Prof. Sant explained that with the World Cup and Super Bowl coming to Los Angeles, it is important to acknowledge that millions of tourists will be coming into Los Angeles and the work includes proactive planning and management of their impact on LA County as the key to generating a positive legacy. She suggested to engage stakeholders early to build trust in and around the events and focus on the issues that are important to them. Additionally, transparency and accountability are also very important to help people have a way to report any issues. Lastly, Prof. Sant recommended research, monitoring and evaluation to ensure that the grievance mechanism falls in line with what is currently being implemented.

2025-30 STRATEGIC PLAN DRAFT

MISSION STATEMENT

The Commission on Human Relations champions human rights as the foundation for cultivating healthy relations in Los Angeles County by bringing people together across boundaries of diverse identities and histories to transform prejudice into acceptance, inequity into justice, and hostility into peace.

PRIORITIES AND GOALS

Priority 1: Monitoring and Advocating for Human Rights

Human rights are the cornerstone of a just and equitable society, encompassing foundational, inalienable freedoms, protections, and benefits to which all individuals and groups are entitled, such as life, liberty, self-determination, and fair process. They are grounded in the equal, intrinsic dignity and value of every human being. It is especially clear at this time in our history that we cannot take human rights for granted. Since protecting and upholding human rights is essential for cultivating harmonious human relations, and cultivating healthy relations is crucial to securing human rights, we advocate for and work to ensure the full realization of these rights for every individual and all peoples in Los Angeles County. To accomplish this, we will prioritize educating County, city, and community partners about the essence and importance of internationally recognized human rights while implementing impactful initiatives to enhance their fulfillment. We will align these efforts with the Board of Supervisors' Strategic Priorities. Examples include County approval of international human rights instruments not yet ratified by the federal government and development and implementation of initiatives crucial to address gaps in fulfilling instruments already in force. A crucial task will be regularly correcting misinformation and calling attention to purged information. The efforts to address priority aim to bridge policy and practice, ensuring that Los Angeles County leads in upholding and advancing human rights. By integrating human rights principles into local governance, we will help to build a more just, equitable, and inclusive future for all County constituents.

Goal 1.1

By June 30, 2027, publish an annual "State of Human Rights in LA County" report that evaluates fulfillment of human rights in LA County, with emphasis on the Board of Supervisors' strategic priorities.

Goal 1.2

By June 30, 2030, provide the Board of Supervisors with actionable recommendations on at least two major policy and/or practice changes that advance the fulfillment of human rights in LA County.

Priority 2: Documenting, Preventing, and Responding to Hate

Both criminal and noncriminal acts of Hate – i.e., bias-motivated hostility – violate LA County’s core values of Inclusivity, Compassion, and Equity. They also violate internationally recognized rights for all people to security of person and home, equality without discrimination based on identity or origin, protection from being targeted by efforts to incite hostility, freedom of religious practice, and protection from attacks on honor or reputation. The personal and societal damage that Hate produces is neither morally acceptable nor functionally defensible. We have documented the substantial incidence and multi-year increase in Hate activity in LA County and greatly improved prevention and response. Moving forward, we will continue to prevent Hate by monitoring Hate acts and cultivate solidarity to challenge Hate in any form by rigorously and thoroughly analyzing Hate activity; making information about Hate activity public accessible online; providing safe, reliable ways to report Hate; helping those people and communities most affected by Hate with access to needed supportive resources; and engaging our leadership and communities to understand Hate-motivated hostility and collaborate towards its elimination. This will include focusing on areas where Hate is happening most with visible signage and organizing coalitions to establish a culture against Hate; continuing to build skills, strength, and intergroup solidarity of our diverse networks of anti-Hate community partners; and increasing participation in LA vs Hate events, such as United Against Hate Week, trainings, and other key initiatives. Engagement of our communities will include leveraging major sporting events to educate attendees about LA vs Hate and how to report Hate. The aim will be boosting calls reporting Hate, expanding services and support for affected people and communities, building marketing connections, distributing branded materials, and amplifying the program by posting about these events on social media, creating shareable reels, and engaging online audiences.

Goal 2.1

Between July 1, 2025 and June 30, 2030, expand knowledge about Hate activity in LA County by compiling, analyzing, and reporting annually on both Hate crimes and incidents in LA County.

