The balance of this Document sets out more information about legalsuper and its products and services.

How legalsuper is run legalsuper is an accumulation fund. This means that your account balance will generally be equal to the total of contributions and investment returns, less taxes and expenses and benefit payments.

legalsuper is a public offer fund, which means that membership is not restricted to people in the legal community.

legalsuper is a regulated superannuation fund within the meaning of the Superannuation Industry (Supervision) Act 1993 (SIS) and is a complying superannuation fund for tax purposes. Legal Super Pty Ltd is an authorised MySuper provider. legalsuper is governed by a Trust Deed, a copy of which is available on our website. The Trustee may amend the Trust Deed as permitted by law.

The Trustee of legalsuper is Legal Super Pty Ltd ABN 37 004 455 789. The Trustee is licensed by the Australian Prudential Regulation Authority. The Trustee holds an Australian Financial Services Licence issued by the Australian Securities and Investments Commission (licence no. 246315), which allows it to deal in legalsuper's superannuation products and to provide advice about legalsuper.

Risks of legalsuper

Investing in superannuation has risks. The main risks of investing in legalsuper are:

- Investment risks. Generally, the higher an investment's potential return, the greater the risk associated with that investment. Historically, investment in shares has provided the highest average returns, but has also demonstrated the greatest volatility in the short term. Over the longer term, lower-risk investments, such as cash or fixed interest, generally provide lower returns, but are less volatile than shares. Investment risks are explained further on page 12.
- Preservation rules. Restrictions apply to accessing any preserved amounts or restricted non-preserved amounts paid into the Fund. Any benefits will most likely be required to be paid into another complying superannuation fund, and would not be able to be paid directly to you until you reach your preservation age (see page 64) or satisfy another condition of release (such as becoming totally and permanently disabled).
- Changes in laws. You need to be aware that superannuation and taxation laws change often, and this can impact on your investment in legalsuper. Changes can also occur to the taxation of superannuation, which may affect the value of your investment.

- Your account may be transferred to an Eligible Rollover Fund (ERF). If you become a lost member (see 'Glossary' on page 74) or have a small account balance (less than $500) and that account is inactive (i.e. there have been no contributions of any sort for 15 months), your account may be transferred to the ERF without your prior consent, and you will cease to be a member of legalsuper. If legalsuper does transfer members to the ERF it will do so in accordance with federal law. Please see the details about legalsuper's ERF on page 67.
- Insurance. Even if you have insurance, there is a risk that you may not be covered to the extent you require. Also, there is a risk that the insurer declines your claim or cannot pay the funds owed to you. You should carefully read the information about the insurance coverage available and the details of the insurer providing the insurance coverage on pages 31 – 58. There is a possibility that insurance arrangements may be renegotiated with the same or a different insurer and that, as a consequence, there may be adverse changes to the terms and conditions or cost of your insurance cover. There is a possibility that the Trustee may be unable to obtain insurance cover for some or all events, in which case the Trustee would cease to provide members with access to insurance cover for those events.
- Outsourcing risk. legalsuper outsources a number of services such as administration and insurance. There is a risk that the companies to which we have outsourced may not perform in accordance with the agreements we have signed. This may lead to delays in actioning any member requests such as processing contributions, withdrawals, investment instructions, or insurance claims.
- System risk. There is a risk that the value or access to member accounts could be affected by disruption to systems. An example would be if there was an interruption or fault in computer or telecommunications systems. Such interruption may be caused by breakdown, system overload, virus attack, unauthorised access, denial of service, or other malicious attack.

Your account may be transferred to the ATO

From 1 July 2019, if you become a lost member or an uncontactable member with an account balance of less than $6,000, your account may be transferred to the Australian Taxation Office (ATO). Please refer to the ATO website ato.gov.au for further details.

Becoming a member

There is no application fee to join legalsuper.

Employer-sponsored membership

You can join legalsuper as an Employer-sponsored member if your employer has legalsuper as their default fund or if you choose to have your employer contribute to legalsuper on your behalf.

You do not have to be employed in the legal services industry to be a member.

If your employer makes contributions on your behalf or has previously made contributions, you will be an Employer-sponsored member of legalsuper. Employer-sponsored members are either 'active' or 'inactive' members:

- Active Employer-sponsored members
You will be an active Employer-sponsored member if your employer is actively making contributions on your behalf or if your employer has temporarily ceased making contributions.
- Inactive Employer-sponsored members
Inactive Employer-sponsored members include:
 - former active Employer-sponsored members who are not currently employed by an employer-sponsor;
 - Employer-sponsored members who are on maternity leave for a period of six months or longer; and
 - Employer-sponsored members who are on unpaid leave for a period of six months or longer.

Changing employment

If you work for an employer who pays your contributions to legalsuper and you decide to change jobs or take some time out of the workforce, your account can remain with legalsuper.

Your account will continue to be invested, you will pay the same fees and you can make personal contributions, including spouse contributions, to top-up your savings whenever you like, subject to contribution rules and limits.

If you start a new job with an employer who pays into legalsuper and you wish to continue having your super paid into your legalsuper account, simply give them your legalsuper membership number.

If your new employer does not currently pay into legalsuper but you are eligible to choose the fund of your choice, you can ask them to pay your superannuation contributions into legalsuper.

If you are not eligible to choose a super fund and your new employer does not want to pay into legalsuper, you can still leave your account balance with legalsuper.

Personal membership

You can join legalsuper as a Personal member if you are self-employed or substantially self-employed and you want to contribute on your behalf. In addition you can rollover your superannuation from another fund into legalsuper.

You do not have to be employed in the legal services industry to be a member.

You can continue to remain in legalsuper if you were to become employed by an employer sponsor and cease to be self-employed.

Other types of membership

In addition to Employer-sponsored members and Personal members, legalsuper has the following membership types:

1. Transition to Retirement (TTR) Pension;
2. Pension;
3. Lifetime Guaranteed Income; and
4. Fixed Term Guaranteed Income.

The Trustee has the power to establish new types in the future and, subject to superannuation law, to move members between membership types.

Making contributions legalsuper can accept a number of different types of contributions including:

- contributions from your employer, including salary sacrifice contributions;
- personal (tax deductible) contributions;
- personal (non-deductible) contributions;
- a co-contribution made by the Federal Government;
- contributions in respect of your spouse, and if your spouse is a member, contributions from that spouse; and
- rollovers or transfers from other complying superannuation funds, approved deposit funds, rollovers from the ATO from Superannuation Holding Account Special Account (SHASA) and rollovers or transfers from other complying superannuation funds as a result of SuperMatch and eligible rollover funds.

Some of these contributions can only be accepted if the person for whom the contributions are made meets the age-based and working-status restrictions explained in the following table.

Who can contribute?

The following table sets out the rules about who can pay contributions to your superannuation account.

Your age	Employer contributions	Member contributions
Under 65	Permitted at all times	Permitted at all times
65 – 69	Permitted at all times: <ul style="list-style-type: none"> – Award contributions – Superannuation Guarantee contributions (SG) Permitted subject to the work test: <ul style="list-style-type: none"> – Voluntary employer contributions – Salary sacrifice contributions 	You must meet the work test before you can make further contributions Note: if you make a contribution to your spouse's super, it is your spouse who must meet the work test
70 – 74	Permitted at all times: <ul style="list-style-type: none"> – Award contributions – Superannuation Guarantee contributions (SG) Permitted subject to the work test: <ul style="list-style-type: none"> – Voluntary employer contributions – Salary sacrifice contributions 	You must meet the work test before you can make further contributions Spouse contributions are not permitted once your spouse is aged 70
75 or over	<ul style="list-style-type: none"> – Award contributions – Superannuation Guarantee contributions (SG) 	No further contributions can be made

SG: SG contributions are compulsory employer contributions.

Award: Award contributions are contributions made by your employer pursuant to a certified agreement or an award made on or after 1 July 1986 by an industrial authority. If this applies to you, we can accept those contributions and you also do not have to meet the work test for these contributions.

Work test (age 65 – 74): You must have been employed or self-employed for at least 40 hours in a period of not more than 30 consecutive days in a financial year before certain contributions can be made in that year. From 1 July 2019, you are also eligible to contribute for 12 months from the end of the financial year in which you last met the work test, provided that your total superannuation balance is below $300,000.

When we receive the first contribution (except SG and Award) after the start of a new financial year and you are 65 or older, we are required by law to write to you and obtain your signed confirmation that you have met the work test for that year.

- If you meet the work test, we can accept all contributions for the remainder of that year.
- If you don't meet the work test, we are required by law to refund the contribution(s).

Voluntary employer contributions: These are permitted until your 75th birthday. You must meet the work test once you are 65 or older.

Spouse contributions

A legalsuper member may make contributions in respect of their spouse (and vice versa).

However, contributions can only be made if the person for whom the contributions are made satisfies the age and working status conditions explained in the 'Who can contribute' table above.

If contributions are made for a spouse who is not already a member of legalsuper, they will become a Spouse member of legalsuper at the election of their spouse.

How do I contribute?

You can only contribute to legalsuper once you become a member. Contributions can be made on a regular basis by BPAY®, cheque, Electronic Funds Transfer, real time gross transfer (RTGS), direct debit or payroll deductions – please contact legalsuper on 1800 060 312 (8am to 8pm [AEST] Monday to Friday) to obtain information about the options available.

How much can I contribute?

This depends on the type of contribution you are making and relates to the financial year 1 July to 30 June.

Concessional contributions

Concessional contributions include employer Superannuation Guarantee (SG) contributions, salary sacrifice contributions and any contributions for which you intend to claim a tax deduction (including as a self-employed or unsupported person).

You can claim a deduction for your own personal contributions, up to the concessional contributions cap without incurring excess concessional contributions tax, regardless of whether you are employed or self-employed. You need to take into account any contributions made for you by an employer in determining how much room you have available within the cap.

The allowable concessional contributions cap for the 2018/19 financial year is $25,000.

Further details are available from the ATO at ato.gov.au.

Contributions under the concessional contributions cap will be subject to a 15% rate of tax on receipt by legalsuper (in some instances a 30% rate of tax may apply). Contributions over the relevant cap may in some instances be taxed at a higher tax rate.

If you have made contributions to other funds through the financial year they will also count. The limit is applied per person not per super fund account.

The ATO will calculate whether you have excessive concessional contributions, and inform you of your options.

Please refer to the ATO website for further details.

Some contributions, such as transfers from overseas funds and the proceeds from selling a business, are subject to different caps and tax.

Non-concessional contributions (after-tax)

General rule

Non-concessional (after-tax) contributions include:

- personal contributions for which you do not claim an income tax deduction, and
- spouse contributions.

From 1 July 2017 and subject to your 'Total Superannuation Balance' (see below), the annual non-concessional contributions cap is $100,000. The cap is available to individuals aged between 65 and 74 so long as they meet the work test.

Total Superannuation Balance

Your Total Superannuation Balance is made up of the balance of all your super and retirement savings accounts. This is reduced by the sum of any personal injury structured settlement amounts contributed to super.

If you have a Total Superannuation Balance that is:

- over the general Transfer Balance Cap ($1.6 million in 2018/19 and indexed periodically in $100,000 increments in line with CPI) at the end of 30 June of the previous financial year, you will not be able to make any further non-concessional contributions in the financial year (without exceeding your non-concessional contributions cap);
- less than the general Transfer Balance Cap at the end of 30 June of the previous financial year, you may make after-tax contributions but your Total Superannuation Balance will determine how much you can contribute.

For further information on the Transfer Balance Cap, please refer to the ATO website (ato.gov.au) or speak to your financial adviser regarding your individual circumstances.

Bring-forward arrangement

If you are under 65 years of age, you can make non-concessional contributions of up to three times the annual non-concessional contributions cap in a single year by bringing forward your non-concessional contributions cap for a two or three-year period.

From 1 July 2017, the non-concessional contributions cap amount that you can bring forward, and the availability of a two or three year bring forward period, will depend on your Total Superannuation Balance at the end of 30 June of the previous financial year.

For 2018/19, to access the non-concessional bring-forward arrangement, you must:

- be under 65 years of age for one day during the triggering year (the first year); and

- have a Total Superannuation Balance of less than $1.5 million at the end of 30 June 2018.

The table below explains how the bring-forward arrangement works for the 2018/19 financial year:

Total superannuation balance on 30 June 2018	Maximum non-concessional contributions cap for the first year	Bring-forward period
Less than $1.4 million	$300,000	3 years
$1.4 million to less than $1.5 million	$200,000	2 years
$1.5 million to less than $1.6 million	$100,000	No bring-forward period, general non-concessional contributions cap applies
$1.6 million	Nil	Not Applicable

Contributions up to the non-concessional contributions cap will not be taxed on receipt by legalsuper. Contributions over the cap may be taxed at a higher tax rate. You should consider obtaining independent financial advice before making a non-concessional contribution.

Government co-contributions

In some instances you may be eligible to receive a superannuation contribution paid by the Government.

The maximum co-contribution amount that may be paid to legalsuper depends on your income and your personal after-tax contributions that you make during the financial year.

For details of the eligibility for co-contributions please refer to the ATO website or visit legalsuper.com.au to obtain a fact sheet on eligibility.

You don't have to apply to have the co-contribution paid

The ATO will use information from your personal tax return and contribution information supplied by us to determine eligibility. If you are eligible the ATO will calculate the payment and send it to us for crediting to your legalsuper account.

First Home Super Saver Scheme (FHSSS)

From 1 July 2017, if eligible, you can make voluntary concessional (before-tax) and non-concessional (after-tax) contributions into your legalsuper account to save for your first home.

From 1 July 2018 you can then apply to release your voluntary contributions, together with any earnings to help you purchase your first home.

You can apply to have a maximum of $15,000 of your voluntary contributions from any one financial year included in your eligible contributions to be released under the FHSSS, up to a total of $30,000 contributions across all years, plus associated earnings.

You must meet the eligibility requirements to apply for the release of these amounts. To see if you are eligible visit ato.gov.au.

Contributions from downsizing

From 1 July 2018, if you are 65 years old or older and meet the eligibility requirements, you may be able to choose to make a downsizer contribution into your legalsuper account of up to $300,000 from the proceeds of selling your home.

Existing contribution caps and restrictions will not apply to the downsizer contributions in the year in which the downsizer contributions are made, but the $1.6 million Transfer Balance Cap and Age Pensions means test will continue to apply and it will count towards total superannuation balance tests in later years.

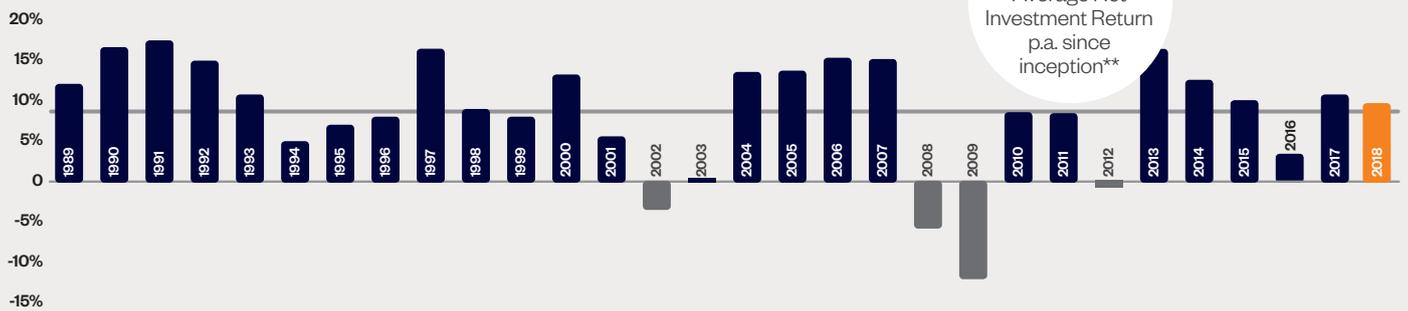

You can only make downsizing contributions from the sale of one home and both members of a couple may take advantage of it. Other eligibility requirements apply.

Downsizer contributions are not tax deductible and will be taken into account for determining eligibility for the age pension.

To see if you are eligible to make a contribution from downsizing visit ato.gov.au.

Investment returns since inception

This chart shows the Net Investment Return p.a. for legalsuper's default investment option – now known as MySuper balanced* – since inception to 30 June 2018.

* MySuper balanced is only available to Employer-sponsored members of legalsuper.

 The above Net Investment Return figures are for accumulation members and are after investment fees and tax and before administration fees.

Note: Past performance is not necessarily an indication of future performance.

Unitisation

PLEASE NOTE: This section does not apply to the Direct Investment option (DIO). Refer pages 23 – 30 for further details on the DIO.

How does my investment work?

The MySuper balanced option and the other 11 Investment Choice options each pool member contributions, which are then used to purchase assets such as shares, property, bonds and cash for that option.

The assets of each option pool are notionally divided into units – or a share of those assets. The value or price of each unit is determined by the value of the pool of assets. As the value of the assets increase, the unit price rises. If the value of the pool of assets decreases, the unit price falls.

If you contribute additional money to an option, you buy more units. If money is withdrawn to pay fees or to pay you a benefit, units are sold.

To calculate the value of your investment, you multiply the number of units you have been allocated in the option by the current unit price.

What is a unit worth?

Each national business day (i.e. a week day that is not a national public holiday or the NSW Queen's Birthday weekend or at Trustee discretion), legalsuper values the assets of each Investment option to determine the unit price of the option.

Are there any costs to buy or sell units?

As contributions are made to an investment option, that option's pool increases in size and more assets are purchased. If money is withdrawn from the option, the pool decreases in size and assets may need to be sold.

Buying or selling shares, property and bonds frequently incur transaction costs and other expenses.

To reflect transaction costs incurred by each option, legalsuper has a buy price when you contribute and a sell price for when you withdraw. The difference between the buy and sell prices is called a buy-sell spread and the amount charged depends on the option chosen. The buy-sell spread is used to compensate other investors in an option for the transaction costs incurred by those investors buying or selling units. The current buy-sell spreads are detailed in the 'Fees and costs' section of this Document.

How does legalsuper value my investment?

legalsuper always values your investments using the sell price.

When are unit prices available?

Unit prices are updated on each national business day (i.e. a week day that is not a national public holiday or the NSW Queen's Birthday weekend or at Trustee discretion).

Prices can be obtained at the legalsuper website or by contacting legalsuper on 1800 060 312 (8am to 8pm [AEST] Monday to Friday).

Can prices be delayed?

legalsuper recognises the importance of accuracy of unit pricing and the risks surrounding the unit pricing, especially when a significant event occurs such as:

- the market falls by 5% or greater;
- suspension of trading;
- large cash flows (greater than or equal to 50% of option value);
- investment manager product closure; or
- a material or significant event which results in the inability to access meaningful market values for a period of time.

Therefore, the legalsuper Unit Pricing Policy provides that where:

- there is a disruption to the information flow required to establish either assets or liabilities;
- markets on which assets are traded are closed or restricted and market prices cannot be established;
- valuations in good faith cannot be established; or
- there is either an adverse or positive movement in investment markets of 5% or greater;

and to process transactions could have a potentially detrimental effect on members, the Trustee has the power to suspend transactions until the valuation of assets and liabilities can be determined.

Investment choice

legalsuper recognises that every member is different. That's why we give you a say in how your superannuation savings are invested.

Each different investment option offered by legalsuper involves a different level of exposure to the various asset classes. This section explains some of the characteristics of each asset class.

Understanding asset classes

Australian shares

Australian shares represent a slice of the ownership of a company that is publicly listed on the Australian Stock Exchange. BHP Billiton, National Australia Bank and Woolworths are all familiar examples of companies listed on the Australian Stock Exchange. Investment returns from shares can come from increases in share value over time or from dividends paid by a listed company.

Overseas shares

These are shares in listed companies based outside Australia. Australian companies make up a small percentage of the value of the world's listed shares, so investing in overseas companies has the potential to open up more investment opportunities. The performance of overseas shares is also influenced by factors such as the economy of a particular country and the relative value of the Australian dollar to overseas currencies.

Property

A superannuation fund can invest in properties such as office buildings and shopping centres. This may be done by the Fund purchasing a property outright, or by the Fund purchasing units in a trust that invests in a portfolio of properties. Property trusts generally use funds from a group of investors to buy a range of properties. Property investment returns come from rent and/or increases in property values over time.

Alternative assets

Alternative assets can include infrastructure, private equity investments, inflation indexed bonds, credit instruments and hedge funds. This asset class targets long-term returns and related risks consistent with the underlying characteristics and risks associated with each investment.

Fixed interest

These investments include government bonds, corporate bonds, mortgage and asset backed securities and other fixed interest securities. They are investments that offer a fixed return for an agreed period of time. These investments can also be bought or sold before the end of the fixed period of time. Some of these securities will be based outside Australia, in which case the Trustee will consider currency hedging strategies designed to mitigate currency risk.

Enhanced cash

These investments include cash, bank deposits, bank bills, commercial paper and floating rate notes. Enhanced cash is very liquid, but includes slightly more credit risk than cash in the expectation of a slightly higher return.

