Visit Bentonville

Bentonville, set against the scenic Ozarks, blends culture, community, and creativity. Over the past decade, the city has transformed into a cultural hub, thanks in large part to the Crystal Bridges Museum of American Art—a groundbreaking institution hailed by the Washington Post as “the most talked-about new museum in the United States in a generation.”

THE CITY

Visit Bentonville

Founded in 1837, Bentonville was named in honor of Senator Thomas Hart Benton, the great uncle to the great American artist Thomas Hart Benton. The city experienced Civil War battles right in the heart of town and was once the largest apple producing region in the country.

In May of 1950 Sam Walton opened his Ben Franklin variety store in downtown Bentonville, and from this Walton's 5 & 10 was born and later Wal-mart Stores, Inc.

Over the last decade, Bentonville has transformed from the hustle and bustle of a corporate town to an arts and cultural hub due to the opening of Crystal Bridges Museum of American Art. The Museum is the pulse of the arts community and houses iconic works like Norman Rockwell's "Rosie the Riveter" and Andy Warhol's "Dolly." Architecturally stunning, Crystal Bridges is now home to another architectural gem, the Bachman-Wilson house, a Frank Lloyd Wright design relocated to a hillside on the Museum's property.

In a town where progress seems constant with the flurry of new construction, Bentonville's quality of life initiatives were set in motion with this arts and cultural boom that brought with it the development of trails and pathways, parks and playgrounds. As cyclists and runners cross the beautiful bricked intersections of the downtown square, traffic pauses to watch pedestrians venture in and out of toy stores, boutiques, and coffee shops. In the fast paced world of global business, this town offers the vibe of a simple life of days past with modern amenities found in most urban centers.

People that live and work in Bentonville also love to play, and many organizations host a multitude of events and festivals to keep all entertained. Themed celebrations on the square draw hundreds of people every first Friday of the month as well as activities surrounding the holidays.

Farmer's markets on Wednesdays and Saturdays fill the downtown square with fresh produce and proteins, baked goods, and magnificent flowers and plants. Chefs are spotted scouting out the days offerings collecting their fare to go back to their kitchens and prepare incredible menus all based on what is available, fresh and locally sourced.

Bentonville's culinary scene has exploded in the past several years. Nourishing a relationship with the James Beard Foundation, local chefs have performed at the famed Beard house in New York and have also been nominated for the foundation's awards. The city's culinary talent receives annual invitations to cook at Food and Wine festivals around the country showcasing their high south cuisine, southern comfort food with a sophisticated twist.

Progress has not thwarted Bentonville's small town charm. In fact, it has enhanced it, so much so that visitors often make return trips and are quick to tell their friends and family about this unassuming town. Bentonville truly is a town of culture, community, and beauty in northwest Arkansas.

DO & SEE

Visit Bentonville

Discover Bentonville, the mountain biking capital of the world, and explore its many attractions. From the lively downtown square and historic neighborhoods to world-class museums, scenic cycling trails, and a thriving food scene, it's easy to see why Bentonville is so beloved. Recognized by The Wall Street Journal as "a new capital of cool," the city offers something for everyone — whether you're visiting family, traveling for work, or simply enjoying a relaxing getaway.

Scott Family Amazeum

The Scott Family Amazeum is a modern children's museum with interactive exhibits and learning spaces.

Hands-on activities encourage curiosity and discovery, connecting visitors to the land, industries, and culture of Arkansas. Highlights include big-brand collaborations like the 3M Tinkering Hub, General Mills Lift, Load and Haul, and the Nickelodeon Play Lab. An outdoor playscape spans nearly an acre, offering seasonal exploration and experimentation. The venue also hosts events and educational programs for diverse audiences.

Peel Mansion & Heritage Gardens

The Peel Mansion Museum & Heritage Gardens, built in 1875 by Colonel Samuel West Peel, is a stunning example of Italianate Villa architecture. Carefully restored and furnished with authentic 19th-century antiques — many on loan from the Historic Arkansas Museum and the Old State House — the mansion offers a glimpse into life during that era. Beyond the historic home, the experience continues in the surrounding botanical gardens. Stroll through seven Victorian-inspired gardens, each showcasing seasonal blooms and adding to the property's timeless charm.

DINING

Visit Bentonville

Northwest Arkansas has a rich tradition of locally sourced food, a cornerstone of its vibrant culinary scene. Chefs here maintain close ties with local farmers and growers, crafting menus around seasonal ingredients. This commitment to seasonal, local cuisine sparked a movement years ago, giving rise to what's now known as High South Cuisine. Defined by its respect for the natural flavors of Ozark ingredients, High South Cuisine elevates simple Southern staples into refined, sophisticated dishes.

From bacon jam and Arkansas black apple butter to Ozark leg of lamb stuffed with black walnut sausage and rye whiskey-glazed pork belly, Bentonville's culinary pioneers continue to push boundaries while honoring the region's roots.

Oven & Tap

Oven & Tap, named for its custom-built wood-fired oven and tap wall, is located just steps from the downtown Bentonville square. This relaxed spot is the first venture from Township Provisions, a group passionate about delivering exceptional food and drink. The menu features wood-fired pizzas, hearty sandwiches, and Southern-inspired dishes, all paired with a well-curated selection of craft beer and cocktails. Whether you're stopping by for a casual meal or a drink at the bar, Oven & Tap offers a welcoming atmosphere and a commitment to quality.

Post

Sending parcels and letters in the US is a relatively straightforward process. The most common method is through the United States

Postal Service (USPS). The USPS offers a variety of services for sending mail, including First-Class Mail for letters and postcards, Priority Mail for packages, and Priority Mail Express for overnight delivery. To send a parcel or letter, you will need to take it to a USPS post office or use a USPS blue collection box. Use the USPS website to find the nearest post office or collection box to your location. Additionally, you can also use private couriers such as FedEx and UPS, which often provide a wider range of services and faster delivery times, but generally at a higher cost.
