HISTORY.

Jess Baker, 2022 Champion

The first Women's Amateur Championship was held in 1893 at Royal Lytham & St Annes. Organised by the Ladies' Golf Union (LGU), a field of 38 players competed over the Lancashire links with Lady Margaret Scott crowned as the first champion after defeating LGU founder and secretary, Issette Pearson, 7&5 in the Final.

Lady Margaret successfully defended her title in 1894 and 1895 with the championship continuing to flourish. In the 1920s, Cecil Leitch and Joyce Wethered dominated the women's game, winning a record four Women's Amateur titles each. In 1927, Simone de la Chaume of France became the first Continental European golfer to win the championship. The first competitor from the USA to claim the title was Babe Zaharias in 1947.

The Women's Amateur has been played at many venues across Great Britain and Ireland. Hosts include venues which have staged The Open, most recently at Royal St George's in 2014. Today's championship attracts a large international field and is one of the most coveted prizes in women's amateur golf.

To date there have been 92 different winners of the 119 championships. Recent winners of the Women's Amateur who have gone on to make a mark on the professional game include Sweden's Anna Nordqvist and England's Georgia Hall. In 2022, Jess Baker triumphed by defeating Sweden's Louise Rydqvist 4&3 in an exciting Final at Hunstanton.

PAST WINNERS.

Georgia Hall, Champion 2013

CECIL LEITCH and JOYCE WETHERED dominated the championship between 1914 and 1929, winning the title four times each to share the record for most victories. They appeared against each other in three finals (1921, 1922 and 1925) with Wethered holding a 2-1 advantage. Wethered came from a famous golfing family. Her brother Roger finished second in The Open in 1921 and won The Amateur Championship in 1923.

BABE ZAHARIAS won the 1947 championship at Gullane when she defeated England's Jaqueline Gordon to become the first American winner. Zaharias is one of 11 players to have won the Women's Amateur and US Women's Amateur, which she won in 1946. She went on to win ten major titles. An all-round athlete, she won gold medals at the 1932 Olympics in the 80 metre hurdles and javelin, and a silver medal in the high jump. She also competed in basketball and baseball. Zaharias won three US Women's Opens (1948, 1950 and 1954).

France's CATHERINE LACOSTE won at Royal Portrush in 1969, two years after she won the US Women's Open. She is one of three players to have won the US Women's Open and the Women's Amateur along with Babe Zaharias and Louise Suggs. Lacoste's father was French tennis great, René Lacoste, and her mother, Simone de la Chaume, was the first non-British or Irish winner of the Women's Amateur in 1927 at Royal County Down.

INTERESTING FACT.
BIGGEST MARGIN OF VICTORY: In 2021, Louise Duncan of Scotland defeated Iceland's Johanna Lea Ludviksdottir 9&8 in the 36-hole Final at Kilmarnock (Barassie).

Louise Duncan, 2021 Champion

England's MICKEY WALKER won consecutive titles in 1971 and 1972. Walker went on to help establish the Ladies' European Tour, winning six times on that circuit. She captained the first four European Solheim Cup teams from 1990-1996, experiencing victory in 1992. She is now a TV commentator.

Catriona Lambert, now known as CATRIONA MATTHEW OBE, won the title in 1993 at Royal Lytham & St Annes defeating England's Kirsty Speak 3&2 in the Final. Matthew went on to win four LPGA titles, including the Women's Open in 2009 at the same venue where she won the Women's Amateur. A nine-time Solheim Cup player, Matthew was the non-playing Captain for the European victories in 2019 and 2021.

CARLOTA CIGANDA of Spain defeated Sweden's Anna Nordqvist in the 2007 Final at Alwoodley. Ciganda has two LPGA victories, five Ladies' European Tour wins and made five Solheim Cup appearances.

INTERESTING FACT.

YOUNGEST CHAMPION: Sweden's Julia Engstrom won in 2016 at Dundonald Links as a 15 year old.

Anna Nordqvist, Champion 2008

ANNA NORDQVIST won the title in 2008 after finishing runner-up in the previous two championships. She includes three major championships, the 2009 McDonald's LPGA Championship, 2017 Evian Championship and 2021 AIG Women's Open among her nine LPGA wins. Along with Georgia Hall, Nordqvist has achieved an impressive quadrilateral of R&A trophies winning the Girls' Amateur, Women's Amateur, Smyth Salver and AIG Women's Open. She's also played on seven Solheim Cup teams.

AZAHARA MUÑOZ of Spain succeeded Nordqvist as Women's Amateur winner. She has one LPGA victory, five Ladies' European Tour wins and is a four-time Solheim Cup player.

England's GEORGIA HALL won the 2013 championship at Machynys Peninsula Golf Club in Wales by defeating Spain's Luna Sobrón

INTERESTING FACT.

MAJOR CHAMPIONS: Seven Women's Amateur champions have also won major championships; Louise Suggs (11), Babe Zaharias (10), Anna Nordqvist (3), Georgia Hall (1), Catherine Lacoste (1), Catriona Matthew (1) and Jody Rosenthal (1).

by one hole. Hall then recorded a historic double winning the Women's Open in 2018 at Royal Lytham and St Anne's, one of two LPGA Tour victories she possesses.

2015 winner CELINE BOUTIER of France made her Solheim Cup debut in the victorious 2019 European side at Gleneagles. She has won two LPGA tournaments to go with three Ladies' European Tour wins and played in the successful 2021 Solheim Cup team.

Ireland's LEONA MAGUIRE, the 2017 champion, was recipient of the Mark H McCormack medal in three consecutive seasons from 2014 as the world's leading female amateur. Maguire has one LPGA win and in 2021, she shot the lowest ever final round in a major by any golfer male or female, a 61 at the Evian Championship.

HOST VENUES.

2023 HOST VENUE PRINCE'S

The fine Kent links will stage the historic 120th Women's Amateur Championship after Jess Baker's win at Hunstanton in Norfolk in 2022. Boasting a rich history, Prince's offers modern championship links golf in an idyllic coastal setting. It boasts 27 holes across the Shore, Dunes and Himalayas nine-hole lay-outs.

A host to Final Qualifying for The Open from 2018 to 2022, the course also co-hosted The Amateur Championship in 2013 and 2017. The club sits next to Royal St George's, host to The Open in 2021.

2024 HOST VENUE PORTMARNOCK

Portmarnock Golf Club has hosted the Women's Amateur Championship previously in 1931. It also staged The Amateur Championship in 1949 and 2019, the Walker Cup in 1991 and the international matches for the St Andrews and Jacques Leglise trophies in 2012.

The Dublin venue was the stage for the first ever playing of the Irish Open in 1927 and has hosted the event on 18 occasions. In 1960, American duo Sam Snead and Arnold Palmer sealed a win in the Canada Cup held there, while it was also a venue for the Dunlop Masters on two occasions in 1959 and 1965.

In 2019, a record crowd lined the fairways of Portmarnock to see Irishman James Sugrue defeat Euan Walker by two holes to win the 36-hole Final of The Amateur Championship.