Cash

These investments include cash, term deposits, bank bills, and other debt securities which are made on very short terms – usually less than 12 months – and for an agreed return.

Investment management structure legalsuper has engaged an asset consultant, Willis Towers Watson, to assist in determining our investment strategy and approach.

The role of Willis Towers Watson is to provide the legalsuper Trustee with advice and guidance on investment issues including:

- asset allocation
- portfolio construction
- investment policy implementation
- investment manager research
- alternative investments
- transition manager research
- investment risk management, and

Labour, environmental, social and ethical standards

No investment option invests directly into the shares of companies whose main activity is the production of tobacco products.

Except for the Balanced Socially responsible option, labour standards are not taken into account in the selection of investment managers, or the selection, retention or realisation of investments.

Environmental, social and corporate governance factors are considered in the selection of investment managers and investment opportunities to the extent that they may affect long-term investment returns.

A summary of the labour standards and environmental, social and ethical standards taken into account by AMP Capital Investors Limited ABN 59 001 777 591, AFSL 232497 (AMP Capital), the investment manager for the Balanced Socially responsible option, is set out on pages 21 and 22.

The investment structure of legalsuper is generally based on the appointment of sector specialist investment managers. This means that, on the advice of the Fund's asset consultant, Willis Towers Watson, the Trustee chooses individual investment managers for their expertise in managing specific asset classes.

After selecting a manager, the Trustee then engages the manager to invest assets either directly on behalf of the Trustee, or through an investment product.

All of the investment options in legalsuper except for the Cash, Enhanced cash, Balanced Socially responsible, and Balanced index options are managed by multiple investment managers. The Cash, Enhanced cash, Balanced Socially responsible, and Balanced index options are invested with a single investment manager.

Investment risks

There are a number of risks associated with investment including the risk that assets will fluctuate in value and may result in negative returns. Generally, the higher the investment risk, the higher the potential return but also the higher chance that there will be short-term fluctuations in the value of the investment. Investment risk can be reduced by holding a spread of individual investments across different asset classes. Each asset class varies by levels of risk and return. By holding a spread of investments, when an investment or asset class falls in value, there are other investments or asset classes that may offset the falls.

For Employer-sponsored members who do not select an investment option, your account balance will be invested in the MySuper balanced option. There is a risk that the MySuper balanced option may not be consistent with your personal investment objectives, financial situation or needs.

legalsuper may discontinue an investment option that you have previously selected, as described on page 15. There is a risk that any reallocations may not be consistent with your personal investment objectives, financial situation or needs. However, by becoming a member of legalsuper, you acknowledge that we can make these reallocations.

Standard Risk Measure

The Standard Risk Measure is based on industry guidance to allow members to compare investment options that are expected to deliver a similar number of negative annual returns over any 20 year period.

The Standard Risk Measure is not a complete assessment of all forms of investment risk, for instance it does not detail what the size of a negative return could be or the potential for a positive return to be less than you may require to meet your objectives.

You should still ensure you are comfortable with the risks and potential losses associated with your chosen investment options.

The most significant investment risks include those that relate to:

- Liquidity risk – some investments such as property and private equity are relatively illiquid. They may not readily be converted to cash. legalsuper limits exposures to illiquid investments to manage this risk.

- Inflation risk – the value of your retirement benefit should at a minimum keep up with the cost of living, so that the purchasing power of your retirement benefit is not reduced over time. legalsuper has designed investment options to exceed inflation over the medium to long-term.
- Valuation risk – the value of an investment can fall over time, driven by many factors including:
 - redemption/switching risk – in the event that underlying investments cannot be redeemed or properly valued, legalsuper may delay the processing of a request to withdraw or switch investments;
 - market risk – risks associated with investing in a certain investment market which is driven by economic, technological, political or legal conditions, or changes in market sentiment;
 - credit risk – the risk that a borrower may default on its commitments or the cost of credit varies with market fluctuations;
 - currency risk – value of overseas investments may change due to changes in the value of the currencies of those countries;
 - interest-rate risk – changes to interest rates may have a negative impact on investment values or returns;
 - derivatives risk – there are various risks associated with the use of derivative products. Derivatives are used to manage risk, enhance portfolio characteristics or manage investment exposures. legalsuper engages professional investment managers to manage derivatives. Risks associated with these derivatives include the value of the derivative failing to move in line with the underlying asset, potential illiquidity of the derivative, not being able to meet payment obligations as they arise, and counterparty risk (this is where the counterparty to the derivative contract cannot meet its obligations under a contract); and
 - Less frequently valued assets – some assets such as property are valued by appraisal at regular intervals. legalsuper invests in these assets through investment products, and relies upon the manager of each product to ensure unit prices are representative of underlying asset values at all times. These investment managers have adopted valuation policies that require the periodic revaluation of individual assets held by the pooled investment vehicle.

Investment managers

legalsuper utilises specialist investment professionals, including investment managers and an asset consultant, to take into consideration and assist with the management of these risks.

The level of risk will depend in part on your choice of investment options. legalsuper provides a number of investment options with a mix of investments designed to provide particular risk and return characteristics. For more information about the risk profiles of each of legalsuper's investment options, see pages 16 – 22 of this Document.

Past performance is not necessarily indicative of future performance. As you bear the risks associated with the investments you choose, we recommend that you seek investment advice from a licensed financial adviser before selecting your investment option and strategy.

Your investment in legalsuper is not guaranteed. The value of your investment can rise or fall.

Due to the volatility of investment returns and the costs associated with investing in superannuation, it is possible that you could get back less than you paid into legalsuper.

MySuper balanced

What is MySuper?

MySuper is a Government initiative aimed at providing a simple, easy to understand and comparable default superannuation for Australians and their employers.

The Trustee of legalsuper is authorised to offer a MySuper product and the investment option approved by the Trustee for the legalsuper MySuper product is the MySuper balanced option.

Who can invest in MySuper balanced option?

Any person who can join as an Employer-sponsored member can choose to invest in the MySuper balanced option. MySuper balanced is also the default option for the Employer-sponsored members.

What is a default investment option?

Members may make an investment choice where all or some of their contributions will be invested. An investment choice is an instruction to the Trustee to invest in one or more of the investment options available.

Where an Employer-sponsored member does not give the Trustee an instruction, the Trustee has chosen to invest this member's money in the MySuper balanced option.

Where an employer joins an employee as a member of legalsuper, contributions will be invested in the default MySuper balanced option.

MySuper balanced Product Dashboard

The purpose of a MySuper Product Dashboard is to help you compare different MySuper products.

The legalsuper MySuper balanced option dashboard is available at the legalsuper website.

The MySuper balanced option dashboard is a chart which illustrates:

- annual returns for the last ten years after allowing for inflation; and
- a comparison of the 10-year moving average returns and the 10-year moving average return targets.

The dashboard also outlines the level of investment risk and includes a statement of fees and costs.

Investor profile:

Investment strategy:

The Balanced Socially responsible option currently invests into the AMP Capital Responsible Investment Leaders Balanced Fund (RIL Fund). This is a multi-manager fund operated by AMP Capital that considers environmental, social and governance (ESG) factors when making investment decisions.

Currently the RIL Fund applies ESG factors in the selection of managers who invest in Australian and international shares, direct property, corporate and government bonds, and alternative investments. The RIL Fund does not currently consider these factors in relation to investments into cash.

AMP Capital selects the managers of the RIL Fund based on both investment and ESG criteria.

In addition to assessing a manager's investment capability, consideration is also given to a manager's ability to substantially meet the responsible investment criteria outlined in the RIL Fund's Responsible Investment Leaders Charter of Operation ("Charter"). At a minimum, a manager must also be able to meet the negative screening criteria listed in the Charter. Managers will also be well-regarded if they can pro-actively apply sustainable and responsible investment criteria to their security selection approach, above and beyond these exclusions, on behalf of the RIL Fund.

Investment Choice options

The RIL Fund is governed by an ethical charter which prohibits investments in companies operating within sectors recognised to have a high negative social impact. This means that the RIL Fund will avoid exposure (either directly or indirectly through underlying managers and funds) to companies with a material exposure to the production or manufacture of:

- tobacco
- nuclear power (including uranium)
- armaments
- gambling
- alcohol, and
- pornography.

A company deriving more than 10% of its total revenue from these industries constitutes material exposure. In addition, with the combustion of fossil-fuels being the main source of global greenhouse gas emissions, the RIL Fund's range seeks to limit exposure to companies which have a material exposure to the most carbon intensive fossil fuels by excluding any company that has more than a 20% exposure (as measured by percentage of market capitalisation, or other appropriate financial metric) to one, or a combination of, the following:

- mining thermal coal
- exploration and development of oil sands
- brown-coal (or lignite) coal-fired power generation
- transportation of oil from oil sands, and
- conversion of coal to liquid fuels/feedstock.

Exclusions may be updated, from time to time, following review and approval by the RIL Fund's Ethics Committee. Investors will be notified of any changes to the Charter, including changes to the exclusions.

Direct Investment option

(The DIO platform will be available from 20 May 2019)

The Direct Investment option (DIO) offers members more control and choice with the investment of their super.

This option suits members who want to actively manage their super or those who might be seeking a low-cost SMSF-style alternative.

Members have the flexibility to invest in:

- Shares that are included in the S&P/ASX300 Index;
- Exchange Traded Funds (ETFs);
- Listed Investment Companies (LICs); and/or
- Term Deposits.

The Trustee maintains an Approved Investment Menu that members can invest in and is subject to change. The Approved Investment Menu provides details of the investments that members may select, and general investment rules and limits that apply to the DIO. The inclusion of a share, ETF, LIC or Term Deposit on the Approved Investment Menu is not an endorsement or recommendation by the Trustee as to the quality or suitability of that investment. The Approved Investment Menu is available at legalsuper.com.au/investments/direct-investments and members should refer to this page for the current list of investments.

The rules for investing in the DIO should not be considered as a recommendation by the Trustee as to the manner in which members should approach their investments in the DIO. All responsibility for the investment decisions, including the level of diversification in the DIO, rests with the member.

One of the most important principles of investing is diversification – that is, to spread your investments across a range of asset classes, within some asset classes, across geographical regions, and investment managers. This could be achieved by investing in a range of investment options offered by legalsuper and, in particular with the DIO, through listed securities associated with different industries and regions.

Diversification reduces your risk as your investments are not solely dependent on the performance of any one of these components. Refer to the 'Risks' section on page 26.

The Trustee does not review any trades that members make in the DIO, and members should consider obtaining investment advice from a licensed financial adviser before investing in the DIO.

Terms, conditions, fees and costs apply for investing in the DIO. For more information refer to the DIO page on the legalsuper website at legalsuper.com.au/investments/direct-investments.

Eligibility for the DIO

Before you can access the DIO as a Free Access User or invest as a Full Access User, you will need to:

- be a legalsuper Employer-sponsored member or Personal member and/or a legalsuper Pension member (please note that legalsuper Transition to Retirement Pension members are unable to access the DIO);

- provide your Tax File Number (TFN);
- register for legalsuper MemberAccess;
- provide us with your email address; and
- meet the balance minimums below.

Investment minimums	Super DIO limits	Pension DIO limits
Minimum legalsuper balance	$10,000*	$10,000*
Minimum non-DIO holding requirement at all times [^]	$3,000	$3,000
DIO Cash account minimum at all times	$250	$250

* You will need to satisfy this minimum balance requirement to register for the DIO.

[^] invested in one or more of the other investment options offered by legalsuper.

 In addition to the $3,000 shown above, existing or new Pension members who instruct legalsuper to transfer funds into their DIO, must be aware of the Minimum Pension Payment Requirement (Requirement). This Requirement is to ensure that Pension members maintain sufficient money in their non-DIO investment option(s) to meet the legislated annual minimum pension payment.

Therefore, the minimum non-DIO holding requirement for Pension members will be the greater of $3,000 or the equivalent of 13 months of the required annual minimum pension payment.

Please note: If your employer is a stock broker, you must have a Referral Agreement signed by your employer in order to comply with section 991F(3) of the Corporations Act 2001 (Cth).

How the DIO works

As a legalsuper member, the DIO forms part of the fund's investment options. The DIO is available via an investment platform accessed through the fund's online member portal called 'MemberAccess'. Simply login to MemberAccess at legalsuper.com.au and click on the Investments tab to get started.

When you first login, you can select which DIO package is suitable for you based on your financial goals:

- Free Access – Allows you to use platform features, tools and resources such as market data provided by Morningstar and research by UBS without incurring fees or transferring funds from your legalsuper investment option(s). However, you won't be able to trade securities, purchase Term Deposits or hold a DIO Cash account.
- Full Access – All of the benefits of the 'Free Access' package plus trading on the available securities on the S&P/ASX300 Index, ETFs, LICs and Term Deposits and maintain a DIO Cash account

When you select the 'Full Access' option, you will be asked to transfer cash from your other legalsuper investment option(s) to your DIO Cash account. Transfers must be made by 4.00pm (AEST), otherwise the request is not considered to have been received until the following national business day. Transfers then take effect two national business days after receipt of your request. You will not be able to transact until your transferred funds have been credited into your DIO Cash account.

Once the funds have been received into your DIO Cash account, you can commence purchasing shares, ETFs, LICs and/or Term Deposits, but you need to retain at least $250 in your DIO Cash account at any point in time so it is important to transfer enough funds to cover this minimum and any fees and costs that may apply, and any additional amount you wish to invest.

Once you have joined legalsuper as a member, further information regarding restrictions that might apply to your investments in the DIO will be contained in the DIO Terms and Conditions.

The Terms and Conditions explain the conditions that apply to trading, available investments and accessing the website. These are all available online when registering for a DIO account.

What is a DIO Cash account?

The DIO Cash account will be used to settle fees and costs for the purchase of investments, brokerage and some account fees and for any interest, dividends and tax to be paid into or out of the account. The DIO Cash account will increase with all dividends, distributions, interest, maturities from Term Deposits and the proceeds of any sale of investments. The impact of pending settlements, e.g. unsettled trades and fees may reduce the available cash to make further investments.

A minimum balance of $250 must be maintained and any interest earned in the DIO Cash account is calculated daily and paid monthly in arrears on or around the first business day of the following month.

How do I invest (buy and sell securities) within the DIO?

Following the receipt of funds into your DIO Cash account, you will then be able to invest in your choice of S&P/ASX300 shares, ETFs, LICs and/or Term Deposits in accordance with the Approved Investment Menu selections offered.

You will generally only be able to trade S&P/ASX300 shares, ETFs or LICs every day that the Australian Stock Exchange (ASX) is trading (generally Monday to Friday [excluding national public holidays] between 10am and 4pm (AEST), allowing for a staggered market open and close).

Share trading – order types

Trades can be placed using either an 'At-Market' or 'At-Limit' timeframe.

An 'At-Market' order seeks to complete an order at the best available buy or sell price at the time the order is placed within market trading times. Trades are generally processed immediately while markets are open.

'At-Limit' orders will remain on the market until the later of their nominated price being reached or the order expires. You can choose the expiry of an 'At-Limit' order when you are buying or selling listed securities. The order can remain on market for either 'Good for the day' or 'Good for 30 days'. Orders which have not been executed within the selected time period will automatically expire.

You can cancel that part of an 'At-Limit' order that has not been executed at any time.

'Good for the day' orders are valid for the national business day on which they are placed and expire before the market opens on the next national business day. If an order is placed outside market hours, it will become valid the next national business day and will expire before the market opens again on the national business day after the order was placed, unless cancelled as a result of ASX rules.

If you need assistance transacting, the 'Help' feature available in the DIO can provide you with frequently asked questions. Alternately you can contact legalsuper on 1800 060 312 (8am to 8pm [AEST] Monday to Friday).

You must hold securities before you can sell them and when you place a sale the funds will immediately be included in your available balance and can be used to purchase additional securities. This is known as a 'good value' transaction.

Trading – Settlement timeframes

Listed securities transaction settlement occurs two national business days after a trade takes place, this is referred to as 'T+2'.

Trading restrictions

As long as the account balance for your other legalsuper investment options is at least $3,000 (or, where applicable, the Minimum Pension Payment Requirement) and you maintain $250 in your DIO Cash account you can invest:

- A maximum of 25% of your total legalsuper balance in a single security*;
- The minimum amount that can be invested per security trade purchase is $1,500; and
- The maximum amount that can be invested per security trade purchase is $250,000.

You cannot buy and sell the same security on the same day (day trading) in the DIO. While unexecuted purchase or sale orders can be cancelled, once a trade is executed on the DIO platform it cannot be cancelled.

*You may continue to hold this security even if it subsequently exceeds the 25% limit, but you will not be able to purchase more of this security until its value falls below the 25% limit.

Direct Investment option

Dividend Reinvestment Plan

A Dividend Reinvestment Plan (DRP) will automatically reinvest your dividends to purchase additional shares in the underlying stock, ETF and/or LIC you hold.

Within the DIO, you can choose a DRP option as follows:

- i. For all stocks (i.e. all cash or all reinvest where DRP is available); or
- ii. Individual stocks (i.e. cash or reinvest where DRP is available).

Note: You cannot elect a percentage (%) split between cash and reinvest for a particular stock but you can elect all cash for one stock and to reinvest for another stock where DRP is available.

Your DRP preferences may be changed at any time. Once a dividend has been announced, you will have until midnight on the day before the 'ex-dividend date' (known as 'ex-date') to make your final DRP preference selection.

Reinvesting your dividends to buy additional shares under a DRP may result in a small amount of residual cash, to the value of less than one whole share issued as part of a particular DRP allocation. Any residual cash will be deposited into your DIO Cash account.

If you do not choose to participate in a DRP or nominate to participate in a DRP for a stock that does not offer this service, dividends will be paid into your DIO Cash account as cash proceeds.

Please note: For members who participate in a DRP, tax may be deducted from your DIO Cash account when any applicable shares are allocated to your portfolio.

S&P/ASX300 Index, ETFs and LICs

The securities listed on the S&P/ASX300 Index are the 300 largest Australian securities according to market capitalisation and make up approximately 80% of the Australian equity market which covers a range of sectors, including financials, materials, industrials, energy, telecommunications, consumer staples, consumer discretionary, utilities, information technology and health care.

In addition, selected ETFs and LICs as listed in legalsuper's Approved Investment Menu are available to purchase. Before investing in an ETF or LIC you should obtain and consider the Product Disclosure Statement (PDS) or disclosure documents applicable to the ETF or LIC, available from the website of the ETF or LIC issuer.

Where a listed security has fallen outside of the S&P/ASX300 Index but continues to be listed on the ASX, you may continue to hold that security, receive dividends and action any corporate actions; however you cannot purchase more of it. You can sell a security that has fallen outside of the S&P/ASX300 Index as long as it is still listed on the ASX; this is subject to available market and orderly market considerations. If a security you hold delists from the ASX, you may be required to sell it.

Where an ETF or LIC is no longer available, you may continue to hold it and receive distribution payments; however you may not purchase more of it. You can sell an ETF or LIC that is no longer available, subject to available market and orderly market considerations. If an ETF or LIC you hold delists from the ASX, you may be required to sell it.

If you hold securities in a company that becomes delisted from the ASX, you will not be able to sell them and close your DIO account until formal resolution and instructions on the treatment of these securities are provided by the relevant authority. You will also not be able to switch your DIO account from your Super to a Pension account or another legalsuper Super account.

Investment returns in the DIO may take the form of capital gains or losses, and may include dividends and tax benefits but also carry the highest level of risk.

Short term fluctuations in value may occur but greater investment returns than those you might expect to achieve from, for example, Term Deposits are expected over longer periods based on the investments you select.

The investment(s) in the DIO will depend on the investments selected by individual members. The minimum suggested time frames that generally apply to the investments in the DIO are:

- Term Deposits: very short term (1 year or less)
- S&P/ASX300 Index-listed securities: very long term (7 to 10 years)
- ETFs and LICs: very long term (7 to 10 years).

Term Deposits

Term Deposits are investments with an interest rate that is fixed at the time your application is processed. Interest earned is calculated based on the total number of days you are invested in the Term Deposit. The legalsuper DIO option offers a range of Term Deposits from different providers.

Please note: Term Deposit investments are not covered by the Government's Financial Claims Scheme.

Term Deposit interest rates

The interest rate applicable will be the advertised rate on the day the Term Deposit closes to applications. The available maturity terms for Term Deposits are 1 month, 3 months, 6 months and 12 months. These available durations may not always be exactly 30, 90, 180 or 365 days and will revert to Australian Financial Market Association (AFMA) conventions. Investments in Term Deposits should fit with your expected investment time horizon to avoid the need to redeem early.

Term Deposit investment limits

There is no limit on the number of Term Deposits that you can invest in subject to eligibility requirements. The minimum you can invest in a single Term Deposit is $5,000; the maximum you can invest depends on the provider. Term Deposit applications are processed on a weekly cycle. Cut-off is midnight Thursday (AEST) and processed on the next national business day.