Goal 2.2

Between July 1, 2025 and June 30, 2030, engage each year at least 100 groups, organizations, and government units in Hate prevention and response.

Goal 2.3

Between July 1, 2025 and June 30, 2030, at least 60% of people we serve who have been targeted by Hate and respond to our requests for feedback report that our support was significant in helping them address what they experienced.

Priority 3: Fostering Equity and Wellbeing in LA County's Justice Ecosystem

In contrast to LA County's core value of Equity and the Board of Supervisors' strategic priorities to reduce the use of jails and undo systemic racism, entrenched inequities in LA County's criminal justice and public safety systems continue to perpetuate cycles of violence and discrimination as well as legal estrangement in many of our communities. Fundamental human rights are at issue when the likelihood of police misconduct, violence, and recidivism is tied to one's race, gender, class, religion, sexual orientation, or other protected characteristics. Our Transformative Justice work challenges these conditions by addressing root causes of harm, fostering collective healing and transformation, and developing alternative community safety infrastructures that prioritize wellbeing and harm-reduction. This effort includes engaging community stakeholders in shaping policies, practices, and procedures through the collection and dissemination of narratives that reflect lived experiences. Our intent is to challenge structures that contribute to systemic violence and disenfranchisement while realizing a vision of safety and justice that centers community-driven, trauma-informed approaches. By enhancing community safety infrastructure, dismantling the school-to-prison pipeline, addressing policing inequities, and fostering generational healing from trauma caused by criminal justice inequity, we aim to redefine public safety as a cooperative, community-centered endeavor.

Goal 3.1

By June 30, 2030, achieve a major system change that advances equity in LA County's criminal justice ecosystem for at least three communities: one affected by economic instability, one affected by systemic policing inequities, and one experiencing one or more other forms of marginalization or injustice.

Goal 3.2

Between July 1, 2025 and June 30, 2030, engage at least three LA County units, cities, or organizations annually in capacity-building initiatives, community engagement efforts, and the development and implementation of innovative public safety models that redefine safety as a collective community responsibility.

Priority 4: Training to Build the Effectiveness of County and Community Partners

To foster fulfillment of the County's values and implementation of the Board's Priorities, we equip other County units as well as community partners with both understanding and skills in securing human rights and strengthening healthy relations. We design and deliver training experiences that inspire and empower participants with proven tools to address conflicts constructively, communicate effectively, manage implicit bias, and promote mutually supportive intercultural collaboration. With heightened awareness and practical techniques, participants are prepared to create and maintain inclusive, safe, nondiscriminatory environments that actively safeguard and advance human rights.

Goal 4.1

Between July 1, 2025 and June 30, 2030, train a minimum of 1,200 individuals annually to secure human rights and strengthen healthy relations.

Goal 4.2

By June 30, 2030, in collaboration with the Human Rights Monitoring and Advocacy Team, create and begin to deliver training specifically designed to increase understanding of and skill in implementing human rights.

Priority 5: Increasing Familiarity and Engagement with Our Work

In order for us to achieve our maximum effectiveness in supporting fulfillment of the County's core values and implementation of the Board's Priorities, current and potential partners need to be thoroughly familiar with what we do and what we're capable of. We need to continue enhancing our communications capacities and execution to cultivate widespread, robust awareness of, respect for, and engagement with our unique perspective, technical expertise, and well-developed skills. This will require that we develop an inclusive, multi-brand marketing strategy to build public awareness of all our programs and initiatives. The goal is to appeal to increasingly broader and more diverse audiences. We will rely on emerging technologies to target multiple demographics grouped by race, culture, ethnicity, gender, sexual orientation, abilities, and even personality traits and attitudes. We will apply insights from newly acquired marketing analytical tools to create promotional materials and establish sponsorship agreements for collaboration and support. Special attention will be given to using social media and to addressing cyberbullying and other forms of online hate. We will increase our reach by building a coalition of corporate partners to advance diversity and human rights through training, dialogue, and engagement.

Goal 5.1

By June 30, 2027, establish and maintain at least monthly contact with all Supervisorial District offices to ensure familiarity and engagement with progress of our ongoing work and services as well as new projects we initiate.

Goal 5.2

By June 30, 2030, establish and maintain a coalition of at least 15 corporate allies committed to securing human rights, including equitable human relations.
