Changes for suppliers of Kindred Biosciences Effective January 15, 2022:

|--|--|
| Legal Entity Information | Effective January 15, we've changed our legal entity information to Elanco. Beginning January 15, please submit invoices with our new legal entity information above. We'll provide a grace period, between January 15 – 31, during which we'll continue to accept invoices addressed to Kindred Biosciences. After February 1, we will reject any invoices with our old legal entity information. Please ensure you update your records and systems to reflect these changes. |
| Purchase Order Method & Numbers | Beginning January 15, you will receive any new purchase orders from Elanco via SAP Ariba. Your next purchase order will come to you as an automated email from Ariba. If you haven't already, we strongly encourage you to set up a free Ariba account to streamline how we do business. We'll assign a new PO number to all orders opened in 2021 and provide that number to you. |
| Invoicing | Beginning January 15, you will need to submit invoices via SAP Ariba, which will replace AvidXchange or sending invoices directly to kindredbio@avidbill.com. This requires you to establish a trading relationship with Elanco and create an account on the Ariba Network, if you do not already have one. Note: If you are already a supplier to Elanco, please begin using your current Elanco invoicing method for all KindredBio invoices starting January 15. If you experience a delay joining SAP Ariba, for a short time, you may submit new invoices via email to USinvoices@elancoah.com. |

| Supplier Registration | We'll send you an email with a questionnaire and instructions to register your supplier information with Elanco. If you are already a supplier to Elanco, you will not need to re-register. |
| Vendor Code | We'll assign you a new vendor code, which will appear on your next purchase order. |