Direct Investment option

Term Deposit reinvestment options

The amount you invested (the principal) and any interest earned is paid as cash to your DIO Cash account upon maturity and any applicable taxes deducted. You have the option to reinvest by selecting the Amount, Term and Expiration options at the time you purchase the Term Deposit or any time up until midnight (AEST) two national business days before maturity.

The reinvestment options are:

1. Amount – Principal only or Principal and net interest;
2. Term – Same term and provider or Same term, best rate ; and
3. Expiration – One new term or Until cancelled.

If you set up an automatic Term Deposit reinvestment, the net proceeds from your maturing Term Deposit are first credited to your DIO Cash account and then invested in the next available Term Deposit in the weekly processing cycle. It is important that we hold a valid email address for you, as you will receive an email before your Term Deposit matures notifying you that you can elect to reinvest your money into another Term Deposit or have the amount paid into your DIO Cash account. The proceeds will remain in your DIO Cash account until the next Term Deposit starts.

Breaking a Term Deposit prior to maturity

Members should be aware that a request to break a Term Deposit prior to its agreed maturity may be subject to a notice period. Interest rate adjustments may also apply.

Any request to break a Term Deposit before its agreed maturity must be made directly to legalsuper in writing, will be subject to processing timeframes and may result in an interest rate adjustment as follows:

Time Invested	Interest rate reduction
0 to 50% of total term	50%
Over 50% of total term	20%

Risks

Members should consider the following risks particular to the DIO. The DIO allows members to select the specific investment(s) in which their superannuation and/or pension is invested. Unlike the Investment Choice options, members make their own selection from the Approved Investment Menu and the responsibility for each type of, or a mix of, investments the member selects, and the associated risk level decision rests with the member. As members invested in the DIO manage and control their investments, they may be exposed to the following additional risks:

- The risk that they may not have the expertise, knowledge, experience or time required to make appropriate investment decisions;

- The risk that they may set return objectives in selecting investments that are not appropriate for their circumstances;
- The risk that they may trade too frequently;
- Volatility: The risk of being overly exposed to direct share investments, with resultant volatility, as share prices can be volatile particularly over the short term;
- Lack of diversification: DIO members may fail to diversify adequately, which can increase volatility. You can increase diversification by investing in a variety of stocks across different industries;
- Market timing: Investors often try to pick the top and bottom of the market to maximise returns. Getting these decisions wrong can impact long-term returns; and
- The probability of a negative return depending on the invested timeframe and exposure to securities and fluctuating investments selected by the member in their investment portfolio.

The Trustee does not review any trades that members make in the DIO and members should consider obtaining investment advice from a licensed financial adviser before investing in the DIO.

Maintaining your DIO Cash account

You must maintain at least $250 at all times in the DIO Cash account (please note that the $20 monthly DIO account fee and DIO Cash account fee of 0.40% of your DIO Cash account balance is deducted from the DIO Cash account, as such you will need to ensure there are sufficient funds in the DIO Cash account at all times).

If the balance of your DIO Cash account is below $250, and no action is taken, legalsuper will on your behalf maintain the DIO Cash account at the minimum balance of $250.

In doing so, legalsuper will apply the following rules in order:

- Transfer up to $250 from your other legalsuper investment option(s) if the balance in your other investment options is above $3,000. If you have a pension account, the amount you must have in your other legalsuper investment option(s) may need to be more than $3,000 to cover pension payments as per the Minimum Pension Payment Requirement.
- If you have less than $3,000 in your other legalsuper investment option(s) or for pension members less than the greater of $3,000 or the Minimum Pension Payment Requirement, then legalsuper will sell shares from your highest market value share, ETF and/or LIC holdings. You will be responsible for the brokerage fees incurred and any tax that may be due. The amount received will be dependent on the market price of the trade at the time it is placed. legalsuper has no responsibility for the price received when the trade is executed.
- Finally, legalsuper will redeem any Term Deposits in order of the earliest maturity date first. Penalties may apply.

Direct Investment option

Moving between legalsuper investment options and the DIO

When you choose to invest in or transfer funds into the DIO, you nominate a dollar amount which is deducted proportionately from your current legalsuper Superannuation or Pension investment option(s).

Transfers to the DIO must be made by 4.00pm (AEST), otherwise they are not considered to have been received until the following national business day. Transfers then take effect two national business days after receipt of your request.

For superannuation accounts, when you choose to sell and transfer some or all of your DIO holdings back into your other legalsuper investment option(s), the transfer will be allocated to your legalsuper investment option(s) proportionately across your future contributions selection.

For pension accounts, when you choose to sell and transfer some or all of your DIO holdings back into your legalsuper investment option(s), the transfer will be applied proportionately across your current legalsuper investment option(s) selection.

Maintaining the minimum account balance in other legalsuper investment option(s)

From time to time your other legalsuper investment option(s) may drop below the minimum required amount as detailed in the 'Eligibility for the DIO' section. If this occurs we will contact you to advise you of your options to raise these investments above the minimum required amount.

Should no action be taken within 30 days, we will consider taking actions to restore your other legalsuper investment option(s) above the minimum required amount.

If action is taken by legalsuper, we will apply the following rules in order:

- If you have sufficient funds in your DIO Cash account, legalsuper will transfer the required cash into your other legalsuper investment option(s).

If you do not have sufficient funds in your DIO Cash account, legalsuper will:

- Sell from your highest market value share, ETF and/or LIC holdings to the required amount. You will be responsible for the brokerage, fees and any tax that may be due. The amount received will be dependent on the market price of the trade at the time it is placed. legalsuper has no responsibility for the price received when the trade is executed.
- Redeem any Term Deposits in order of the earliest maturity date. Penalties may apply.

Closing your DIO account

If you no longer wish to hold investments via the DIO, you can change your package to 'Free Access'. After you have changed to the 'Free Access' package, you can continue to access the DIO to view market and investment information and any preferences that you may have set-up (e.g. alerts, watchlists etc.) will be retained and remain unchanged.

Please note that before changing your package to 'Free Access', you will need to:

- sell all listed securities you currently hold;
- wait for any outstanding transactions (e.g. dividend payments) to process into your DIO Cash account; and
- wait for any Term Deposits you hold to mature.

Any corporate actions in progress that are outside of the Trustee's control may also delay payments or transfers to enable you to change your package.

If you wish to trade in the future, you can change your package to 'Full Access', transfer funds into the DIO Cash account and commence trading again upon the receipt of funds into your DIO Cash account.

If you want to make a full withdrawal of your account balance but are unable to close your DIO account because you hold suspended shares you can:

- a) choose to retain only the suspended shares in your DIO account, but you must also keep adequate DIO Cash account funds to cover fees and costs related to the DIO; or
- b) close your DIO account by forfeiting your rights to the suspended shares.

You may cancel your 'Full Access' registration during a cooling off period within 14 days by notifying us in writing and we will do so within 5 business days of receipt of that written notice, unless the cooling off period goes over a month end in which case we will cancel your registration within 10 business days of the written notice.

Any brokerage fees incurred while your account was active will still be charged. It is your responsibility to sell down any shares purchased before requesting that your 'Full Access' account be cancelled.

Illiquid investment declaration

The DIO has been declared an illiquid investment option in accordance with the Superannuation Industry (Supervision) Regulations. Ordinarily, the Superannuation Industry (Supervision) Regulations require the Trustee to transfer or roll over amounts within 3-days of receiving a request or obtaining additional information if required. This 3-day requirement does not apply to amounts invested in the DIO plus the minimum required amount as detailed in the 'Eligibility for the DIO' section. Requests to transfer or roll over amounts invested in the DIO plus the minimum required amount are unable to be transferred until all DIO investments have been sold, your package changed to 'Free Access' and all monies have been transferred to another legalsuper investment option(s).

Illiquid investment consent

By requesting a transfer of funds from your legalsuper investment option(s) to your DIO Cash account, and by issuing investment instructions for the DIO, you are consenting that you understand and accept that all amounts invested in the DIO plus the minimum required amount are illiquid.

Direct Investment option

Investment/redemption instructions

Members must issue their own investment instructions using the online platform.

legalsuper is unable to pay fees (except for the monthly $20 DIO account fee and DIO Cash account fee of 0.40% of your DIO Cash account balance) and pensions from the DIO. Members must ensure that the balance held in the other legalsuper investment option(s) is sufficient to meet these payments and, at all times, maintain the minimum holding requirement as detailed in the 'Eligibility for the DIO' section.

The Trustee of legalsuper will only issue investment instructions on behalf of you in the following circumstances:

- to maintain the minimum non-DIO holding requirements;
- to replenish the DIO Cash account to at least $250;
- under a court order;
- if you open a new legalsuper account and then exercise your right to cool-off, and fail to sell down your DIO investments;
- if you have a Pension account and have insufficient funds in your non-DIO investment option(s) to meet your Minimum Pension Payment Requirement; or
- following the death of a member (where no reversionary pensioner has been nominated) at the same time that the Trustee approves payment to beneficiaries.

The Trustee reserves the right to issue redemption instructions on behalf of legalsuper members in respect of one or more of the underlying assets held by that member in the DIO in each of the above circumstances.

The Trustee will use reasonable endeavours to contact a member prior to taking such action in respect of investments in the DIO. The assets to be redeemed will be determined by the Trustee in its absolute discretion.

Other liquidity restrictions

The ability to withdraw part or all of your superannuation or pension account invested in the DIO may, in some circumstances, not be possible such as:

- The ability to 'break' a term of a Term Deposit is subject to the agreement of the Term Deposit issuer, is subject to processing timeframes and may result in an interest rate adjustment.
- In the event of a corporate action you may be unable to sell that company's shares until the corporate action is completed.
- In some cases you may not be able to trade a particular stock, for example if it is suspended from trading on the ASX.
- You will not be able to close your DIO until all the investments that you have made are sold or have matured.

Important note: You can buy a listed security on one national business day and sell it at the next national business day. When you sell a listed security, the proceeds will be immediately available in your available DIO Cash account balance to buy other listed securities. This is known as providing you with 'good value'. Settlement of shares will occur on a 'Trade Date +2 days' basis.

Your DIO Cash account balance is updated overnight taking into consideration the cash transfer timeframes.

You must hold securities for at least 45 days (not including the day of acquisition or disposal) before you become eligible to claim a franking tax offset arising from the receipt of dividends. To be eligible for a dividend, you must have purchased the equities before the ex-dividend date.

Dividend payments will generally be credited to your DIO Cash account within a few days of the payment date (the date a dividend or distribution is paid).

Where available you will be able to elect to participate in a DRP. The default setting on security purchases is usually for dividends to be paid into the DIO Cash account. If you want to participate in a DRP, you will receive additional securities instead of dividend payments to your DIO Cash account. Any tax on dividends which are re-invested into additional securities will be deducted from your DIO Cash account.

DRP elections can be made and changed anytime, once you hold the security. The election must be made prior to midnight (AEST) on the day before the security becomes ex-dividend for it to take effect. No brokerage applies to securities purchased through a DRP.

Corporate actions

We refer to corporate actions as actions taken by, in respect of, or against a listed security in which you have invested.

These may affect the capital structure of the security, or the number or type of securities held on your behalf.

These types of actions can be mandatory, such as share reconstructions, or voluntary, such as class actions, entitlement offers and share purchase plans.

In some circumstances we, as Trustee seeking to act in the best interests of members and in accordance with our other duties, may make a decision in relation to the corporate action. We may refer the corporate action to specialist consultants for advice. If specialist advice is sought, there may be a delay in making the corporate action election. However, the transaction will generally be processed by the effective date of the corporate action to ensure you are not disadvantaged.

In some circumstances when a corporate action arises in which you are eligible to take part, you will receive an email prompting you to log into your DIO account, where you will be able to view the corporate action details including the closing date and make an election.

You will need to ensure you have enough funds in your DIO Cash account to carry out your instructions, if you do not have enough funds in your DIO Cash account, no further action will be taken and you will not be able to participate in any offer. Your election must be made before the closing date of the corporate action.

Direct Investment option

If you do not make an election, the corporate action's nominated default option (as defined under the terms of the corporate action) will apply to you. This may be to take no action and could result in a forfeiture or loss of securities, entitlements or consideration due.

Where you hold securities that are outside the S&P/ASX300 Index and still listed on the ASX, when a corporate action arises, you may continue to hold that security, receive dividends and act on corporate actions; however you may not purchase more of it.

Where you hold securities that are not listed on the ASX, when a corporate action arises, you may be required to sell them or they may be sold on your behalf.

You must make a decision whether to partake in the corporate action or not, giving consideration to any taxation implications you may incur, your personal circumstances and any future obligations that may arise due to the corporate action.

We reserve the right to not take part in any corporate action as and when they arise.

In the event that a corporate action could result in the breach of a DIO requirement (such as by the issue of foreign shares), legalsuper may take remedial action to prevent this from occurring, and will determine the value of any cash payment you may be eligible for instead.

You will not be able to change your package to 'Free Access' until all outstanding corporate actions have been finalised.

What are the tax implications?

You must provide legalsuper with your Tax File Number (TFN) to be eligible to register for the DIO.

Note – legalsuper Pension members only:

If you are legalsuper Pension member no tax is payable. Therefore, tax is not deducted on any dividend income earned and/or capital gains made. Also, the value of franking credits is credited in full to your DIO Cash account.

Dividend income

Tax may be payable on dividend income. The DIO automatically deducts any tax payable when the dividend is paid into your DIO Cash account.

For members who participate in a DRP, any tax will be deducted from your transaction account when any applicable shares are allotted to your portfolio. If you do not nominate for DRP, then a cash credit will be made to your DIO Cash account.

Capital Gains Tax (CGT)

You may realise a capital gain or loss when you sell shares.

CGT relating to investments held or sold within your DIO account will be calculated daily based on a financial year to date position and this will accrue within your portfolio valuation. A physical deduction or CGT refund (i.e. if an investment loss is crystallised, there may be a 10% CGT refund if there is no offsetting tax liabilities) relating to financial year to date realised net capital gains will be made after each quarter (March, June, September and December).

Realised capital losses that cannot be offset against realised capital gains will be carried forward for future use in subsequent quarters and reflected in the CGT asset or liability reported within your portfolio valuation.

The Australian Federal Government determines the relevant taxation rates to investments within your DIO account and these rates are subject to change.

Franking credits

One of the ways a company can distribute earnings to shareholders is by paying a dividend. Dividends are the amounts paid to shareholders using profits that a company has made. In Australia, companies can distribute dividends that are fully franked, partially franked or unfranked. The amount of any franking credit attached to a dividend represents income tax previously paid by the company. The franking credit can be used to offset income tax payable by the shareholder.

Superannuation funds pay a maximum of 15% tax on investment earnings. As your DIO forms part of your superannuation, any dividends taxed at a higher rate than 15% will return a franking credit. For eligible members, the DIO automatically applies franking credits from share dividends to the DIO Cash accounts at the time the dividend is paid.

In order to benefit from franking credits in the DIO, you must hold your shares for 45 days (excluding the day of purchase or sale). Where a member holds several tax parcels of shares, the 45-day rule applies to shares sold on a last in first out basis.

True-Up calculation

A calculation of your final tax liability (known as a 'True-Up') for DIO held investments will be calculated, and all adjustments made, as at 31 December each year in respect of the previous tax year. This will allow adequate time for any trust distribution information to be received from the respective issuers that might not have otherwise been available at the time the trust distribution was received.

Brokerage

Whenever you buy and sell S&P/ASX300 shares, ETFs and/or LICs there is a brokerage fee charged:

Trade Amount FROM	Trade Amount TO	Brokerage (excl. GST)
$0.00	$10,000	$19.50
$10,000.01	$27,500	$29.50
$27,500.01	$10,000,000	0.11% on total value

The brokerage fee payable depends on the transaction amount and where it falls within the above ranges (only one range is applicable per trade).

Direct Investment option

For example, a $9,000 trade would incur a brokerage fee of $19.50 (excl. GST). A $24,000 trade would incur a brokerage fee of $29.50 (excl. GST) and if you placed a $45,000 trade, your total brokerage would be calculated as:

- $$45,000 \times 0.11\% = \49.50 (excl. GST)

For 'At-Limit' and 'At Market' orders which are not fully executed in the same trading day, normal brokerage will be charged for the total portion executed per day.

No brokerage applies to securities purchased through a DRP.

Keeping track of your investments

You can keep track of your investments in the DIO via legalsuper's MemberAccess.

It is important your email address recorded is valid. If for any reason it becomes invalid or changes, you must notify us. You will still be able to transact using your DIO account but will not receive transaction confirmation emails, or other important information related to your DIO account.

A number of online reports are available via the DIO. These reports are generally updated each weekday (with data as at the close of the previous national business day). These reports include:

Cash Transaction Report – Transaction information for your DIO Cash account including current values.

Unrealised Capital Gains and Tax Report – Provides information for your unrealised gains and losses split by listed security as at a specified date.

Capital Gains Disposal and Tax Report – Details CGT transactions on your account for a requested period.

Fees and Expenses Report – Provides information on fees and expenses charged for the requested period.

Portfolio Valuation Report – Provides your DIO account values split by DIO Cash account, Term Deposits, shares, ETFs and LICs as at the reporting date requested.

Income Report – A breakdown of income components and tax credits for a requested period.

Performance Report – Details the performance of your listed securities for a requested period and the 1, 2- and 3-year returns.

You may need a PDF Reader installed on your computer to read the reports. To download Adobe Reader, visit get.adobe.com/reader

Fees

There is a $20 per month 'Portfolio Administration Fee' (PAF) (also known as the 'DIO account fee') and a 0.29% 'Asset Based Fee' (also known as the 'Administration fee' for the DIO), as well as the other fees that may apply to your legalsuper membership. Brokerage fees may apply if you purchase or sell shares in your DIO account.

Please note, the $20 per month fee is payable regardless of whether or not you transact from your DIO Cash account holdings and is calculated daily and deducted on the first business day of the month.

This DIO account fee is deducted from your DIO Cash account whereas the Administration fee is deducted from your other legalsuper investment option(s).

In addition, a 'DIO Cash account fee' of 0.40% is charged by the DIO platform provider (UBS). This fee only applies to funds held in the DIO Cash account and is calculated daily and deducted monthly from your DIO Cash account

Details of 'Fees and costs' are contained on pages 59 – 63.

Transfer of your DIO to a new legalsuper account

If you are a member of legalsuper with some of your account invested in the DIO, you may be able to transfer your DIO account from your existing legalsuper account to commence a new legalsuper account without having to sell down investments as follows:

Existing legalsuper account	New legalsuper account
Superannuation	Superannuation or Pension (excluding legalsuper Transition to Retirement Pension accounts)
Pension (excluding legalsuper Transition to Retirement Pension accounts)	Pension (excluding legalsuper Transition to Retirement Pension accounts)

Transfers for members with Term Deposits are not permitted and will result in the rejection of your application. As such, transfers cannot be initiated until Term Deposits reach full maturity.

If you are able to transfer your DIO account, the benefits may include:

- no liability for capital gains tax on unrealised gains on assets transferred and subsequently sold;
- no 'out of market risks'* associated with selling and repurchasing investments; and
- no brokerage costs or early redemption fees.

Insurance

Access to Death, Total and Permanent Disablement (TPD), and Salary Continuance insurance is an important benefit of legalsuper membership.

legalsuper knows the importance of insurance cover. That's why we provide members with access to:

- Death Only cover (including Terminal Illness); or
- Death (including Terminal Illness) & TPD cover; and/or
- Salary Continuance cover (see pages 45 – 53 for details).

Insurance cover is provided by OnePath Life Limited ABN 33 009 657 176, AFSL 238 341 (the insurer) and subject to the terms and conditions of the insurance policy issued to the Trustee (the policy). This Document provides a summary of the key terms and conditions of the policy. Where information is summarised in a brochure, information guide, or document other than the policy itself, it does not represent a complete description of the terms on which the insurance cover is provided.

The policy represents the concluded agreement between the Trustee and the insurer and, in the event of any inconsistency with this Document the terms of the policy prevail. Two separate policies exist: one covering Death, Terminal Illness and TPD and the other covering Salary Continuance cover. Copies of either or both policies are available to members from legalsuper (free of charge) upon request.

Some words or terms in this Document have a special meaning. These words have been capitalised and are explained in 'The insurer's definitions for cover' section on pages 54 – 58.

Insurance cover is in place 24 hours a day, 7 days a week (subject to certain exclusions), so you can rest easy knowing you're covered.

Important: From 1 July 2019, where your accumulation account has been inactive (i.e. no contributions or rollovers have been received for 16 months or more), your insurance cover will be cancelled unless legalsuper has been directed by you to maintain it, or if you are an Employer-sponsored member, your employer contributes to the Fund an amount equal to the applicable insurance fees.

Types of members

The insurance information contained in this Document relates to three types of members:

- 1. Employer-sponsored members are members who receive a superannuation guarantee (SG) contribution(s) from their employer;
- 2. Personal members are members who are self-employed and/or make contributions on their own behalf; and
- 3. A Spouse member is a spouse of a member who contributes to legalsuper on their behalf.

What type of cover can I have?

