100%	Bibliography of Dutch Protestant Periodicals (Bibliografie van Nederlandse Protestantse Periodieken - BNPP)	In 2013 the project Bibliography of Dutch Protestant Periodicals (Bibliografie van Nederlandse Protestantse Periodieken - BNPP) was concluded. Periodicals are one of the largest and richest sources for the history of Dutch protestantism. In this project, more than 3,200 protestant periodicals that were published in The Netherlands since 1800 were listed and described. For each periodical, the description contains information on: Title, Subtitle, Category, Published from / until, Owner, Publisher, Printer, Place of publication, Editorial board, Contributors, Frequency, Number of pages, Size, Circulation, Price, Photo's, Drawings, Special issues, Bibliographical history, Background. The index contains ca. 30,000 personal names.	For the greater part available digitally. 100% is available as PDF. We are working on a database.	Possibly with ‘In actie voor het christelijk onderwijs! Project Volkspetitionnement 1878’ (Fred van Lieburg, in Dutch). Data could be incorporated into Geoplaza .
100%	Inventory of Church Buildings in The Netherlands	Jan Sonneveld († 2012) collected information on ca 19,000 buildings in which religious meetings are or were held, by more than 100 religious communities, from all over The Netherlands. It contains data on the denomination, year of construction or occupation, name of the building and address, current use.	Digitally available for 100% as a MS Access file (which is easily converted into other formats).	Possibly with ‘In actie voor het christelijk onderwijs! Project Volkspetitionnement 1878’ (Fred van Lieburg, in Dutch). Data could be incorporated into Geoplaza .
80%	Register of Congratulations made to Abraham Kuyper, 1907	Contains names and positions of members of the board of Antirevolutionary organisations, Reformed youth associations and organisations from Reformed education and science, that were collected for the occasion of the 70th birthday of Kuyper. Extraordinary data for the history of the ARP, because it is the first overview of the executive committee and the structure of the electoral associations of the ARP since the foundation of the party in 1879. The data could be important for other organisations as well.	Digitally available for 80%. Names of the private persons congratulating Kuyper have not been digitised yet. Available as MS Excel or MS Word file.	Possibly with ‘In actie voor het christelijk onderwijs! Project Volkspetitionnement 1878’ (Fred van Lieburg, in Dutch). Data could be incorporated into Geoplaza .

40%	Promotional material Vrije Universiteit	The VU has had to provide its own financial means for a long time. The government did take over more and more of the funding, but the VU kept collecting. During the years various forms of promotion material were made, resulting in large, professionally made advertising campaigns that no longer aimed at collecting money, but at recruiting students. Think of campaigns such as "Het leesplankje" or "Deze tijd vraagt om ...". These campaigns used lots of visual material that has been incompletely preserved in the Dutch Protestant Heritage collections or in the corporate archives. This material could be the start of research into the public relations of the VU. The promotional films in our image database are also relevant.	All promotional films are digitized and accessible through our image database. Of the paper material nothing has been digitized so far.
5%	Sermons, printed and in manuscript, ca. 1550 - now	The collection of Manuscripts and Early Printed Books mostly contain printed sermons. The Protestant Heritage Collections contain handwritten sermons. Both collections are extensive.	An estimated 5% has been digitized.
0%	Collections Research Protestant Church Building (Collectie Wetenschappelijk Onderzoek naar Protestantse Kerkbouw (WOPK)) of the department of Art History.	This material has been the basis of a number of publications on (protestant) church building. Part of the collection are the, often very beautiful, photo's made by Jan Wester.	Nothing has been digitized yet. The photo albums by Jan Wester are being described.
0%	Lecture notes	Various forms and levels of quality - from densely written, private notebooks to stenciled publications made for sale. At least 50 copies in the collection of Manuscripts and Early Printed Books, mainly handwritten.	The image database contains ten copies; others have not been digitized.
0%	Printed materials from the archives of the Dutch Religious Treatise Society (Nederlandsche Godsdienstige Traktaat-Genootschap) and the Dutch	This concerns ca. 1.5 meter of treatises (nrs 1-831, nrs 1-750 collections of treatises and bible almanacs). Delpher gives 363 results for 'traktaat-genootschap' and 6 for 'Genootschap licht-	Nothing digitized yet.

0%	Miracle plays	According to many, the miracle play was the most popular form of theater during the interbellum period. It was for all sorts of groups a way of expressing a rising community spirit that united and confirmed convictions. Both within worldly and church organisations and youth associations. Of one of the important people in the world of miracle plays, Ben Albach, we have the archives. In different collections are printed, yet to be digitized copies available. Possibly other collections of the library contain other copies.	Nothing digitized yet.
