Join us for a transformative event that explores how students can play a crucial role in redesigning education for a more meaningful and impactful future. Today's students seek education that prepares them for careers that are not only meaningful but also ethical and focused on contributing to a healthier planet. Through the innovative Rebuilding Education method, developed by Dr. Jorim Tielbeek at VU Amsterdam, students become co-creators of their learning experience. Discover how student-teacher partnerships can transform your courses to be more engaging, relevant, and socially impactful.