Type of cover	Employer-sponsored member	Personal member	Spouse member
Death Only	Yes	Yes	Yes
Death & TPD	Yes	Yes	No
Salary Continuance	Yes	Yes	No

The terms and conditions that apply to insurance cover available to Employer-sponsored members, Personal members and Spouse members are shown on the following pages of this Document.

Important: Some of the terms and conditions are different.

Death & TPD cover

Important note: Your employer may have entered into a separate Death, TPD and/or Salary Continuance insurance arrangement with the Trustee. We will let you know if this applies to you and provide you with a copy of your employer's Insurance Guide. You should read this Guide in addition to the insurance information in this Document. The material relating to your employer's specific insurance arrangements may change between the time when you read your employer's Insurance Guide and this Document and the day when you become covered for any insurance.

Insurance for Death (including Terminal Illness) & TPD is designed to provide financial support for you and those close to you if you die, become Terminally Ill or satisfy the insurer's definition of Total and Permanent Disablement as defined in 'The insurer's definitions for cover' section. Cover for Death (and Terminal Illness) is available to eligible members up to age 69 and will cease (at the latest) at age 80. Cover for TPD is also available to eligible members up to age 69 and will cease (at the latest) at age 70.

Eligibility Conditions (for issue of cover)

Insurance cover is available to Eligible Persons. You are an Eligible Person if you are:

- an Australian Resident (as defined by the insurer, see page 54); or
- a holder of a Visa (as defined by the insurer, see page 58); and
- an employee, partner or contractor of a participating employer of legalsuper, or a judge; and
- aged 11 to 69 years of age; and
- not an Excluded Member (as defined by the insurer, see below).

Your eligibility for insurance cover under the policy will be checked at the time you lodge a claim.

Who is an Excluded Member?

An Excluded Member is any member who satisfies one or more of the following:

- (a) has declined, or elected to discontinue, insurance cover previously held through legalsuper, Law Industry Superannuation Scheme or Legal Industry Superannuation Trust since the member last joined or re-joined;
- (b) in respect of TPD cover, a member who at the time of joining legalsuper has received, or is eligible to receive, a lump sum TPD benefit or similar benefit from any source;

- (c) a member who has attained the Benefit Expiry Age (70 for TPD cover and 80 for Death cover) when they join or re-join legalsuper.

If you satisfy condition (a) you are not eligible for 'default' Death & TPD cover (as described below). You may still be eligible for cover, but you must apply in writing to the insurer and provide evidence of your health. The insurer will decide whether to accept or decline your application.

If you satisfy condition (b) then your default cover (if any) will be restricted to Death Only cover. However, you may still apply to the insurer for TPD cover. If you do not inform us that you have previously received a TPD benefit when your cover starts, then we'll deduct the usual weekly insurance fee for Death & TPD cover, but you will not be covered for TPD. In the event of an insurance claim you will only be covered for Death or Terminal Illness. Any overpaid insurance fees will be refunded.

What default cover is available?

Default cover is cover you may receive automatically (without the need to apply) when joining legalsuper. Default cover is provided in 'units' (Unitised Cover). The number of units received depends on your age at joining legalsuper, as shown in the following table:

Table 1: Default Cover Level for eligible members joining legalsuper

Age upon joining legalsuper as an Eligible Member	Default Cover Level
before your 25th birthday	2 units
on or after your 25th birthday	4 units

An automatic increase from 2 units to 4 units will occur on your 25th birthday unless, after joining legalsuper, you:

- cancel your Death & TPD cover (or Death Only cover if you were issued Death Only cover); or
- cancel your TPD cover; or
- reduced your cover to 1 unit; or
- increased your cover to 3 or more units by any application; or
- converted your cover from Unitised to Fixed Cover; or
- varied the amount of your cover under the terms of the policy.

The amount of cover provided by each unit depends on your age (and will therefore change as you get older). The amount of cover provided by each unit and the total dollar value of the default cover issued to eligible new members joining legalsuper are shown in the following table.

Table 2: Unitised cover scale

Age	1 Unit Death & TPD cover ($)	Default Cover Level 2 Units of Death & TPD cover ($)	Default Cover Level 4 Units of Death & TPD cover ($)
before 25th birthday	110,000	220,000	n/a
25 - 44	110,000	n/a	440,000
45 - 49	70,000	n/a	280,000
50 - 54	50,000	n/a	200,000
55 - 59	40,000	n/a	160,000
60 - 64	20,000	n/a	80,000
65 - 69	10,000	n/a	40,000
70 - 74*	$5,000 Death cover only	n/a	$20,000 Death cover only
75 - 79*	$2,500 Death cover only	n/a	$10,000 Death cover only

*TPD cover ceases on an insured member's 70th birthday.

Example 1

Ava is 23 years old when she joins legalsuper and satisfies eligibility requirements for insurance cover.

Ava has not been paid a TPD benefit and is not eligible to claim a TPD benefit from any super fund or under any insurance policy. Ava is issued default cover of 2 units of Death & TPD insurance at an insurance fee of $3.90 per week ($1.95 x 2).

If Ava dies or becomes totally and permanently disabled before her next birthday, and her insurance claim is accepted by the insurer, her benefit payment would be $220,000 ($110,000 x 2) plus the balance of her super account.

Example 2

Elliot is 30 years old when he joins legalsuper and satisfies eligibility requirements for insurance cover.

Elliot has not been paid a TPD benefit and is not eligible to claim a TPD benefit from any super fund or under any insurance policy. Elliot is issued default cover of 4 units of Death & TPD insurance at an insurance fee of $7.80 per week ($1.95 x 4).

If Elliot dies or becomes totally and permanently disabled before his next birthday, and his insurance claim is accepted by the insurer, his benefit payment would be $440,000 ($110,000 x 4) plus the balance of his super account.

IMPORTANT: As you get older the value of your Unitised Cover reduces automatically in line with the benefit scale shown in Table 2 above. It is important that you are aware of the changing level of your cover and whether it continues to meet your needs. You can monitor the changing level of your cover on your annual member statements, by checking your insurance details online or by calling us. If you want the peace of mind of knowing your cover will not reduce as you get older, you may consider applying to convert your Unitised Cover to Fixed Cover. Please refer to the 'Unitised Cover and Fixed Cover' section on pages 36 and 37.

As an Employer-sponsored member you will receive Standard Cover at the Default Cover Level (without having to provide evidence of health), provided you:

1. are an Eligible Person (see page 32); and
2. are At Work (as defined by the insurer) when you join legalsuper; and
3. have joined legalsuper within 180 days of commencing work with a legalsuper employer or appointment as a judge.

'At Work' has a special meaning. Please refer to the next page for further details. If you are not At Work when you joined legalsuper, or have joined outside of 180 days of commencing work with a legalsuper employer, you will still receive cover at the Default Cover Level, but your default cover will be Limited Cover instead of Standard Cover.

Special offer for new Employer-sponsored members only

New Employer-sponsored members may be able to apply for additional units of Death and/or Total and Permanent Disablement cover.

In addition, new Employer-sponsored members may be able to apply for Salary Continuance insurance of up to $6,000 per month.

As conditions apply, please refer to the Special offer to increase insurance form available on legalsuper's website for further details. Alternately, you can call legalsuper on 1800 060 312 (8am to 8pm [AEST] Monday to Friday) or email to mail@legalsuper.com.au.

What is Limited Cover?

Limited Cover means you will be insured for Death cover and New Events TPD Cover, where New Events TPD Cover means you are only insured for TPD caused by an illness which first became apparent to you or an injury that occurred on or after the date your cover started or restarted under the current policy.

What is Standard Cover?

Standard Cover is cover for any illness or injury you suffer where cover is not affected by the date the illness becomes apparent or the injury occurs to you.

When does default cover begin?

Default cover for Employer-sponsored members will begin from the later of:

- (a) the date of first commencing employment with a legalsuper employer as a partner, employee or Contractor or appointment as a Judge;
- (b) the date your employer becomes a legalsuper employer, if you become a legalsuper member as a result of your employer becoming a legalsuper employer;
- (c) the date of the start of the period to which the first Superannuation Guarantee Contribution relates where it is received on-time; and
- (d) where the first Superannuation Guarantee Contribution is not received on-time, 120 days before the first Super Guarantee contribution is received.

Default cover is issued only once to each member, irrespective of how many times they subsequently rejoin legalsuper. If default cover is issued in error, then in the event of a claim, you will not be covered and your insurance fees will be refunded.

Replacement of Limited Cover with Standard Cover

An Eligible Person who becomes a Member 181 or more days after the date he or she commenced employment with a legalsuper employer will be automatically accepted as an Insured Member for Limited Cover at the Default Cover Level. Limited Cover will be replaced with Standard Cover at the expiry of 12 calendar months from the date the Insured Member's cover commenced (the Expiry Date), provided the Insured Member is At Work on the Expiry Date or, if this is not a Normal Business Day in respect of that Insured Member, the next Normal Business Day after the Expiry Date. If the Insured Member is not At Work on the Expiry Date or, if the Expiry Date is not a Normal Business Day for that Insured Member, the Insured Member's Limited Cover will continue beyond the Expiry Date until such time as the Member is again At Work. At that time the Insured Member's Limited Cover will end and be replaced with Standard Cover.

An Eligible Person who becomes a Member within 180 days of the date he or she commenced employment with a legalsuper employer but is not At Work on the day he or she became a Member will be automatically accepted as an Insured Member for Limited Cover at the Default Cover Level. The Insured Member's Limited Cover will continue until the earliest occurrence of one of the following:

- (a) the date he or she returns to full-time work if he or she was engaged in full-time work when he or she was last At Work;

- (b) the date he or she returns to full-time or part-time work, if he or she was engaged in part-time work when he or she was last At Work; and

- (c) the date he or she returns to full-time, part-time work or Casual work, if he or she was engaged in Casual work when he or she was last At Work, provided that, in any case, as at the day the Insured Member is At Work, the Insured Member is performing, or capable of performing, all the duties he or she performed when last At Work without limitation or restriction due to injury or illness for no less than the same weekly hours as he or she was working on the day that he or she was last At Work. Upon Limited Cover ending, Standard Cover will apply.

What does being 'At Work' mean?

At Work means you (the eligible person or insured member) is actively performing (or capable of performing) all the duties of your usual occupation without restriction or limitation due to injury or illness, and are not in receipt of and/or entitled to claim income support benefits from any sources including workers' compensation benefits, statutory transport accident benefits or disability income benefits. An Insured Member who does not meet these requirements is correspondingly described as Not At Work.

Can I change the amount of my insurance cover?

Yes.

When you first join you may take up a special offer to increase the amount of your existing default Death & TPD cover (or default Death Only cover) up to the Automatic Acceptance Level (AAL) and/or apply for Salary Continuance cover of up to $6,000 per month. The AAL is the maximum amount of cover you can obtain without having to provide full evidence of your health. It depends on your age when you became an Eligible Person. If you were under age 45 then the AAL is 6 units and if you were age 45 or older, the AAL is 7 units. If you take up this offer within the required time frame (as described below) you will need to provide a lower level of health evidence than usually applies for applications for insurance cover. To apply you must complete to the satisfaction of the insurer and sign and date the Special offer to increase insurance form including all parts of the Screening Questions. Your application is subject to acceptance by the insurer.

To qualify for the special offer, you must meet the eligibility requirements to receive default Standard Cover and you must return the Special offer to increase insurance form within 60 days from the date of the Welcome Letter we issue you upon joining legalsuper.

If you are not eligible to apply for the special offer, or you want cover at a higher level than is available under the special offer, then you can select the type of insurance cover to hold (i.e. Death or Death and TPD and/or Salary Continuance cover) and the amount of cover you wish to apply for by completing the Superannuation change details form. Your application (including evidence of your health, occupation and pastimes) will be subject to acceptance by the insurer, who may offer cover with exclusions and/or increased insurance fees.

You can cancel or reduce the amount of your existing cover. Your cancellation must be in writing and you must specify the type of cover you are cancelling. If you cancel your cover and subsequently decide that you would like to reinstate your cover, you will need to apply for cover by providing medical and other evidence to the insurer. You will not be eligible for automatic cover and the insurer will decide whether to accept (on standard or non-standard terms) or decline your application.

Interim Cover (for Accidents)

If you have applied for cover (either to increase your default cover or because you are not eligible for default cover), while your application is being assessed, you may be eligible for Interim Cover. It provides a benefit if as a result of an Accident (as defined by the insurer) during the period in which Interim Cover applies, you die or suffer total and permanent disablement. If payable, the benefit will be the same level as the cover applied for, or in the case of increasing your cover, the difference between the requested total level of cover and the level of current cover, up to a maximum of $1 million.

Interim Cover starts when we receive your fully completed application and will continue until the earlier of:

- the date the insurer accepts, declines or defers your application;
- 90 days after the date Interim Cover starts;
- 21 days from the date of the Decision Note, in which the insurer offers non-standard terms (such as increased insurance fees or exclusions, which require your signed acceptance); or
- the date we receive your signed acceptance of the insurer's offer of non-standard terms (if earlier than 21 days from the date of the insurer's Decision Note); or
- the date you turn 70.

What is an Accident?

While Interim Cover applies (see above), you will only be covered for death (where you applied for or to increase your death cover) or TPD (where you applied for or to increase your TPD cover) that is caused by an Accident. An Accident means a fortuitous external event which was unexpected and unintended causing death or TPD. The insurer has determined that the following events are not accidents:

- (1) where one of the contributing causes of injury or death was any of the following conditions:
 - illness;
 - disease;
 - allergy; or
 - any gradual onset of a physical or mental infirmity.

- (2) the injury or death, which was unintended and unexpected, was the result of an intentional act or omission.

- (3) you were injured or died as a result of an activity in respect of which you assumed the risk or courted disaster, irrespective of whether you intended injury or death.

Where there is any doubt as to the cause of the death or TPD sustained as a result of an accident, the cause will be characterised as being the result of an illness.

What is the maximum cover I can have?

- Death – no maximum applies;
- TPD – up to a maximum $3 million; and
- Terminal Illness cover is limited to $2 million (provided Death cover of at least that amount is held).

Life Events Cover

Life Events Cover allows you to apply for an additional unit of cover (or 25% of your existing Fixed Cover, if you hold Fixed Cover, subject to a maximum increase of $200,000) without providing medical evidence if you experience a Life Event. To qualify for this increase in cover, you must complete to the satisfaction of the insurer and sign and date the Life Events Application form including all parts of each Screening Question. Your application is subject to acceptance by the insurer.

A Life Event includes: marriage; involvement in an interdependent relationship (for two years or more); birth or adoption of a child; your child starting secondary school; or if you take out a mortgage in excess of $100,000 on your principal place of residence or increase your mortgage on your principal place of residence by more than $100,000 (excludes redraw and refinancing).

You must apply to increase your existing Death cover or Death and TPD cover within 180 days of the occurrence of the Life Event and provide proof of the Life Event with your application. You may apply for an increase in cover for only one Life Event in any 12 month period, with a maximum of three Life Events during your membership in legalsuper.

Life Events Cover is not available if:

- you have made or are entitled to make a claim for TPD (in relation to this or any other life insurance policy); or
- you are age 55 or older; or
- you have had an application for insurance previously declined by the insurer; or
- you have increased your cover under this option in the previous 12 months; or
- you have previously increased your cover under this option for marriage, and you are applying again because of a subsequent marriage.

The insurer may accept or decline your application.

If your application is accepted, then the increase in cover will be on the same acceptance terms that apply to your existing cover. The start date of your increase in cover will be the date your application is accepted by the insurer and advised in writing to you.

The Life Events Application form is available at legalsuper.com.au

Can I transfer my life insurance cover into legalsuper?

If you have insurance cover through another superannuation fund (but not from a self-managed super fund) or under another individual insurance policy you may be able to transfer up to $1 million of Death Only or Death and TPD insurance cover (Previous Cover) into legalsuper subject to all of the following:

- your Previous Cover must be current at the time of application. You will need to provide documentary evidence (of the existence and details of your Previous Cover, including any restrictions or exclusions or increased premiums), which must not be dated more than 60 days earlier than the date the insurer receives your application;
- the sum of your existing TPD or Terminal Illness cover and any transferred TPD or Terminal Illness cover does not exceed the maximum TPD or Terminal Illness cover, as described above;
- any loadings, restrictions and exclusions which apply to your Previous Cover will also apply to your cover in legalsuper; and
- you must cancel the Previous Cover once you receive written notification of your acceptance by legalsuper. If your Previous Cover is not validly cancelled, then if the insurer accepts a claim made by you, any benefit payable under the legalsuper policy will be reduced by the benefit payable under the Previous Cover to the extent it should have been cancelled but was not.

Applications require your completion to the satisfaction of the insurer and signing and dating the Insurance roll-in form including all parts of each Screening Question. Your application is subject to acceptance by the insurer.

If your application is accepted, you will be notified in writing of the date on which your transferred cover starts.

To apply to transfer your existing cover to legalsuper, please complete the Insurance roll-in form available at legalsuper.com.au

Unitised Cover and Fixed Cover

Employer-sponsored members can hold Death Only cover or Death and TPD cover, which can be either Unitised Cover or Fixed Cover. Members cannot hold a combination of Unitised Cover and Fixed Cover.

What is Unitised Cover?

Unitised Cover provides insurance in 'units' where the value of each unit is determined by your age. The amount of cover provided by each unit based on your age is set out on page 33.

Unitised Cover is available for a fixed insurance fee. As you get older, the amount of cover per unit reduces but the weekly insurance fee you pay remains the same. Default Cover (explained on page 32) is provided as Unitised Cover. The weekly insurance fee per unit of cover is:

$1.37 – Death Only cover only (including Terminal Illness);

$1.95 – Death (including Terminal Illness) & TPD cover.

The insurance fee will be deducted from your account on a monthly basis in arrears.

What is Fixed Cover?

Fixed Cover means the amount of cover you choose is fixed and does not change as you get older. However the insurance fee you pay will be subject to increases on certain birthdays (and annual increases from your 60th birthday).

The insurance fee for Fixed Cover also depends on your gender and the amount of cover obtained, as shown in Table 3 below. The insurance fee will be deducted from your account on a monthly basis in arrears.

These rates are not guaranteed and may increase with 30 days' written notice from the Trustee.

Example

Colin is 43 years old and has applied for $400,000 worth of Fixed Cover Death & TPD insurance. The insurance fee for his first year of cover is calculated as follows:

Insurance fee for male age 43 x ($ cover/$10,000)
 = $14.64 x ($400,000/$10,000)
 = $14.64 x 40
 = $585.60 per year

If Colin dies or becomes Totally and Permanently Disabled and his insurance claim is accepted by the insurer, his benefit payment would be $400,000 plus the balance of his super account.

Converting your Unitised Cover to Fixed Cover

You have the option to replace your Unitised Cover with Fixed Cover at any time. Where an application is made and accepted by the insurer, you will have your Unitised Cover converted to an equivalent amount of Fixed Cover.

You cannot have a combination of Unitised Cover and Fixed Cover. You can however apply to convert all of your Unitised Cover to Fixed Cover and should your circumstances change, you can apply to change back to Unitised Cover.

Applications to convert the type of cover you hold require your completion to the satisfaction of the insurer and signing and dating the Application to convert between unitised and fixed cover form including all parts of each Screening Question. Your application is subject to acceptance by the insurer. The Application to convert between unitised and fixed cover form is available at legalsuper.com.au

What benefits are payable?

Death benefits

In the event of your death, your spouse or another family member, your employer or legal personal representative must notify legalsuper and provide to legalsuper an acceptable form of proof of death. legalsuper will lodge the claim with the insurer on their behalf for any insured death benefits.

Subject to the claim being approved by the insurer, the Trustee will add the proceeds of the insurance claim to your account balance and pay the combined amount as a death benefit.

See pages 65 and 66 for more details on Death benefit nominations.

Terminal Illness benefit

If you are covered for Death Only cover or Death & TPD cover, you are automatically covered for Terminal Illness, which is an advance payment of the insured death benefit. An insured Terminal Illness benefit will be paid if you become Terminally Ill[†], as defined in the insurer's policy provided your Death insurance cover is current.

IMPORTANT: The value of your insured Terminal Illness benefit is calculated at the Incurred Date. The definition of Incurred Date is different for Death cover, TPD cover and Terminal Illness cover. As the value of Unitised Cover reduces as you get older, the value of your Death, TPD or Terminal Illness insurance cover on the Incurred Date may be less than the value shown on your member statement or quoted online or by our staff if you have a birthday between the date of the statement or quotation and your Incurred Date. Please refer to 'The insurer's definition of cover' section.

The Terminal Illness benefit will be equal to the lower of the insured Death benefit as at the Incurred Date or $2,000,000. If the amount of your Death cover is greater than $2,000,000, your remaining Death cover will be reduced by the amount of the insured Terminal Illness benefit paid to you. The remaining amount of your Death cover will be paid upon your death (provided you are aged less than the Benefit Expiry Age of 80, insurance policy remains in force, insurance fees have continued to be paid). If the amount of your Death cover is less than $2,000,000, your Death cover will cease upon payment of the insured Terminal Illness benefit by the insurer.

