

Dedicated Training

Commercial Food Sanitation® (CFS®) dedicated training allows you to reserve our training sessions for your entire team to attend. Intensive, hands-on breakout sessions build your team, encouraging collaboration and developing common ground. Then, combining that unique hands-on approach with competitive challenges motivates growth and reinforces new skills.

Available for all CFS Institute® training courses, dedicated training includes everything you need to start building a company-wide culture of food safety.

Who should attend:

- Whole teams—across departments and facilities—seeking to build their skills and shared passion for food safety

What's included:

- Classroom and breakout setup
- Training materials
- Logistical support, including transportation to and from a hotel
- Space for internal meetings
- Daily lunch and one group dinner

Contact us at training@cf-san.com to explore available dates and schedule your company's dedicated training session at your preferred regional CFS Institute.

An Intralox Company

CFS is your trusted partner to reduce food safety risk and strengthen food safety leadership. Our experts challenge and advance industry practices globally with strategic consulting and robust education programs, fulfilling our mission to make the world's food supply safer.