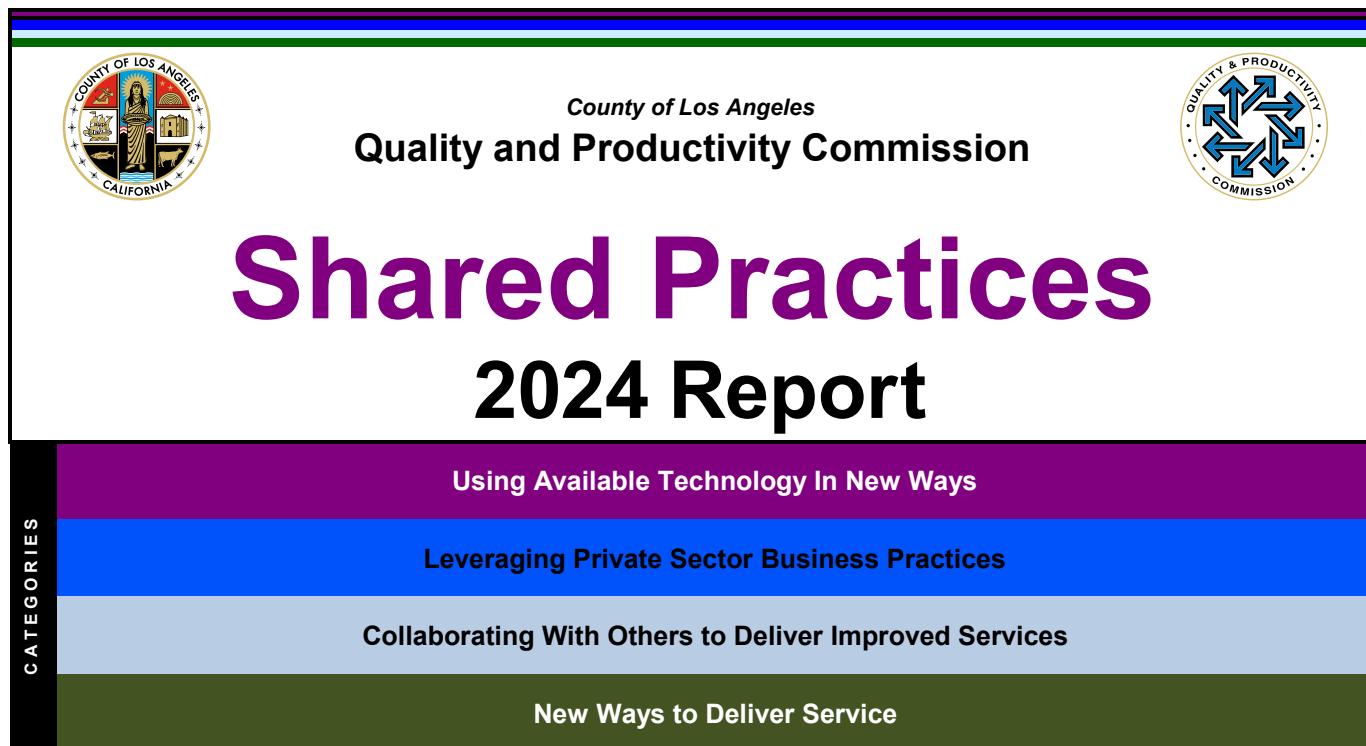

The creative ideas and practices used by one department can serve as a guide for others. The ideas in the report highlight useful tools that we call shared practices. Examples of these practices include:

- Using available technology in new ways
- Leveraging Private sector business practices
- Collaborating with Others to deliver improved services
- New ways to deliver services

Sharing these practices will help departments develop a knowledge base on what others are doing to solve problems that may be similar to theirs. We believe that sharing these practices will help generate new ideas to improve productivity and enhance the quality of County services.

The report is posted on the Quality and Productivity website at: qpc.lacounty.gov