* Please note that the definition of Terminally Ill to satisfy a condition of release of uninsured benefits (i.e. your account balance) is different. Please refer to page 57.

TPD benefit

If you have Death & TPD cover, an insured benefit will become payable to you upon you becoming totally and permanently disabled (as this is defined in the insurer's policy).

To receive a TPD benefit, you have to meet the conditions of the relevant part of the TPD definition that applies. In reviewing the below, it is important to remember that capitalised terms have special meanings. Please refer to 'The insurer's definitions for cover' section.

TPD Definition 1 applies to an Insured Member who: is aged less than 65 years at the Event Date; and is:

- Gainfully Working on the day immediately prior to the Event Date; and
- Gainfully Employed for at least the Minimum Average Hours.

TPD Definition 2 applies to an Insured Member who:

- is aged either 65, 66, 67, 68 or 69 years of age at the Event Date; or
- is aged less than 65 years at the Event Date and is:
 - not Gainfully Working on the day immediately prior to the Event Date; or
 - not Gainfully Employed for at least the Minimum Average Hours.

Please refer to 'The insurer's definition of cover' section for TPD Definition 1 and TPD Definition 2 as well as definitions of Event Date, Gainfully Working, Gainfully Employed and Minimum Average Hours.

IMPORTANT: For members who have continuously held TPD insurance cover which commenced prior to 1 July 2014, a different insurance definition of TPD applies to any current cover or an increase in Death and TPD cover that is accepted by the insurer. Contact legalsuper on 1800 060 312 (8am to 8pm [AEST] Monday to Friday) for more information.

How do I claim a TPD benefit?

To lodge a claim for a TPD benefit, contact us and we will send you the relevant claim forms. You should note that the act of us sending your claim forms does not constitute an admission of liability by the insurer in respect of any claim lodged.

On receipt of completed claim forms and medical reports on your condition, your claim will be assessed by the insurer to check:

- you met the insurer's eligibility conditions for cover; and
- you complied with your Duty of Disclosure (this includes your responses to any Screening Questions for special offers, to transfer in cover from another policy, to convert between Fixed and Unitised Cover or apply for Life Events Cover); and
- you satisfy the relevant definition of TPD of the insurance policy that applied on your Incurred Date.

As sound medical evidence is vital to a proper and fair assessment, it may be necessary for you to undergo further medical examinations as part of the assessment of your claim. Depending on the nature and complexity of your claim and the medical evidence available, there may be a lengthy period of assessment before a decision can be made by the insurer.

You will need to provide proof to the insurer that you have continuously been 'Following the Advice of a Medical Practitioner and a Specialist Medical Practitioner' in relation to the injury or illness for which you are claiming. Please refer to 'The insurer's definition of cover' section for the definition of 'Following the Advice of a Medical Practitioner and a Specialist Medical Practitioner'.

Where a member has taken out insurance cover for TPD and a claim for payment of a TPD benefit is not accepted by the insurer, no insured benefit will be payable.

The Trustee will only pay you the amount of any insured benefit that it recovers from the insurer.

However, where no insured benefit is payable or where the member does not have TPD insurance cover, they may still be entitled to a Permanent Incapacity benefit equal to the net balance of the member's account in accordance with legalsuper's Trust Deed.

Are there any exclusions?

Yes, as listed below:

- The insurer may charge increased insurance fees or exclude any benefit payment if the event giving rise to your death, Terminal Illness or TPD claim is caused directly or indirectly from War;
- A benefit will not be paid to you if your condition is caused by a specific exclusion advised to you in any offer of insurance; and
- A TPD benefit will not be paid to you if the injury or illness which results in your Total and Permanent Disablement is a result of your intentional act or omission.

Can the insurer reduce or refuse to pay a benefit?

Yes, if:

- the insurance fee is not paid; or
- you did not comply with your Duty of Disclosure including when responding to Screening Questions (this will only apply to the cover or portion of cover which you obtained by the application in which you did not comply with your Duty of Disclosure); or
- you did not meet the insurer's eligibility conditions to obtain cover; or
- the insurer's claim requirements have not been complied with; or
- there has been a failure to provide notice of the disability at the start of the disability, to the extent that the insurer's assessment or management of the claim is prejudiced.

Am I covered when overseas?

The cover provided includes cover whilst you are overseas provided you are an Australian Resident. If you are not an Australian Resident you are only covered for overseas trips of 3 months or less. Any Insured Member claiming a Terminal Illness benefit or a TPD benefit whilst overseas may be required to return to Australia at their own expense for claim assessment and/or provide supporting medical evidence to our insurer's satisfaction to enable the insurer to assess their eligibility for payment. If the Insured Member refuses to do so, the insurer may refuse to pay the claim. Please refer to 'The insurer's definition of cover' section for the definition of 'Australian Resident'.

Am I covered if I am on leave?

Yes. Provided insurance fees continue to be paid your cover will continue during periods of paid or unpaid leave. However, different TPD definitions may apply if you suffer TPD while on leave that is not Employer Approved Leave.

When does cover end?

Cover will end without the need for us to notify you, on the earliest of the following:

- the date the policy ends or the insurer notifies the Trustee that it has ceased to provide cover;
- the date you commence active duty with the armed forces of any country (except where you are a member of the Australian Defence Force Reserves, in which case, cover will cease only when you become the subject of a call out order under the Defence Act 1903 (Cth));
- the date you cease to be a member of legalsuper;
- if you are not an Australian Resident, the date you are no longer permanently in Australia or are not eligible to work in Australia;
- the date legalsuper receives your written request for cover to end (unless such request specifies a later date, in which case, the date specified in the request);
- the date you reach the Benefit Expiry Age;
- the date you die;
- the date an insured TPD benefit which is equal to your insured Death benefit is paid or payable in respect of you;
- the last Friday of the month in which your account has insufficient funds to enable us to deduct all or part of the insurance fee due in respect of you*; or
- the date you are paid an insured Terminal Illness benefit which is equal to the amount of the insured Death Benefit.

* If your balance is about to become insufficient to pay the insurance fees, we will contact you to provide you with an opportunity to make contributions in order for your cover to continue. If your balance is insufficient to pay insurance fees your insurance cover will lapse. As we will use your contact details that we hold on record, it is important that you keep your contact details up to date.

Death & TPD cover

Insurance for Death (including Terminal Illness) & TPD is designed to provide financial support for you and for those close to you if you die, become Terminally Ill or satisfy the insurer's definition of Total and Permanent Disablement as defined in 'The insurer's definition of cover' section. Cover for Death (and Terminal Illness) is available to eligible members up to age 69 and will cease (at the latest) at age 80. Cover for TPD is also available to eligible members up to age 69 and will cease (at the latest) at age 70.

Eligibility Conditions (for issue of cover)

Insurance cover is available to Eligible Persons. You are an Eligible Person if you are:

- an Australian Resident (as defined by the insurer, see page 54); or
- a holder of a Visa (as defined by the insurer, see page 58); and
- aged 11 to 69 years of age; and
- have not joined the Employer-sponsored Division of legalsuper, as you are either self-employed or substantially self-employed; and
- not an Excluded Member (as defined by the insurer, see below).

Your eligibility for insurance cover under the policy will be checked at the time you lodge a claim.

Who is an Excluded Member?

An Excluded Member is any member who satisfies one or more of the following:

- (a) has declined, or elected to discontinue, insurance cover previously held through legalsuper, Law Industry Superannuation Scheme or Legal Industry Superannuation Trust since the member last joined or re-joined;
- (b) in respect of TPD cover, a member who at the time of joining legalsuper has received, or is eligible to receive, a lump sum TPD benefit or similar benefit from any source;
- (c) a member who has attained the Benefit Expiry Age (70 for TPD cover and 80 for Death cover) when they join or re-join legalsuper; or
- (d) a person whose occupation excludes them from receiving insurance. Further information can be obtained about which occupations are considered as excluded by contacting legalsuper on 1800 060 312 (8am to 8pm [AEST] Monday to Friday).

If you satisfy condition (a) or (b) you are not eligible for any 'default' cover (as described below). You may still be eligible for voluntary cover, but you must apply in writing to the insurer and provide evidence of your health. The insurer will decide whether to accept or decline your application or to issue it subject to increased insurance fees or an exclusion.

If you do not inform us that you have previously received a TPD benefit then we'll deduct the usual weekly insurance fee, but you will not be covered for Death or TPD. Any overpaid insurance fees will be refunded.

What default cover is available?

Default cover is cover that is issued automatically, without any action required by the member. Health evidence is not required for default cover. However, eligibility conditions apply and are tested at the time a claim is lodged.

Personal members will receive default cover of a fixed amount of $250,000 of Death (including Terminal Illness) and TPD insurance cover. However members are not covered for death, Terminal Illness or TPD if it was caused directly or indirectly, wholly or partially, by a Pre-Existing Condition. Members may apply to the insurer to remove this restriction but will need to provide evidence of their health. The insurer will advise if their application is successful, and if so, the date of the removal of the restriction on Pre-Existing Conditions.

Spouse members do not receive any default cover. If they want fixed Death cover they need to apply to the insurer and complete a detailed Personal Health Statement, which is available from our website. Cover will be provided subject to underwriting and acceptance by the insurer. Spouse members are not eligible to apply for TPD insurance.

Members may cancel or reduce their default cover at any time. See Can I change my insurance cover (below) for further details.

What is a Pre-Existing Condition?

A Pre-Existing Condition means an injury that you suffered or an illness which first became apparent to you on or before the date your cover started or restarted under the current policy.

What is Fixed Cover?

Having Fixed Cover means your amount of cover is fixed and does not change as you get older. However, the insurance fee you pay will increase as you get older. For more information on insurance fees for Fixed Cover, please see pages 36 – 37.

When does cover begin?

Default cover for eligible Personal members will commence on the later of:

- the day they join legalsuper; and
- the date a contribution is made into their account which is sufficient to cover insurance premiums.

Cover for Spouse members will commence when their application for cover is approved (in writing) by the insurer, provided there are contributions in their account which are sufficient to cover insurance fees.

Can I change my insurance cover?

Personal members can complete and submit the Superannuation change details form to:

- apply to increase their Death & TPD cover (or Death Only cover) beyond the default cover*;
- apply for Salary Continuance cover*;
- cancel or reduce the amount of their existing cover. Your cancellation must be in writing. If you cancel your cover and subsequently decide that you would like to reinstate your cover, you will need to apply for cover by providing health and other evidence. Any cover will be subject to the insurer's approval and you will not be eligible for default cover again.

* Applications (including evidence of your health and pastimes) will be subject to acceptance by the insurer and may be subject to increased insurance fees or exclusions.

Eligible Spouse members can:

- apply for Death cover by completing the Superannuation change details form and a Personal Health Statement. Spouse members are not eligible to apply for TPD insurance; or
- cancel or reduce the amount of any existing cover. Your cancellation must be in writing. If you cancel your cover and subsequently decide that you would like to reinstate your cover, you will need to apply for cover by providing medical and other evidence to the insurer. You will not be eligible for automatic cover and the insurer will decide whether to accept (on standard or non-standard terms) or decline your application.

Interim Cover (for Accidents)

If you have applied for cover (either to increase your default cover or because you are not eligible for default cover), you may be eligible for Interim Cover, while your application is assessed. Interim Cover provides a benefit if as a result of an Accident (as defined by the insurer) during the period in which Interim Cover applies, you die or suffer TPD. If payable, the benefit will be the same level as the cover applied for, or in the case of increasing your cover, the difference between the requested total level of cover and the level of current cover, in either case, up to a maximum of $1 million.

Interim Cover starts when we receive your fully completed application and will continue until the earlier of:

- the date the insurer accepts, declines or defers your application;
- 90 days after the date Interim Cover starts;
- 21 days from the date of the Decision Note, in which the insurer offers non-standard terms (such as increased insurance fees or exclusions, which require your signed acceptance);
- the date we receive your signed acceptance of the insurer's offer of non-standard terms (if earlier than 21 days from the date of the insurer's Decision Note); or
- the date you turn 70.

What is an Accident?

While Interim Cover applies, you will only be covered for death or TPD that is caused by an Accident. An Accident means a fortuitous external event which was unexpected and unintended causing death or TPD. The insurer has determined that the following events are not accidents:

- (1) where one of the contributing causes of injury or death was any of the following conditions:
 - illness;
 - disease;
 - allergy;
 - any gradual onset of a physical or mental infirmity.
- (2) the injury or death, which was unintended and unexpected, was the result of an intentional act or omission.
- (3) you were injured or died as a result of an activity in respect of which you assumed the risk or courted disaster, irrespective of whether you intended injury or death.

Where there is any doubt as to the cause of the death or TPD sustained as a result of an accident, the cause will be characterised as being the result of an illness.

What is the maximum cover I can have?

Death – no maximum applies

TPD – up to $3 million

Terminal Illness cover is limited to $2 million (provided Death cover of at least that amount is held).

Can I transfer my life insurance cover into legalsuper?

Spouse members are not eligible to transfer cover into legalsuper.

For Personal members who have insurance cover through another superannuation fund (but not from a self managed super fund) or under another individual insurance policy (but not from a self managed super fund) you may be able to transfer up to $1 million of Death Only or Death and TPD insurance cover (Previous Cover) into legalsuper subject to all of the following:

- your Previous Cover must be current at the time of application. You will need to provide documentary evidence (of the existence and details of your Previous Cover, including any restrictions or exclusions or increased premiums), which must not be dated more than 60 days earlier than the date the insurer receives your application;
- any loadings, restrictions and exclusions which apply to your Previous Cover will also apply to your cover in legalsuper;
- the sum of your existing TPD or Terminal Illness cover and any transferred TPD or Terminal Illness cover does not exceed the maximum TPD or Terminal Illness cover; and

- you must cancel the Previous Cover once you receive written notification of your acceptance by legalsuper. If your Previous Cover is not validly cancelled, then if the insurer accepts a claim any benefit payable under the legalsuper policy will be reduced by the benefit payable under the Previous Cover to the extent it should have been cancelled but was not.

Applications require provision of responses to the satisfaction of the insurer to some Screening Questions about your health, and are subject to acceptance by the insurer.

If your application is accepted, you will be notified in writing of the date on which your transferred cover starts.

To apply to transfer your existing cover to legalsuper, please complete the Insurance roll-in form available at legalsuper.com.au or call us on 1800 060 312 (8am to 8pm [AEST] Monday to Friday) and we'll send it to you.

The insurance fee for cover depends on your age, gender and the amount of cover obtained, as shown in Table 1 below.

Example

Colin is a Personal member aged 43 and has applied for $400,000 worth of Fixed Cover Death & TPD insurance. The insurance fee for his first year of cover is calculated as follows:

Insurance fee for male age 43 x ($ cover/$10,000)
 = $14.64 x ($400,000/$10,000)
 = $14.64 x 40
 = $585.60 per year

If Colin dies or becomes Totally and Permanently Disabled and his insurance claim is accepted by the insurer, his benefit payment would be $400,000 plus the balance of his super account.

What benefits are payable?

Death benefits

In the event of your death, your spouse or another family member or legal personal representative must notify legalsuper. legalsuper will lodge the claim with the insurer on their behalf for any insured death benefit.

Subject to the claim being approved by the insurer, the Trustee will add the money paid by the insurer to your account balance and pay the combined amount as a death benefit.

See pages 65 – 66 for more details on Death benefit nominations.

Terminal Illness benefit

If you are covered for Death Only cover or Death & TPD cover, you are automatically covered for Terminal Illness, which is an advance payment of the insured death benefit. An insured Terminal Illness benefit will be paid if you become Terminally Ill*, as defined in the insurer's policy provided your Death insurance cover is current.

Please refer to 'The insurer's definitions for cover' section.

IMPORTANT: The value of your insured Terminal Illness benefit is calculated at the Incurred Date. The definition of Incurred Date is different for Death cover, TPD cover and Terminal Illness cover.

The Terminal Illness benefit will be equal to the lower of the insured Death benefit as at the Incurred Date or $2,000,000. If the amount of your Death cover is greater than $2,000,000, your remaining Death cover will be reduced by the amount of the insured Terminal Illness benefit paid to you. The reduced amount of your Death cover will be paid upon your death (provided you die before the Benefit Expiry Age of 80, the insurance policy remains in force, and insurance fees have continued to be paid). If the amount of your Death cover is less than $2,000,000, your Death cover will cease upon payment of the insured Terminal Illness benefit by the insurer.

* Please note that the definition of Terminally Ill to satisfy a condition of release of uninsured benefits (i.e. your account balance) is different. Please refer to page 57.

TPD benefit

For Personal members, if you have Death & TPD cover, an insured benefit will become payable to you upon you becoming totally and permanently disabled (as this term is defined in the insurer's policy).

To receive a TPD benefit, you have to meet the conditions of the relevant part of the TPD definition that applies.

When reading the below, it is important to remember that capitalised terms have special meanings. Please refer to 'The insurer's definitions for cover' section.

TPD Definition 1 applies to an Insured Member who: is aged less than 65 years at the Event Date; and is:

- Gainfully Working on the day immediately prior to the Event Date; and
- Gainfully Employed for at least the Minimum Average Hours.

TPD Definition 2 applies to an Insured Member who:

- is aged either 65, 66, 67, 68 or 69 years of age at the Event Date; or
- is aged less than 65 years at the Event Date and is:
 - not Gainfully Working on the day immediately prior to the Event Date; or
 - not Gainfully Employed for at least the Minimum Average Hours.

Please refer to 'The insurer's definitions for cover' section for TPD Definition 1 and TPD Definition 2 as well as definitions of Event Date, Gainfully Working, Gainfully Employed and Minimum Average Hours.

IMPORTANT: For members who have continuously held TPD insurance cover which commenced prior to 1 July 2014, a different insurance definition of TPD applies to any current cover or an increase in Death and TPD cover that is accepted by the insurer. Please contact legalsuper on 1800 060 312 (8am to 8pm [AEST] Monday to Friday) for more information.

How do I claim a TPD benefit?

Personal members who wish to lodge a claim for a TPD benefit must contact us and we will send you the relevant claim forms. You should note that the act of us sending you claim forms does not constitute an admission of liability by the insurer in respect of any claim lodged.

On receipt of completed claim forms and medical reports on your condition, your claim will be assessed by the insurer to check:

- you met the insurer's eligibility conditions for cover; and
- you complied with your Duty of Disclosure (this includes your responses to any Screening Questions to transfer in cover from another policy); and
- you satisfy the relevant definition of TPD of the insurance policy that applied on your Incurred Date.

As sound medical evidence is vital to a proper and fair assessment, it may be necessary to undergo more than one medical examination while your claim is being assessed. Depending on the nature of your claim and the medical evidence provided, there may be a lengthy period of assessment before a decision can be made.

You will need to provide proof to the insurer that you have continuously been 'Following the Advice of a Medical Practitioner and a Specialist Medical Practitioner' in relation to the injury or illness for which you are claiming. Please refer to 'The insurer's definitions for cover' section for the definition of 'Following the Advice of a Medical Practitioner and a Specialist Medical Practitioner'.

Where a member has taken out insurance cover for TPD and a claim for payment of a TPD benefit is not accepted by the insurer, no insured benefit will be payable. The Trustee will only pay you the amount of any insured benefit that it recovers from the insurer.

However, where no insured benefit is payable or where the member does not have TPD insurance cover, they may still be entitled to a Permanent Incapacity benefit equal to the net balance of the member's account in accordance with legalsuper's Trust Deed.

Are there any exclusions?

Yes, as listed below:

- The insurer may charge increased insurance fees or exclude any benefit payment if the event giving rise to the claim is caused directly or indirectly from War.
- For Personal members with default Fixed Cover of $250,000, where the claim is caused wholly or partially, directly or indirectly, by a Pre-Existing Condition, then no benefit will be payable.
- A benefit will not be paid to you if your condition is caused by a specific exclusion advised to you in any Decision Note issued by the insurer to you at the time of accepting your application for cover.
- A TPD benefit will not be paid to you if the injury or illness which results in your Total and Permanent Disablement is a result of your intentional act or omission.

Can the Insurer reduce or refuse to pay a benefit?

Yes, if:

- the insurance fee is not paid; or
- you did not comply with your Duty of Disclosure, including your responses to Screening Questions (this will only apply to the cover or portion of cover which you obtained by the application in which you did not comply with your Duty of Disclosure); or
- you did not meet the insurer's eligibility conditions to obtain any part of your cover; or
- the insurer's claim requirements have not been complied with; or
- there has been a failure to provide notice of the disability at the start of the disability, to the extent that the insurer's assessment or management of the claim is prejudiced.

Am I covered when overseas?

The cover provided includes cover whilst you are overseas provided you are an Australian Resident. If you are not an Australian Resident you are only covered for overseas trips of 3 months or less. Any Insured Member claiming a Terminal Illness benefit or a TPD benefit whilst overseas may be required to return to Australia at their own expense for claim assessment and/or provide supporting medical evidence to our insurer's satisfaction to enable the insurer to assess their eligibility for payment. If the Insured Member refuses to do so, the insurer may refuse to pay the claim. Please refer to 'The insurer's definitions for cover' section for the definition of 'Australian Resident'.

