Culture up.

London on.

Living in London offers an experience you'll never forget. Not only does the city offer the very best of culture, history and fashion, it's also one of the world's leading business capitals. Here, you will be able to build the social and business networks you need to succeed.

Business capital

Multicultural London is the perfect setting for building your global business network.

- London boasts a highly skilled, international workforce and is home to significant technology sector growth, with over 18% of the UK's tech companies located there.
- More than 300 languages are spoken and students are from 200+ countries across the world.

Fantastic opportunities

Many major global companies have their UK headquarters in London, providing fantastic employment opportunities and a gateway to Europe. As a global centre of commerce, London is the best place to establish a network of contacts.

Kingston upon Thames

The University is based in the beautiful riverside town of Kingston upon Thames. One of London's safest boroughs, the student-friendly town is just 30 minutes from central London, giving you easy access to everything the capital has to offer.

Travelling around

Kingston's proximity to two of the largest international airports in the UK, accessible by car in under one hour, makes it an ideal location for international travel.

Accommodation

Whether you prefer halls of residence or private accommodation, traditional or modern, one thing you can be certain of is that wherever you choose to live, Kingston will quickly become a place you can call home and make new friends.

With an impressive range of high-quality options to suit different needs, lifestyles and budgets. At Kingston University London, you can choose to:

- Apply to live in halls of residence, where you'll have your own furnished bedroom in a University-managed flat shared with other students
- Live independently in a privately rented flat or house share.

The International Study Centre

The Kingston University London International Study Centre provides a range of degree preparation programmes for international students. These include academic modules, English language preparation and study skills, so you are ready to join your chosen degree programme on successful completion.

Access to University facilities

As an International Study Centre student at Kingston Hill, you will be part of Kingston University from day one. You will have access to high-quality facilities, modern labs and specialist equipment, including the award-winning Town House building, which is close to the town centre.

For those with business ideas, Kingston also offers support through entrepreneur societies and career guidance from the University's Career and Employability department.

Academic and study support

Once you complete a degree preparation programme and achieve the required grades, you can enter your chosen degree programme at the University.

Additionally, you will benefit from early exposure to university-style teaching. Our programmes will introduce you to the type of tuition and learning formats that you will experience when you progress onto your degree. This includes a tailor-made curriculum delivered through a mixture of tutorials, seminar-style classes and large group lectures.

Supporting you personally

Here at the International Study Centre, we offer a number of services to help you settle in and adjust to life as a student. These include:

- A personal tutor, who will provide academic guidance and advice during your time at university.
- The Student Life Centre at the Penrhyn Road campus, where you can get advice on everything from accommodation and student funds to disability support.
- StudySpace, which is an online learning tool that gives you access to teaching resources, timetables, blogs and discussion boards.

You will also develop key employability skills such as teamwork, communication and problem-solving, while creating a personal development plan to help you achieve your future goals.
