

Sanitation Certification

The Commercial Food Sanitation® (CFS®) Sanitation Certification uses comprehensive, blended learning to build your sanitation leadership expertise within the food industry. Becoming CFS Sanitation Certified enhances your professional credibility, supports career growth, and demonstrates your commitment to food safety. Plus, our recertification program—required every 3 years—ensures you stay ahead of evolving industry standards and best practices.

What the pathway looks like:

- Complete CFS Sanitation Essentials Training
- Complete CFS Advancing Sanitation Impact Training
- Further deepen your skills completing our online modules at your own pace
- Apply what you've learned in a final online case simulation as well as a personal growth reflection exercise
- Stay up to date through recertification, required every 3 years

What you'll learn:

- Overall food safety knowledge and cleaning skills with hands-on Sanitation Essentials Training, including wet and dry cleaning, environmental monitoring, and more
- Critical food safety leadership and management skills with Advancing Sanitation Impact Training, including how to integrate sanitation into capital projects, incident response and corrective action, budgeting and KPIs, and more
- A broad range of applications like foreign material management, sustainability, clean-in-place systems, and more through our online learning modules

An Intralox Company

CFS is your trusted partner to reduce food safety risk and strengthen food safety leadership. Our experts challenge and advance industry practices globally with strategic consulting and robust education programs, fulfilling our mission to make the world's food supply safer.

Scan the QR Code or visit our website for complete training information, certification path recommendations, and upcoming dates and locations.