Am I covered if I am on leave?

Yes. Provided insurance fees continue to be paid your cover will continue during periods of paid or unpaid leave. However, different TPD definitions may apply if you suffer TPD while on leave that is not Employer Approved Leave.

When does cover end?

Cover will end without the need for us to notify you, on the earliest of the following:

1. the date the policy ends or the insurer notifies the Trustee that it has ceased to provide cover;
2. the date you commence active duty with the armed forces of any country (except where you are a member of the Australian Defence Force Reserves, in which case, cover will cease only when the Reservist becomes the subject of a call out order under the Defence Act 1903 (Cth));
3. the date you cease to be a member of legalsuper;
4. if you are not an Australian Resident, the date you no longer permanently live in Australia or are not eligible to work in Australia;
5. the date legalsuper receives your written request for cover to end (unless such request specifies a later date, in which case, the date specified in the request);
6. the date you reach the Benefit Expiry Age;
7. the date you die;
8. the date an insured TPD benefit which is equal to your insured Death benefit is paid or payable in respect of you;
9. the last Friday of the month in which your account has insufficient funds to enable us to deduct all or part of the insurance fee due in respect of you*;
10. the date you are paid an insured Terminal Illness benefit which is equal to the amount of the insured Death Benefit.

* If your balance is about to become insufficient to pay the insurance fees, we will contact you to provide you with an opportunity to make contributions in order for your cover to continue. If your balance is insufficient to pay insurance fees your insurance cover will lapse. As we will use your contact details that we hold on record, it is important that you keep your contact details up to date.

Salary Continuance insurance

Spouse members are not eligible for Salary Continuance insurance.

Insurance for Salary Continuance is designed to provide a monthly income if you are unable to work due to a qualifying injury or illness. To qualify for payment of a benefit, you will need to be Totally Disabled (TD) or Partially Disabled (PD) as defined by the insurer, please refer to 'The insurer's definitions for cover' section.

You can apply for cover of up to 85% of your monthly Salary. Salary is as defined on page 56. In the event of a successful claim and after the expiry of your chosen Waiting Period, 75% of your monthly Pre-Disability Salary is paid by the insurer to you and 10% of your monthly Pre-Disability Salary is paid by the insurer into your superannuation account with us.

If you have been Totally Disabled and then you subsequently are only Partially Disabled (because you can return to work but not at your usual capacity), a lower benefit (a Partial Disability benefit) may be payable.

If you are Totally Disabled for longer than the Waiting Period, you may also be Totally and Permanently Disabled. If so, a TPD benefit may also be paid to you. Please refer to pages 31 to 58 for more information on TPD insurance cover.

Please note that all benefits are paid monthly in arrears. This means that the first payment will not be paid before 30 days after the expiry of the Waiting Period.

Eligibility Conditions

Eligible Persons may apply for Salary Continuance cover. To be an Eligible Person, you must:

When your cover starts

Salary Continuance cover is not automatically provided to members. You must complete and submit an application to the insurer. Salary Continuance cover will only be provided if the insurer accepts your application.

The cover commences from the date of acceptance by the insurer and payment of the insurance fee. You will be notified in writing of the insurer's decision.

How to apply for cover

You may apply for cover by completing a Superannuation change details form, together with a Personal Health Statement, which contains questions about your health. If you are applying for monthly benefits less than $10,000 then you will need to complete and return a Short Personal Health Statement. If you are applying for monthly benefits of at least $10,000 then you will need to complete and return a Full Personal Health Statement and provide other medical evidence, as requested by the insurer.

You may also apply online using MemberAccess and simply follow the prompts.

Interim Cover (for Accidents)

While the insurer is considering your application, you will receive Interim Cover. If you are eligible, Interim Cover starts from the date an application for cover is received by the insurer. A fully completed paper application must be received within 30 days from the date the application is signed.

Where Interim Cover applies, the insurer will cover you for TD that is caused by an Accident, up to a maximum monthly benefit, of the lesser of:

- $5,000 per month (if your application is later accepted and a higher monthly benefit becomes payable for the same period, this amount will be deducted from that benefit payment);
- the benefit amount applied for; and
- the difference between the benefit amount applied for and any existing insurance with the insurer which is to be replaced.

Interim Cover starts when we receive your fully completed application and will continue until the earlier of:

- the date the insurer accepts, declines or defers your application;
- 90 days after the date Interim Cover starts;
- 21 days from the date of the Decision Note, in which the insurer offers non-standard terms (such as increased insurance fees or exclusions, which require your signed acceptance); or
- the date we receive your signed acceptance of the insurer's offer of non-standard terms (if earlier than 21 days from the date of the insurer's Decision Note); or
- the date you turn 65.

The Interim Cover benefit will be paid from the end of the Waiting Period applied for, for the lesser of the period of TD (caused by an Accident) and six months. Other conditions apply.

What is an Accident?

While Interim Cover applies, you will only be covered for Disability that is caused by an Accident. An Accident means a fortuitous external event which was unexpected and unintended causing Disability: either TD or PD. The insurer has determined that the following events are not Accidents:

- (1) where one of the contributing causes or Disability was any of the following conditions:
 - illness;
 - disease;
 - allergy; or
 - any gradual onset of a physical or mental infirmity.
- (2) the Disability, which was unintended and unexpected, was the result of an intentional act or omission; or
- (3) you were injured or died as a result of an activity in respect of which you assumed the risk or courted disaster, irrespective of whether you intended injury or death.

Where there is any doubt as to the cause of the Disability sustained as a result of an accident, the cause will be characterised as being the result of an illness.

Your choice of Waiting Periods

A Waiting Period is the number of consecutive days you must be Totally Disabled or Partially Disabled before any Salary Continuance benefit is payable. The Waiting Period commences on the day a medical practitioner examines you and certifies that you are Totally Disabled, provided this date is after the date your cover under the policy starts.

legalsuper offers members a choice of three Waiting Periods: 30, 60 or 90 days. No benefits are payable during the Waiting Period. The Waiting Period that applies is the Waiting Period that you have been accepted for. During the Waiting Period, you can return to work for up to five days without having to start a new Waiting Period. If this occurs, the days worked will be added to your Waiting Period.

If you return to work during the Waiting Period for more than five days, your Waiting Period will restart from the date you stop working again.

Benefit Period

In your application for cover, you will need to select the Benefit Period that applies to your cover.

The Benefit Period is the length of time that you may continue to receive a benefit payment if you are unable to work due to illness or injury, and you satisfy the insurer's definition of Totally Disabled or Partially Disabled.

Your Benefit Period will be determined by the choice you made in your last application for Salary Continuance insurance which was approved by the insurer.

Members can choose either the standard Benefit Period or from two optional Benefit Periods.

1. Standard Benefit Period

The standard Benefit Period is a maximum of two years. Benefit payments will not be made beyond age 65. Insurance fees are set out in Table 3 on page 47.

2. Optional Benefit Periods

The optional Benefit Periods have higher insurance fees. Members can choose from the following options:

- Monthly benefits payable to age 60. Insurance fees are set out in Table 4 on page 48.
- Monthly benefits payable to age 65. Insurance fees are set out in Table 5 on page 49.

If your Benefit Period is to age 60 or to age 65, the amount of your monthly benefit will be adjusted according to an escalation factor. Twelve months after a Total or Partial Disability benefit has been continuously paid, your monthly benefit will be increased by the lesser of the annual CPI increase and 5%.

Your monthly benefit will not decrease if the percentage change in CPI is negative.

The insurance fee

Salary Continuance insurance is issued in units of cover. If payable, each unit of cover provides a benefit of $100 per month, including any Superannuation Contribution Benefit. Any calculation of units will be rounded up.

Insurance fees will be deducted from your account on a monthly basis in arrears. The insurance fee is determined by your gender, age and your choice of Waiting Period and Benefit Period.

Insurance fees for standard Benefit Period

The following table shows the annual insurance fee payable per unit of $100 monthly benefit payable for up to two years.

Table 3: Salary Continuance insurance – annual insurance fee per unit*: standard Benefit Period

* Each unit of cover provides a monthly benefit of $100, or $1200 per annum. This includes the Superannuation Contribution Benefit. The above rates include nominal stamp duty. Actual stamp duty is payable based on the Insured Member's state of residence.

Example

Michael is 34 years old and earns a Salary (please see 'The insurer's definitions for cover' section for the insurer's definition) of $120,000 per year.

He has chosen a 30-day Waiting Period, and a standard two-year Benefit Period, and has elected to insure 85% of his Salary, which includes a 10% Superannuation Contribution Benefit.

His monthly Salary Continuance cover (including a 10% Superannuation Contribution Benefit) is:

$$\frac{$120,000 \times 85\%}{12 \text{ months}} = $8,500 \text{ per month}$$

The number of units of cover held is calculated as:

$$\frac{$8,500}{$100} = 85$$

In the event of a claim approved by the insurer, a disability income benefit of 75 units of $100 each would be payable, together with a Superannuation Contribution Benefit of 10 units of $100 each.

The insurance fee for this cover is calculated as:

$$85 \text{ units} \times $3.40 \text{ (insurance fee for males who have chosen a 30 day Waiting Period and whose age falls in the 30 to 34 year old age band)} = $289.00 \text{ per year.}$$

Insurance fees for optional Benefit Period to age 60

The following table shows the annual insurance fee payable per unit of $100 monthly benefit, paid to age 60. The escalation factor is the lesser of 5% or CPI.

Table 4: Salary Continuance insurance – annual insurance fee per unit*: optional Benefit Period to age 60

* The above rates include nominal stamp duty. Actual stamp duty is payable based on the Insured Member's state of domicile. Each unit of cover provides a monthly benefit of $100, or $1200 per annum. This includes the Superannuation Contribution Benefit.

Example

Sandra is 24 years old and earns a Salary (as defined by the insurer, please refer to 'The insurer's definitions for cover' section) of $60,000 per year.

She has chosen a 60-day Waiting Period, and to receive a benefit until age 60, and has elected to insure 85% of her Salary, which includes a 10% Superannuation Contribution Benefit

Her monthly Salary Continuance cover (including a 10% Superannuation Contribution Benefit) is:

$$\frac{$60,000 \times 85\%}{12 \text{ months}} = $4,250 \text{ per month}$$

The number of units of cover held is calculated as:

$$\frac{$4,250}{$100} = 42.50 \text{ (round up to 43 units)}$$

In the event of a claim approved by the insurer, a disability income benefit of 38 units of $100 each would be payable, together with a Superannuation Contribution Benefit of 5 units of $100 each.

The insurance fee for this cover is calculated as:

$$43 \text{ units} \times $6.98 \text{ (insurance fee for females who have chosen a 60 day Waiting Period and whose age falls in the 20 to 24 year old age-band)} = $300.14 \text{ per year.}$$

* The above rates include nominal stamp duty. Actual stamp duty payable is based on the Insured Member's state of domicile. Each unit of cover provides a monthly benefit of $100, or $1200 per annum. This includes the Superannuation Contribution Benefit.

Example

Leo is 49 years old and earns a Salary (as defined by the insurer, see 'The insurer's definitions for cover' section) of $150,000 per year.

He has chosen a 90-day Waiting Period, and to receive a benefit until age 65, and has elected to insure 85% of his Salary, which includes a 10% Superannuation Contribution Benefit.

His monthly Salary Continuance cover (including a 10% Superannuation Contribution Benefit) is:

$$\frac{$150,000 \times 85\%}{12 \text{ months}} = $10,625 \text{ per month}$$

The number of units of cover held is calculated as:

$$\frac{$10,625}{$100} = 106.25 \text{ (round up to 107 units)}$$

In the event of a claim approved by the insurer, a disability income benefit of 94 units of $100 each would be payable, together with a Superannuation Contribution Benefit of 13 units of $100 each.

The insurance fee for this cover is calculated as:

$$107 \text{ units} \times $19.22 \text{ (insurance fee for a male who has chosen a 90 day Waiting Period and whose age falls in the 45 to 49 year old age band)} = $2,056.54 \text{ per year.}$$

When no insurance fees are payable

The insurer will waive the payment of Salary Continuance fees for you while you are receiving a Total Disability Benefit or Partial Disability Benefit.

This means that Salary Continuance insurance fees will stop after you start receiving a Total Disability Benefit or Partial Disability Benefit and will restart after you stop receiving a Total Disability Benefit or Partial Disability Benefit.

What Salary Continuance benefits are payable from the policy?

The monthly benefit

In the event of Total Disability or Partial Disability, a monthly benefit will be payable. The monthly benefit will be the lesser of:

- the monthly benefit which you were approved for;
- 85% of your Pre-Disability Salary (of which 75% will be payable to you as a disability benefit and 10% will be payable to legalsuper as a superannuation contribution); and
- $30,000.

Total Disability Benefit

The insurer will pay a Total Disability Benefit if you:

- are Totally Disabled (see 'The insurer's definitions for cover' section) for at least 7 days out of the first 12 consecutive days of the Waiting Period; and
- are Totally Disabled or Partially Disabled for the balance of the Waiting Period; and
- are Totally Disabled at the expiry of the Waiting Period.

The monthly benefit starts to accrue from the day after the end of the Waiting Period.

The monthly benefit is payable in arrears and stops at the earlier of:

- the end of your Benefit Period as shown on the Decision Note issued by the insurer;
- the date you are no longer Totally Disabled; or
- the earliest date your cover ends (see 'When does Salary Continuance cover end?' on page 51).

Partial Disability Benefit

The insurer will pay a Partial Disability Benefit (a portion of the Total Disability benefit) if you satisfy each of the following three conditions: 1) you are Totally Disabled (see 'The insurer's definitions for cover' section) for at least 7 days out of the first 12 consecutive days of the Waiting Period, 2) are Totally Disabled or Partially Disabled for the balance of the Waiting Period, and 3) have been continuously Totally Disabled or Partially Disabled since the end of the Waiting Period.

The Partial Disability Benefit will be calculated as follows:

$$\frac{A - B}{A} \times \text{Monthly Benefit}$$

Where:

A is your Pre-Disability Salary

(see 'The insurer's definitions for cover' section)

B is the greater of:

- the monthly earnings for the month that the Partial Disability Benefit is payable, provided that this amount is lower than your Pre-Disability Salary; or
- the monthly earnings you could reasonably be expected to earn if you are working to the extent of your capability, for the month that the Partial Disability Benefit is payable. The insurer will assess the amount you are capable of earning based on medical advice (including that of your medical practitioner), and any other relevant information.

The Partial Disability Benefit begins to accrue from the day after you are no longer Totally Disabled or after the end of the Waiting Period, as the case may be.

The Partial Disability Benefit is payable monthly in arrears and stops at the earlier of:

- the end of your Benefit Period as shown on the Decision Note issued by the insurer;
- the date you are no longer Partially Disabled; or
- the earliest date your cover ends (see 'When does Salary Continuance cover end?' on page 51).

Superannuation Contribution Benefit

If a Disability benefit is payable and the Decision Note issued by the insurer specifies a monthly benefit which is for more than 1/12 of 75% of your Pre-Disability Salary, you will receive a Superannuation Contribution Benefit. You must be and continue to be a member of legalsuper. The amount will be up to 10% of the lesser of your monthly Salary and your Pre-Disability Salary. The (maximum) 10% Salary Contribution benefit will be reduced proportionally where you are entitled to a Partial Disability Benefit or where your Total Disability or Partial Disability Benefit is reduced because you are in receipt of payments that the Insurer can offset against your benefit (see section 'Reduction in Salary Continuance benefits' on page 52).

Death benefit

If you die while a Total Disability or Partial Disability Benefit is being paid to you the insurer will pay an additional amount equal to the monthly benefit you were receiving at the date of your death, for one extra month after your death. The amount of this extra payment will be based on the benefit payable in the preceding month and will not include any arrears payment which may have been paid in that month.

Recurring disability

If you suffer a recurrence of a Disability (which means a Total Disability or Partial Disability) which was the cause of an earlier claim within six months of that earlier claim ending the insurer will treat this subsequent claim as a continuation of the first claim and will waive the Waiting Period with the following conditions:

- if you were engaged in full-time work immediately prior to the commencement of the earlier claim, you must have returned to full-time work after the period of Disability;
- if you were engaged in part-time work immediately prior to the commencement of the earlier claim, you must have returned to full-time work or part-time work after such period of Disability.

Return to work program

When the insurer is notified of an injury or illness which may result in a claim, it may pay all or some of the expenses incurred in relation to you participating in a return to work program if the insurer is of the opinion that the program may help you return to work. Any payments will be made to the service provider and must be approved (in writing) by the insurer in advance.

Maximum benefit

Where a TD or PD benefit is payable, and you are insured for more than 75% of your monthly Pre-Disability Salary, a superannuation contribution up to 10% of your monthly Pre-Disability Salary will be paid in addition to the monthly benefit, provided you are (and continue to be) a member of legalsuper. The maximum monthly benefit payable (including the Superannuation Contribution Benefit) is $30,000, before the deduction of any income tax.

What happens if I am suffering from more than one injury or illness?

You can only claim one Salary Continuance benefit if you suffer from different types of injuries or illness that exist at the same time. For example, if you receive a monthly benefit for the Benefit Period due to a broken arm, you cannot also claim a monthly benefit during the same period if you suffer from another injury.

Am I covered when overseas?

The Salary Continuance cover provided includes cover whilst you are overseas provided you are an Australian Resident. If you are not an Australian Resident you are only covered for overseas trips of 3 months or less. If after your Salary Continuance benefits start, you are overseas for more than 6 months the insurer may require you to return to Australia for assessment to prove entitlement to a disability benefit in Australia. If you fail to do so, the insurer may, in its discretion, refuse to continue payments. Please refer to 'The insurer's definitions for cover' section for the definition of 'Australian Resident'.

Am I covered during paid or unpaid leave?

An Insured Member's cover will continue up to 24 months while on paid or unpaid leave (including Parental Leave), provided their insurance fees continue to be paid. Cover will cease upon the expiry of 24 months, unless the insurer has been notified and provided approval for a longer period of cover. If you suffer Total Disability or Partial Disability during periods of unemployment, Parental Leave or other employer approved leave, the insurer will deem your Usual Occupation to be the occupation you performed immediately before the unemployment or leave commenced.

When does Salary Continuance cover end?

Salary Continuance cover will end, without the need for us to notify you, on the earliest of the following:

- the date the policy ends or the insurer notifies the Trustee that it has ceased to provide cover;
- the date you commence Active Service with the armed forces of any country (except where you are a member of the Australian Defence Force Reserves, in which case, cover on all benefits will cease only when you become the subject of a call out order under the Defence Act 1903 (Oth));
- the date you cease to be a member of legalsuper;
- the date we receive your written request for cover to end (unless such request specifies a later date, in which case, the date specified in the request);
- the date you reach the Benefit Expiry Age;
- the date you permanently retire from employment;
- the date you die;
- the date the you are no longer an Eligible Person as described on page 45, other than as a direct result of injury or illness;
- the last Friday of the month in which your account has insufficient funds to cover the cost of the insurance fee due*;
- the date an Insured Member who is not an Australian Resident is no longer permanently in Australia, or not eligible to reside in Australia; or
- the date you are on unpaid leave or paid leave for longer than 24 months (where the insurer has not agreed to provide cover for a longer period of time).

* If your balance is becoming insufficient to pay the insurance fees, we will contact you to provide you with an opportunity to make contributions in order for your cover to continue. If your balance is insufficient to pay insurance fees your insurance cover will lapse. As we will use your contact details that we hold on record, it is important that you keep your contact details up to date.

Exclusions

Salary Continuance benefit payments will not be made:

- if the event giving rise to your claim is caused directly or indirectly by War;
- if the event giving rise to your claim is caused directly or indirectly by anything specifically excluded from cover in the Decision Note provided by the insurer to you;
- if the event giving rise to the claim is caused directly or indirectly by, or arises from:
 - (a) your intentional self-inflicted act;
 - (b) your pregnancy, unless you spend more than three months Totally Disabled from the date the pregnancy ends and continue to be disabled. In such case, the insurer will pay benefits from the end of that three month period, or the end of the Waiting Period (if later);
 - (c) your involvement in, or perpetration of, a criminal act or acts.

The Insurer may reduce or refuse to pay any Salary Continuance benefits:

- if your insurance fees have not been paid;
- if you did not comply with your Duty of Disclosure;
- if you did not meet the insurer's eligibility conditions to obtain any part of your cover
- if you do not comply with its claim requirements;
- where it has not received notice at the time your disability starts, to the extent that its assessment or management of your claim is prejudiced; or
- if a member travels or resides overseas for a period in excess of six months while in receipt of Salary Continuance benefits.

Reduction in Salary Continuance benefits

Your Salary Continuance benefit will be reduced by the value of other payments you receive for the purpose of income replacement due to illness or injury where such payments, when combined with the Salary Continuance benefit exceed 75% of your Pre-Disability Salary.

The type of payments which are taken into account are payments received:

- from any disability income, illness or injury policies;
- from any compulsory insurance schemes such as workers' compensation or accident compensation for loss of income; and/or
- from the Government or other social security schemes in respect of loss of income.

