Central London

London living

Living in London offers an experience you'll never forget. Not only does the city offer the very best of culture, history and fashion, it's also one of the world's leading business capitals. Here, you will be able to build the social and business networks you need to succeed.

Business capital

Multicultural London is the perfect setting for building your global business network.

- London boasts a highly skilled, international workforce and is home to significant technology sector growth, with over 18% of the UK's tech companies located there.
- More than 300 languages are spoken and students are from 200+ countries across the world.

Fantastic opportunities

Many major global companies have their UK headquarters in London, providing fantastic employment opportunities and a gateway to Europe. As a global centre of commerce, London is the best place to establish a network of contacts.

Kingston upon Thames

The University is based in the beautiful riverside town of Kingston upon Thames.

One of London's safest boroughs, the student-friendly town is just 30 minutes from central London, giving you easy access to everything the capital has to offer.

Travelling around

Kingston's proximity to two of the largest international airports in the UK, accessible by car in under one hour, makes it an ideal location for international travel.

Accommodation

Whether you prefer halls of residence or private accommodation, traditional or modern, one thing you can be certain of is that wherever you choose to live, Kingston will quickly become a place you can call home and make new friends.

With an impressive range of high-quality options to suit different needs, lifestyles and budgets. At Kingston University London, you can choose to:

- Apply to live in halls of residence, where you'll have your own furnished bedroom in a University-managed flat shared with other students
- Live independently in a privately rented flat or house share.

Our fleet of buses provide an environmentally friendly service to easily transport students between all campus sites and halls of residence for free!

London is ranked the 3rd best student city in the world

The International Study Centre

The Kingston University London International Study Centre provides a range of degree preparation programmes for international students. These include academic modules, English language preparation and study skills, so you are ready to join your chosen degree programme on successful completion.

Access to University facilities

As a student at the International Study Centre, based on the Kingston Hill campus, you will be part of the University from the day you start your course. As well as benefiting from resources at the International Study Centre, you will have access to facilities at the University.

For those with business ideas, Kingston also offers support through entrepreneur societies and career guidance from the University's Careers and Employability department.

Supporting you personally

Here at the International Study Centre, we offer a number of services to help you settle in and adjust to life as a student. These include:

- A personal tutor, who will provide academic guidance and advice during your time at university.
- The Student Life Centre at the Penrhyn Road campus, where you can get advice on everything from accommodation and student funds to disability support.
- StudySpace, which is an online learning tool that gives you access to teaching resources, timetables, blogs and discussion boards.

Academic and study support

Once you complete a degree preparation programme and achieve the required grades, you can enter your chosen degree programme at the University.

Additionally, you will benefit from early exposure to university-style teaching. Our programmes will introduce you to the type of tuition and learning formats that you will experience when you progress onto your degree. This includes a tailor-made curriculum delivered through a mixture of tutorials, seminar-style classes and large group lectures.

Professional Support

The International Study Centre offers a variety of activities designed to give you a head start to becoming a highly skilled, self-aware and confident graduate.

Throughout your time studying with us, you will develop key employability skills – such as teamwork, problem-solving and communication. With help from your tutors, you will create a personal development plan to help set goals for your future success.

For those with business ideas, Kingston also offers support through entrepreneur societies and career guidance from the University's Careers and Employability department.

Fantastic facilities

Kingston University has a range of facilities available to help you get the most out of your degree.

Packed full of top-quality facilities, high-tech labs and specialist equipment, you'll find a real sense of community here, with all the benefits of a £118.7 million investment to create the perfect study environment. This includes the RIBA award-winning landmark Town House building, which is close to the town centre and easily accessible to other campuses.