Any lump sum payment will be converted to an equivalent monthly amount, by dividing the lump sum payment by the lesser of:

- the number of months in the Benefit Period; or
- 60.

NOTE: Sick leave, annual leave and long service leave entitlements, inheritances, tax refunds, investment income, and other such payments of the same kind or nature received by you will not be taken into account when assessing whether the benefit should be reduced by other payments received by the Insured Member.

Under the terms of the insurer's policy, the insurer can recoup the payment of benefits where:

- the insurer was entitled to reduce the benefit paid, but did not do so for any reason; or
- the benefit, or part of the benefit, was not payable under the terms of the insurer's policy.

Transfer your Salary Continuance cover into legalsuper

You have the opportunity to apply to the insurer to transfer your existing Salary Continuance cover (up to $20,000 per month) from another superannuation fund or individual policy (Previous Cover) into legalsuper. The combined level of cover upon transfer is limited to the lesser of:

- the number of units to cover 85% of your Pre-Disability Salary (of which a maximum of 75% is payable to you and the balance paid as a contribution to legalsuper); or
- the maximum cover of $30,000 per month.

Generally, Salary Continuance cover will be matched on the same Waiting Period and Benefit Period to that which was provided under the Previous Cover.

If the Waiting Period from your Previous Cover is not available in legalsuper, the next Waiting Period in legalsuper will be provided.

If your previous Waiting Period was less than 30 days you will be given a Waiting Period of 30 days in legalsuper. If your previous Waiting Period was between 31 and 60 days then the Waiting Period in legalsuper will be 60 days. If your Previous Cover had a Waiting Period of between 61 and 90 days then in legalsuper your Waiting Period will be 90 days. If your Previous Cover had a Waiting Period 91 days or longer, then your application for transferred cover will be declined.

Conditions and other limitations apply.

You must complete to the satisfaction of the insurer and sign and date the Insurance roll-in form, including all parts of every Screening Question. All applications are subject to the approval of the insurer and for your application to be considered, you must provide proof of your Previous Cover and the terms upon which it was granted (i.e. including details of any restrictions, loadings or exclusions). The insurer will not accept documentary evidence which has been issued more than 60 days prior to the date that we receive the Insurance roll-in form. You should also note that:

- your Previous Cover must be current at the time of application;

- you must also transfer your whole superannuation balance to legalsuper if your Previous Cover is held in super;
- any loadings, restrictions and exclusions which apply to your Previous Cover will also apply to your cover in legalsuper;
- you must also cancel the Previous Cover once you receive notification of your acceptance by legalsuper.

If your Previous Cover is not validly cancelled, then if the insurer accepts a claim any benefit payable under the legalsuper policy will be reduced by the benefit payable under the Previous Cover to the extent it should have been cancelled but was not.

To transfer your existing Salary Continuance cover to legalsuper, please complete the Insurance roll-in form available at legalsuper.com.au

How do I claim?

To lodge a claim for a Salary Continuance benefit, you must advise us in writing by completion of a claim form. Please contact us and we will send you the relevant claim forms. You should note that the act of us sending you claim forms does not constitute an admission of liability by the insurer in respect of any claim lodged.

On receipt of completed claim forms and medical reports on your condition, your claim will be assessed by the insurer in accordance with the relevant definitions.

As sound medical evidence is vital to a proper and fair assessment, it may be necessary to undergo more than one medical examination whilst your claim is being assessed. Depending on the nature of your claim and the medical evidence provided, there may be a lengthy period of assessment before benefit payments can commence.

Where a member has taken out insurance cover for a Salary Continuance benefit and a claim for payment of a benefit is not accepted by the insurer, no Salary Continuance benefit will be payable. The Trustee will only pay you the amount of any insured benefit that it recovers from the insurer.

Other important information about insurance

The following information applies to both Death & TPD cover (including Death Only cover) and Salary Continuance cover.

legalsuper's insurance arrangements may change

The Trustee may from time to time renegotiate some or all of its insurance arrangements. This may result in changes in:

- eligibility criteria;
- insurance fees;
- the terms and scope of the cover provided (for example, the definitions of TPD, TD and Terminal Illness);
- the access of members to insurance cover; and/or
- the amount of cover per unit or the insurance fee per unit of cover, or both whether insurance cover is offered on a unit basis or on some other basis.

You will be given notice of any material changes in accordance with relevant law.

No guarantee

The Trustee does not guarantee the payment of an insured benefit or the performance of the insurer. Please contact legalsuper for more details on insurance cover. The Trustee will only pay you the amount of any insured benefit that it recovers from the insurer. There is a possibility that insurance arrangements may be renegotiated with the same or different insurer and that, as a consequence, there may be adverse changes to the scope or cost of your insurance cover. The Trustee may also cease to provide members access to insurance cover.

Fees and costs

legalsuper works hard to keep fees and costs low. Our sole purpose is to maximise the retirement savings of our members. We do not pay commission to agents, and return all profits to members.

This section shows fees and other costs that you may be charged. These fees and costs may be deducted from your money, from the returns on your investment or from the assets of the superannuation entity as a whole.

Other fees, such as activity fees, advice fees for personal advice and insurance fees, may also be charged, but these will depend on the nature of the activity, advice or insurance chosen by you.

Taxes, insurance fees and other costs relating to insurance are set out in another part of this Document.

You should read all the information about fees and other costs because it is important to understand their impact on your investment.

The fees and other costs for each investment option offered by legalsuper are set out in this section.

Did you know?

Small differences in both investment performance and fees and costs can have a substantial impact on your long term returns.

For example, total annual fees and costs of 2% of your account balance rather than 1% could reduce your final return by up to 20% over a 30 year period (for example reduce it from $100,000 to $80,000).

You should consider whether features such as superior investment performance or the provision of better member services justify higher fees and costs.

You or your employer, as applicable, may be able to negotiate to pay lower administration fees.* Ask the fund or your financial adviser.

To find out more

If you would like to find out more, or see the impact of the fees based on your own circumstances, the Australian Securities and Investments Commission (ASIC) website (moneysmart.gov.au) has a superannuation fee calculator to help you check out different fee options.

* The above wording is required by legislation. legalsuper's fees and costs are not negotiable.

Where a member has an account balance¹ at the end of a financial year which has exceeded an average balance of $350,000 during that entire financial year, their administration fees for that year will be capped as if charged only on that $350,000 average. Administration fees are the sum of the direct fee of $1.30 per week plus the 0.29% per annum indirect fee based on your average account balance during the year.

Where the cap applies and administration fees are to be rebated, the rebate will take place within 4 months after the end of the relevant financial year.

Fee aggregation

Fee aggregation links all your accounts for the purpose of calculating the capped administration fees. legalsuper will identify your accounts where the name and date of birth are identical. For example, a member may have a superannuation account and a pension account. This can mean a reduction in the administration fee payable by you where your combined account balances exceed the average balance of $350,000 for the entire financial year.

EXAMPLE – For a member with a weighted average aggregate balance at 30 June of $800,000

Administration fees paid	$2455.20
Administration fees cap	$1082.60
Administration fees rebate	$1372.60

Can the fees change?

All fees, charges and expenses may change. The Trustee undertakes not to increase fees, charges or expenses to members' accounts or deduct any other types of charges without providing at least 30 days' written notice (other than taxes and charges imposed by Government).

¹ The fee cap will not apply where a member's account with the fund is closed on or before 30 June during that financial year.

Example of annual fees and costs for the MySuper balanced and Balanced investment options²

The following table gives an example of how the fees and costs in the MySuper balanced and Balanced options for this product can affect your superannuation investment over a one-year period. You should use the table to compare this product with other superannuation products.

EXAMPLE – MySuper balanced and Balanced option		Balance of $50,000
Investment fees	0.73% pa	For every $50,000 you have in the MySuper or Balanced option you will be charged $365.00 each year.
PLUS Administration costs	Direct fee $67.60 pa ($1.30 per week) PLUS Indirect fee 0.29% pa	And you will be charged a direct fee of $67.60 regardless of your balance. PLUS the indirect fee of $145.00 each year will be deducted from your investment.
PLUS Indirect costs for the MySuper and Balanced product	0.16% pa	And indirect costs of $80.00 each year will be deducted from your investment.
Cost of product		If your balance was $50,000, then for that year you will be charged fees of $657.60 for the MySuper or Balanced product ³ .

³ Additional fees may apply. If you leave the fund you may also be charged an exit fee (until 1 July 2019) and a buy-sell spread which applies whenever you make a contribution, exit, rollover or investment switch. The exit fee ($50.00) is payable on each withdrawal made from the fund.

Additional explanation of fees and costs

Defined fees¹

Activity fees

A fee is an activity fee if:

- (a) the fee relates to costs incurred by the trustee of the superannuation entity that are directly related to an activity of the trustee:
 - (i) that is engaged in at the request, or with the consent, of a member; or

Administration fees

An administration fee is a fee that relates to the administration or operation of the superannuation entity and includes costs that relate to that administration or operation, other than:

Exit fees

An exit fee is a fee to recover the costs of disposing of all or part of members' interests in the superannuation entity.

Indirect cost ratio

The indirect cost ratio (ICR), for a MySuper product or an investment option offered by a superannuation entity, is the ratio of the total of the indirect costs for the MySuper product or investment option, to the total average net assets of the superannuation entity attributed to the MySuper product or investment option.

Note: A dollar based fee deducted directly from a member's account is not included in the indirect cost ratio.

Investment fees

An investment fee is a fee that relates to the investment of the assets of a superannuation entity and includes:

- (a) fees in payment for the exercise of care and expertise in the investment of those assets (including performance fees); and

 - (iii) costs that are otherwise charged as an administration fee, a buy-sell spread, a switching fee, an exit fee, an activity fee, an advice fee or an insurance fee.

Switching fees

A switching fee for a MySuper product is a fee to recover the costs of switching all or part of a member's interest in a superannuation entity from one class of beneficial interest in the entity to another.

A switching fee for a superannuation product other than a MySuper product, is a fee to recover the costs of switching all or part of a member's interest in a superannuation entity from one investment option or product in the entity to another.

¹The wording in this section is required by legislation.

Accessing your super

Generally, you cannot access your superannuation benefit until you reach your preservation age and retire permanently from the workforce. However, in special circumstances, you or your beneficiaries may be entitled to receive part or all of your benefit.

You are not required to withdraw your superannuation savings when you reach retirement or preservation age. You can leave your money invested in the superannuation system and take advantage of the generally lower tax rates that apply for as long as you like.

Benefits can be paid to you as lump sums either partially or in full. You may roll over your benefits to another complying superannuation fund, approved deposit fund or retirement savings account at any time.

Superannuation benefits are classified into three types: preserved, restricted non-preserved, and unrestricted non-preserved. This classification determines when they may be paid out to you and when they must remain in the superannuation system.

Temporary residents

Temporary residents includes most (but not all) holders of temporary visas, but does not include New Zealand citizens. If you were a temporary resident and have permanently departed Australia, you may be entitled to claim your super benefit. See page 71 in relation to the taxation of these benefits. For more information, go to the ATO website at ato.gov.au.

Temporary residents can only claim their super entitlements prior to departing Australia on the following grounds:

- a terminal medical condition
- permanent incapacity
- death.

Preserved benefits

All new contributions made to legalsuper and all subsequent investment earnings must be preserved. Amounts transferred into legalsuper from another fund may also be preserved – this will depend on how the transferred amounts were classified in the prior fund.

Under current law, preserved benefits can only be paid to you when one of the following conditions of release is satisfied:

- permanent retirement from the workforce on or after your preservation age (see table below)
- reaching age 65
- leaving or retiring from employment after turning age 60
- permanent incapacity*
- terminal illness*
- on your death

- on the grounds of severe financial hardship (subject to certain conditions and Trustee approval)
- on compassionate grounds, as approved by the Australian Taxation Office (ATO)
- on termination of employment where your preserved benefits are less than $200
- where you are an eligible temporary resident who permanently departs Australia. (In this situation, a higher tax rate than those outlined on page 71 may apply.) Temporary residents include most (but not all) holders of temporary visas, but doesn't include New Zealand citizens. If you were a temporary resident and have permanently departed Australia, you may be entitled to claim your super benefit.
- Eligible under the First Home Super Saver Scheme (FHSSS).

* See Conditions of release – additional information below.

Your preservation age depends on your date of birth, as shown in the following table:

Date of birth	Preservation age
Before 1 July 1960	55
1 July 1960 – 30 June 1961	56
1 July 1961 – 30 June 1962	57
1 July 1962 – 30 June 1963	58
1 July 1963 – 30 June 1964	59
1 July 1964 onwards	60

Conditions of release – additional information

The Regulations include permanent incapacity and terminal illness as a condition of release of a member's account balance.

To satisfy the permanent incapacity condition of release you must provide evidence to legalsuper that you are unlikely, because of ill health, to engage in gainful employment that you are reasonably qualified for by education, training or experience.

To satisfy the terminal illness condition of release, two registered medical practitioners are required to have certified, jointly or separately, that you suffer from an illness, or have incurred an injury, that in their opinion is likely to result in your death within 24 months of the date of certification.

Please note the conditions to obtain a release of your account balance under the Regulations are different to the conditions that apply when making an insurance claim.

Restricted non-preserved benefits

Amounts transferred into legalsuper from another complying superannuation fund may be restricted non-preserved benefits. This will depend on how the amounts were classified in the prior fund.

Restricted non-preserved benefits can be accessed on satisfaction of the same conditions of release as apply for preserved benefits. However, where you terminate your employment (i.e. resigning, retrenchment, dismissal prior to retirement) with an employer who had at any time contributed to legalsuper on your behalf, your restricted non-preserved benefits (if any) become unrestricted non-preserved benefits and, subject to legalsuper rules, may be accessed at any time.

Unrestricted non-preserved benefits

Amounts transferred into legalsuper from another complying superannuation fund may be unrestricted non-preserved benefits. This will depend on how the amounts were classified in the prior fund.

Unrestricted non-preserved benefits are not subject to preservation and, subject to legalsuper rules, may be paid to you at any time.

Your benefit on leaving legalsuper

Your benefit will be equal to your account balance.

If you are employed by an employer who pays your contributions to legalsuper and your employment comes to an end, you are not required to withdraw your benefit from legalsuper. You can also roll other superannuation into your legalsuper account.

If you transfer or roll over benefits (including preserved benefits) at any time to another complying superannuation fund, the benefits retain their status and remain subject to the preservation rules in the new fund.

Portability

If you are rolling over from legalsuper to another superannuation fund, legalsuper generally only allows one rollover request within a 12 month period.

You need to provide ID when you access your super

Members must provide identification when receiving certain services such as the payment of benefits or pensions. legalsuper is required to collect basic information (including the member's full name, date of birth and residential address) and be able to verify this through the use of reliable and independent documentation such as a driver's licence or passport etc. legalsuper will advise you of these requirements when you seek payment of a benefit.

Your insured benefit

If you have Death Only cover, an insured benefit may be payable upon your death.

If you have Death & TPD cover, an insured benefit may be paid upon your death or TPD (whichever happens first).

Under either type of cover, if you suffer from a terminal illness, part of your Death benefit may be paid to you as a 'Terminal Illness' benefit.

If you have Salary Continuance cover, an insured benefit may be payable on your total or partial disablement.

Nominating your beneficiaries

If you die before you retire, a benefit equal to your account balance (less any applicable fees and charges) together with any insured benefits will be payable to your dependants or legal personal representative.

Unless you have made a binding nomination, the Trustee will exercise its discretion when determining to whom the benefits are to be paid and the amount to be allocated, and can allocate your Death benefit amongst your dependants and/or your legal personal representative, as it thinks fit.

Your dependants have the right to complain to the Australian Financial Complaints Authority (AFCA) about the Trustee's decision as outlined on page 68.

Dependants are:

- your spouse or any child of yours at the date of your death;
- any other person who in the opinion of the Trustee was at the date of your death wholly or partially dependent on you; or
- any person with whom you had an 'interdependency relationship' at the date of your death.

The Trustee may consider that you had an interdependent relationship with another person if, at your death:

- you had a close personal relationship with the person; you lived with the person, either or both of you provided the other with financial support, and either or both of you provided the other with domestic support and personal care; or
- you had a close personal relationship with the person but do not satisfy the other criteria set out above because either or both of you suffer from a physical, intellectual or psychiatric disability.

Your legal personal representative is the executor of your estate.

You can nominate your preferred beneficiaries. Nominations of beneficiaries can be either binding or non-binding. All members can make binding nominations. Both types of nominations are explained below. There can be tax and asset-protection consequences when making nominations, and so we suggest that you consider obtaining estate planning advice.

Please note that a death benefit nomination only applies to the particular legalsuper account that you specify that nomination for and the most recent valid nomination will apply only to that particular account.

The most recent valid non-binding nomination will replace any previous non-binding nomination for that particular account, whilst the most recent valid binding nomination will replace any previous binding or non-binding nomination for that particular account.

Non-binding nominations

As a member of legalsuper, you have the option to nominate one or more of your dependants, and/or your legal personal representative, as the person or persons to whom you would like your superannuation benefits (including any insured benefits applicable) to be paid in the event of your death. If you nominate more than one beneficiary, you should specify the proportion that you wish each to have. This kind of nomination is not binding on the Trustee. However, your nomination will be taken into account when the Trustee determines to whom your Death benefits will be paid.

Binding nominations

All members of legalsuper can make a binding nomination when selecting beneficiaries. If you make a binding nomination, we must pay your Death benefit in accordance with your nomination, provided the nomination complies with legal requirements, such as the following:

- Each nominated beneficiary must either be a dependant (as explained above) or your legal personal representative at the time of your death.
- A binding nomination is only valid for three years from the date you sign it or any confirmation or amendment of it. If your circumstances change, or those of any of your beneficiaries, we strongly recommend that you review your nomination and change it if required. This is your responsibility.
- Your nomination must be signed and dated by you in the presence of two adult witnesses, neither of whom is a nominated beneficiary.
- You may revoke or change a binding nomination notice in accordance with legalsuper's procedures at any time.
- legalsuper does not accept binding nominations made under any form of Power of Attorney.

If your binding nomination does not comply with these requirements, your Death benefit will be paid by the Trustee in its discretion to or for the benefit of one or more of your dependants and/or your legal personal representative in such proportions as the Trustee determines.

Note that binding nominations are subject to splits under Family Law.

If you wish your benefit to pass in accordance with your Will, or if you do not wish to nominate a dependant, or you have no dependant to nominate, you may instruct the Trustee to pay your benefits to your legal personal representative.

Your nomination should be carefully considered and updated regularly, or whenever your personal circumstances change.

If you have not yet made a nomination, or if you wish to change your nomination, please complete the relevant section of the Superannuation change details form. You can obtain a form at legalsuper.com.au or by calling legalsuper on 1800 060 312 (8am to 8pm [AEST] Monday to Friday).

First Home Super Saver Scheme

The First Home Super Saver Scheme allows individuals to apply to withdraw (from 1 July 2018) voluntary contributions made to super after 1 July 2017 for a first home deposit.

A maximum of up to $15,000 can be paid per financial year, up to $30,000 in total subject to existing contribution caps. Where a couple is involved, both individuals will be able to take advantage of the Scheme.

Concessional contributions and earnings that are withdrawn for the purpose of buying a first home will be taxed at marginal rates less a 30 per cent offset or 17 per cent if the Commissioner is unable to estimate your expected marginal rate.

Further information about this proposal can be found at ato.gov.au.

Before making a decision about your account, we recommend that you discuss these proposed changes with your licenced financial adviser.

Other important information

There are many ways that legalsuper protects you and your retirement savings. We also provide regular information about your account and the operations of the Fund, so you know how your investment is being managed.

Eligible Rollover Fund (ERF)

An ERF is a superannuation fund designed to protect the superannuation entitlements of 'Lost members' (see 'Glossary' on pages 74 – 76) and members with small account balances. The ERF for legalsuper is:

Australia's Unclaimed Super Fund (AusFund)
 Locked bag 5132
 Parramatta
 NSW 2124
 Telephone: 1300 361 798
 Email: admin@ausfund.com.au

The benefits of Lost Members or those with small balances (less than $500) in inactive accounts (i.e. there have been no contributions of any sort for 15 months) may be transferred to AusFund without your prior consent.

If your benefits are transferred to the ERF at the discretion of legalsuper, you will cease to be a member of legalsuper and the Trustee will cease to have a responsibility to administer your benefits or to pay benefits to you. In this event, you will need to contact the ERF in order to access your benefits. Any insurance cover you have will also cease upon your account balance being transferred to an ERF.

Any monies that are transferred from legalsuper to AusFund are invested in accordance with a moderate risk profile. Member rollovers are allowed. Note that no insurance cover is provided.

Any benefits transferred to an ERF can subsequently be transferred back into legalsuper or to another approved fund or, subject to preservation requirements, be paid to you. You should be aware that an ERF is not generally considered to be a suitable investment vehicle for your superannuation benefits over the long term. This is because ERFs invest in assets that do not have much potential for longer-term growth.

For details about the ERF appointed by legalsuper, including the associated fees and charges, you should contact AusFund directly to obtain a copy of its Product Disclosure Statement (contact details are shown above).

Unclaimed benefits

If you reach the eligibility age for an Age Pension, have not claimed your benefit and the Trustee is unable to locate you, the benefit will become unclaimed money.

The Trustee must report and pay all unclaimed benefits to the Australian Taxation Office (ATO). The member must then claim the benefit directly from the ATO.

Cooling-off period

Members other than Employer-sponsored members may cancel their legalsuper membership during a 14-day cooling-off period. If you wish to exercise this right, you must advise the Trustee in writing during the cooling-off period.

The 14-day cooling-off period commences when we confirm that you have become a member or on the fifth day after we accept your application (whichever happens first). If you cancel your membership in this way, no fees or charges will be deducted from your account. However, any amount refunded will be adjusted for any increase or decrease in the investment value and any tax payable in respect of the contribution.

Some restrictions apply to any preserved amounts or restricted non-preserved amounts paid into the Fund. For this reason, any refunds will most likely be required to be paid into another complying superannuation fund or approved deposit fund, and would not be able to be paid directly to you.

If you terminate your membership in other circumstances, all applicable fees and charges will be deducted from your account.

Persons under age 18

If you are under 18, you can join legalsuper through your employer. If you are under 18 and do not join through an employer, your parent or guardian should sign the Member application form relevant to your membership type on your behalf and provide proof of their relationship to you, such as a birth or adoption certificate.

Please note that the allowable age range to join online is 10–79 years. If you want to operate your account (including online access) and you are under 18, we require a parent or guardian's signature together with the proof of parent or guardianship document.

A parent or guardian who signs a Member application form relevant to your membership type on behalf of a person aged under 18 is responsible for transactions and/or activities of the account established for the person aged under 18.

Enquiries and Complaints

We have a dispute resolution procedure in place and the Trustee's procedure for dealing with enquiries and complaints requires all complaints to be properly considered and dealt with within 90 days. Your enquiry or complaint may be received by us by telephone, email or in writing by post.

Privacy

Privacy laws regulate, amongst other things, the way organisations collect, use, disclose and store personal information. legalsuper is committed to respecting the privacy of your personal information.

legalsuper collects personal information to establish and manage your superannuation account. If you choose not to provide your personal information, we may not be able to process your membership application and administer your account.

The Trustee may disclose your personal information to its service providers and third parties where required by law or in order to administer and manage your superannuation account e.g. the Australian Taxation Office, Fund administrator and other superannuation funds.

If you apply for insurance cover, your personal details including health information are disclosed to legalsuper's group life insurers to assess your eligibility for insurance cover. If you make an insurance claim, you will need to provide additional information in accordance with claim procedures of legalsuper and the insurer. If you make a claim under legalsuper's policies, the insurers may conduct investigations to assess the value and validity of the claim. This may involve the use of investigation agents, legal advisers and the collection of personal data that the group life insurers believe is relevant.

The Trustee may make members aware of products and services that are available to them as Fund members. If you do not wish to receive information of this kind, please contact legalsuper by email at mail@legalsuper.com.au or telephone 1800 060 312 (8am to 8pm [AEST] Monday to Friday).

Special offers

Information regarding any special offers will be available on legalsuper's website from time to time, and we may contact you directly.

If we make a special offer available, we can provide you, at your request, with material that outlines the separate terms and conditions that apply to that particular offer. Special offers may only be available to you for a short time, and we reserve the right to withdraw them at any time.

Bankruptcy and superannuation

The Bankruptcy Act 1996 has a number of provisions that affect superannuation. It now specifies that contributions to a superannuation fund not made in good faith, (i.e. 'excessive contributions') and contributions made with an intention to defeat creditors in a set period before bankruptcy may be returned to creditors.

Additionally, it specifies that, above set limits, a trustee is able to claim pension income received by a bankrupt from a superannuation fund.

Tax File Numbers (TFN)

Under the Superannuation Industry (Supervision) Act 1993, legalsuper is authorised to collect, use and disclose your TFN.

legalsuper may disclose your TFN to another superannuation provider, when your benefits are being transferred, unless you request legalsuper, in writing, not to disclose your TFN to any other superannuation provider.

Declining to quote your TFN to legalsuper is not an offence. However, giving your TFN to legalsuper will have the following advantages:

- legalsuper will be able to accept all permitted types of contributions to your account/s;
- other than the tax that may ordinarily apply, you will not pay more tax than you need to. This affects both contributions to your superannuation and benefit payments when you start drawing down your superannuation benefits; and
- it will make it much easier to find different superannuation accounts in your name so that you receive all your superannuation benefits when you retire.

The consequences of not providing your TFN may change in future as a result of legislative changes. If you do tell us your TFN, we will treat it as confidential and use it for legal purposes, such as:

- to calculate tax on any Eligible Termination Payment you may be entitled to;
- to give your TFN to the relevant authority, if we are paying unclaimed money;
- to give your TFN to the Commissioner of Taxation if you receive a benefit; and

- if we transfer your benefits to another superannuation fund or retirement savings account.

These purposes may change in future as a result of legislative changes.

Electronic communication

If you or your employer has provided your email and/or mobile number, information relating to legalsuper and your legalsuper account will be provided to you electronically via email, MemberAccess, legalsuper.com.au or SMS, unless you request otherwise. This includes annual statements, notices (including Significant Event Notices), updates and information about your account.

If we do not hold a valid email address for you we will send communications which we are required to provide under superannuation law to you in the post.

To opt out of electronic communications or to provide a different address (either electronic or postal) simply call, email us or visit MemberAccess at legalsuper.com.au where you can choose your communication preferences.

Regular reports on your investment

The Trustee will provide members with the following information:

Member Statement

The Annual Member Statement shows the 30 June balance in your member account, and all transactions for the period. The statement includes your investment profile, investment balances, preservation details, insurance cover and beneficiary information. It will be issued before 31 December each year.

Fund information

The Annual Report provides you with information on the management and financial position of legalsuper and on legalsuper's investment performance. It will be available before 31 December each year.

Confirmation of transactions

Where required by law, all transactions will be confirmed by the Trustee in writing.

Trust Deed amendments

The Trustee can amend the Trust Deed of legalsuper without your consent if:

- the amendment does not reduce the existing accrued benefits of members or beneficiaries; or
- all relevant consents as required by law or by the Trust Deed are obtained; or
- in the opinion of the Trustee, the principal purpose of the amendment is to improve relief or concessions from taxes or other Government imposts or to better enable legalsuper to comply with any law, subject to superannuation law.

Consent

Each party described in this Document as performing a role in connection with legalsuper has consented to being named in this Document and, where applicable, to the inclusion in this Document of statements, in the form and context in which they are included, that are made by them or said to be based on statements made by them.

Consolidation of accounts

Many members have investments in a number of superannuation funds. It may make sense to consolidate your superannuation interests into one account. Not only can this provide better control, but it may eliminate the need to pay multiple fees and charges.

You should, however, consider whether any exit fees and/or cessation of insurance will apply if you are thinking of transferring a benefit from another fund. In addition, you should consider respective fund investment performance.

If you wish to transfer benefits from another superannuation fund into legalsuper, please complete the Request to transfer form, which authorises legalsuper to arrange the transfer(s) on your behalf or call us on 1800 060 312 (8am to 8pm [AEST] Monday to Friday).

Family Law

Family Law legislation allows for superannuation benefits to be divided between couples upon their separation or divorce.

If there is a court order or superannuation agreement in force, legalsuper is required to make the relevant payment from your account. Your account may also be flagged, which prevents us from making payments from the account.

A request for information about a member's benefits can be made by the member, the member's spouse or de facto partner, whether same sex or opposite sex (irrespective of whether the spouse or de facto partner is a member) or a person considering entering into a superannuation agreement with a member. By law, the Trustee is not permitted to tell you if such a request has been made.

Currently legalsuper does not charge a fee for family law matters.

Employer contributions

An employer can claim a tax deduction for contributions made to legalsuper on your behalf.

Tax deductible contributions

If you wish to claim a tax deduction for contributions you make to legalsuper as an employed person, you will need to join legalsuper.

If you intend to claim a tax deduction for all or part of your contributions to legalsuper, you must complete a notice under s290-170 of the Income Tax Assessment Act 1997, and receive an acknowledgement of this notice from the Trustee.

The notice must be received by the Trustee in accordance with the required lodgement date for such notices under the Income Tax Assessment Act 1997.

- contributions which you make for your spouse.

If your spouse's assessable income (plus reportable fringe benefits and reportable employer super contributions) exceed $40,000 no tax offset will be available.

Eligible spouse contributions are not subject to contributions tax.

Temporary Residents: Tax

Departing temporary residents who receive their benefit may have to pay tax.

The tax rate may be as high as 65%. This tax will be withheld by legalsuper and remitted to the ATO.

Temporary Residents: Transfer of benefits to the Australian Taxation Office (ATO) and exit statements

If you have entered Australia on a temporary resident visa and then depart from Australia, you generally have 6 months from date of departure to claim your superannuation benefit. If you do not make a claim in this period, the ATO may issue the Trustee with a notice to pay your superannuation benefit to the ATO.

We are not required to issue you with an exit statement in this circumstance. However, on your request, we are required to provide you with the details of the payment to assist you in applying to the ATO for your super benefit.

Government co-contribution for low-income earners

Low-income earners may be eligible for a Government co-contribution on contributions made by you from after-tax dollars (non-concessional contributions) See page 9 for further details.

Low Income Superannuation Tax Offset (LISTO) Scheme

If your adjusted taxable income is less than $37,000, you may be eligible for a Government payment up to a maximum of $500 to compensate you for the 15% contributions tax payable on concessional contributions made by you or on your behalf. Any amount paid is paid into your legalsuper account.

Taxation of benefits

Your superannuation comprises two components:

- a tax-free component; and
- a taxable component.

Along with your age, these components are relevant in determining the amount of tax (if any) payable on your benefit.

Tax-free and taxable components of your benefits

Lump sum and pension payments to people aged 60 and over are tax-free. However, when a benefit is paid as a lump sum or pension to someone aged under 60, the taxable component of that benefit will be subject to tax.

The taxable components and tax-free components of a benefit paid to you must be in the same proportions as the taxable component and tax-free component that make up your total legalsuper account from which your benefit is paid, just before the benefit is paid.

A withdrawal of a lump sum benefit from legalsuper when you are under age 60 is treated as an Eligible Termination Payment (ETP) and will be subject to tax unless rolled over to another complying superannuation fund or approved deposit fund.

The tax payable on receiving benefits from legalsuper will depend on the components of the benefit, your age and how you decide to receive your benefit. As your decision will significantly affect your potential tax liability, it is recommended that you seek professional taxation advice before receiving your benefit.

The 2018/2019 tax treatment of the ETP components is set out in the following table:

	Assessable Amount	Tax Rate
60 and over
• Tax Free and Taxable (taxed) component	Nil	Nil
• Taxable (untaxed) component	Up to $1480 million	15%
	Above $1480 million	45%
Under 60
• Tax free component	Nil	Nil
Under 60
• Taxable component (element taxed)
- Preservation age to 59	Up to low rate cap $205,000	0%
	Balance	Lower of your marginal tax rate or 15%
- Under preservation age	100%	Lower of your marginal tax rate or 20%
Under 60
• Taxable component (element untaxed)
- Preservation age to 59	Up to low rate cap $205,000	15%
	Balance up to $1480 million	30%
	Above $1480 million	45%
- Under preservation age	Up to $1480 million	30%

Medicare levy and Medicare levy surcharge (if applicable) are added to whichever rate is applicable, except where the component is tax-free. The above tax rates apply where you have supplied your Tax File Number (TFN). If you do not supply your TFN, your withdrawal benefit may be taxed at the highest marginal tax rate plus Medicare levy and Medicare levy surcharge (if applicable).

The tax free component includes non-concessional contributions since 1 July 2007 and benefits held prior to 30 June, 2007 previously categorised as:

- Pre-July 83 component
- Undeducted contributions
- CGT exempt component
- Concessional component
- Post-June 1994 invalidity component.

The taxable (taxed) component is generally the balance of your superannuation interest less the tax free component and includes concessional contributions, investment earnings and benefits where held prior to 30 June 2007 previously categorised as:

- Post 30 June 1983 (taxed element)
- Post 30 June 1983 (untaxed element)
- Excessive component.

Your preservation age depends on when you were born.

Date Of Birth	Preservation Age
Before 30 June 1960	55
1 July 1960 – 30 June 1961	56
1 July 1961 – 30 June 1962	57
1 July 1962 – 30 June 1963	58
1 July 1963 – 30 June 1964	59
From 1 July 1964	60

Taxation of death benefits

All lump sum death benefit payments made to a 'tax dependant' will be tax-free. A 'tax-dependant' includes your spouse, a child of yours under 18 years of age, a person who is a financial dependant and a person with whom you have an interdependent relationship.

Death benefit payments to a non-tax dependant will be taxed at 0% on the tax free component of the benefit, a maximum of 15%* on the taxable (taxed) component and a maximum of 30%* on the taxable (untaxed) component. A non-tax dependant for this purpose includes an adult child aged 18 or more that is not a financial dependant. Where a death benefit is paid to your legal personal representative, tax will be payable according to who will benefit from your estate.

The taxable (untaxed) component generally consists of proceeds from insurance you held within legalsuper.

* Medicare levy and Medicare levy surcharge (if applicable) are added to these rates.

Taxation of TPD benefits

TPD benefits are taxed as an ETP, and some components of the benefit may be subject to concessional tax treatment.

Contributions tax

Concessional contributions are subject to a 15% contributions tax payable by legalsuper. Your balance will be reduced by the amount of contributions tax paid on your behalf.

Taxation of investment earnings

Taxable investment earnings of superannuation funds are taxed at a maximum rate of 15%. Where the assets of legalsuper are invested in Australian or international shares, the tax payable can be partly offset by franking credits and foreign tax credits. Capital Gains Tax at between 10% and 15% may also be payable.

Additional tax for high-income earners

Individuals with income and concessional contributions exceeding the Division 293 income threshold of $250,000 will have an additional 15% tax imposed on the lesser of:

- the excess, or
- the concessional contributions (except excess contributions).

Further information can be found at ato.gov.au.

First Home Super Saver Scheme (FHSSS)

If eligible, on withdrawal from your account, assessable FHSSS amounts will be taxed at either your marginal tax rate (less a 30 per cent offset) or 17 per cent if the Commissioner is unable to estimate your expected marginal rate. Further information can be found at ato.gov.au.

Glossary

This explanation of key financial terms relating to superannuation, taxation and investing will help you understand your superannuation.

AFSL

Australian Financial Services Licence.

Asset class/Asset allocation

The type of investment, such as shares, bonds or property and how they are spread in the different investment options.

Assets Test

The sliding scale means test applied to the assets of a person to determine his/her eligibility for social security (payable by Centrelink) or Department of Veteran Affairs benefits.

ATO

Australian Taxation Office.

Benchmark

As used in the investment options, this is the indicative level of investment in that asset class. The actual amount invested in each class is allowed to vary within ranges set by the Trustee. A benchmark can also be something against which the investment performance is measured.

Capital Gains Tax

Tax on the growth in the value of assets or investments, payable when the gain is realised.

Cashing restrictions

Refers to requirements regarding the manner in which a superannuation benefit pension account may be taken in particular circumstances. For example, a person who has attained preservation age (but not satisfied any other condition of release), may only take his or her superannuation benefit in the form of a pension or annuity specified by law, which includes a Transition to Retirement Pension.

CGT exempt component

A gain or gains that are exempt from tax, arising from the sale of small business assets to fund retirement on or after 1 July 1997.

Child

Child/children in relation to a person at the relevant time (being in the case of a deceased person the date of his or her death) include:

- the issue of the person or of the spouse of the person;
- any adopted, ex-nuptial, foster child, step child or ward of the person or their spouse;
- persons who in the opinion of the Trustee the person or their spouse stands in loco parentis; or
- a person who is a child of the first-named person within the meaning of the Family Law Act 1975.

Commutation

The process of converting a pension into a lump sum.

Concessional component

That part of an eligible termination payment made prior to 1 July 1994 as an approved early retirement scheme payment, bona fide redundancy payment or invalidity payment. Such amounts can be rolled into complying superannuation funds and maintain their concessional status within the Fund and on transfer to another complying superannuation fund.

Concessional contributions

Refer to superannuation contributions made from an individual's before-tax income. They generally include employer Superannuation Guarantee (SG) contributions, salary sacrifice contributions and contributions for which they can claim a tax deduction.

Consumer Price Index (CPI)

Employer contributions

The Superannuation Guarantee contributions made by your employer.

Inflation rate

This is the rate at which the price of goods and services rises or falls. This is usually shown as a percentage and is measured by the Consumer Price Index (CPI).

Interdependency relationship

Generally, two people are in an interdependency relationship if:

- they have a close personal relationship;
- they live together;
- one or each of the people provides the other with financial support; and
- one or each of them provides the other with domestic support and personal care.

If a close personal relationship exists but one or more of the other criteria are not met because either or both parties suffers a physical, intellectual or psychiatric disability, an interdependency relationship will still exist.

Investment objectives

These are the goals that the investment options aim to achieve.

Investment risk

Investment risk is the degree to which returns fluctuate (that is, go up and down in value over time relative to a long-term average).

Investment strategy

This is the way assets in the various options are invested to achieve the investment objectives.

Lost members

A member is deemed to be lost if:

- legalsuper has not received any employer contributions or rollovers in the last two years; or
- at least two written communications sent by legalsuper have been returned unclaimed.

The Trustee must report details of lost members to the Australian Taxation Office (ATO) each half year. The ATO has a Lost Members Register and also a SuperMatch system to assist superannuation funds to reunite lost accounts and members.

Medicare Levy

The levy on taxable income paid by most Australian individuals, on top of the normal income tax, to help pay for the public health system. In some situations a surcharge may apply.

Non-concessional contributions

Refers to superannuation contributions made from an individual's after-tax income. They are often referred to as voluntary (post-tax) contributions.

Post 30 June 1983 component

The proportion of your benefit that relates to service after 30 June 1983 that does not form part of the Pre 1 July 1983 component, concessional component, undeducted contributions component, Post 30 June 1994 invalidity component, CGT-exempt component or excessive component.

Post 30 June 1994 invalidity component

The part of an invalidity payment made on or after 1 July 1994 that relates to service to the member's normal retirement age. To be an invalidity payment, two legally qualified medical practitioners must certify that the member's disablement is likely to result in the member being unable to ever be employed in a capacity for which they are reasonably qualified because of education, training or experience.

Preservation age

The age at which a member can gain access to preserved benefits that have built up in a super fund, approved deposit fund or retirement savings account.

Preserved benefits

Generally, preserved benefits must be retained in legalsuper until your retirement from the workforce on or after reaching your 'preservation age'. Your preservation age varies between 55 and 60 years, depending on your birth date.

From 1 July 1999, all member and employer contributions made to legalsuper and all investment earnings must be preserved.

Subject to the governing rules of legalsuper, preserved benefits may only be paid to you when a condition of release is satisfied.

Restricted non-preserved benefits

Restricted non-preserved benefits can be accessed on satisfaction of the same conditions of release as apply for preserved benefits. However, where you terminate your employment (i.e. resigning, retrenchment, dismissal prior to retirement) with an employer who had at any time contributed to legalsuper on your behalf, your restricted non-preserved benefits (if any) become unrestricted non-preserved benefits and may be accessed at any time.

Salary sacrifice contributions

Salary sacrifice allows you to make additional superannuation contributions using pre-tax dollars. Salary sacrifice contributions are treated as employer contributions. However, the Australian Taxation Office (ATO) considers that salary sacrifice can only be made prospectively.

Spouse

Includes a person who in the opinion of the Trustee is at the relevant time (being in the case of a deceased person, the date of their death):

- legally married to the person;
- not legally married to the person and ordinarily living with the first-named person on genuine domestic basis in a relationship as a couple; or
- a person (whether of the same sex or a different sex) with whom the first-named person is in a relationship that is registered under a law of a State or Territory prescribed for the purposes of section 2E of the Acts Interpretation Act 1901 as a kind of relationship prescribed for the purposes of that section.

Switching

Switching is changing from your current investment option or mix of options to another option or mix of options.

SHASA (Superannuation Holding Accounts Special Account)

This is a statutory reserve (formerly known as the Superannuation Holding Accounts Reserve or 'SHAR') managed by the Australian Taxation Office to accept superannuation contributions from employers who are unable to find a fund or Approved Deposit Fund (ADF) that is prepared to accept the (usually small) contributions.

Taxable component

The taxable component of a superannuation interest is calculated by subtracting the tax-free component from the total value of the superannuation interest. The taxable component of a superannuation interest is made up of the element taxed in a fund and an element untaxed in a fund. The element taxed in a fund is that part which has been subject to tax in the fund, such as taxable contributions and fund earnings. The element untaxed in a fund is that part which has not been subject to tax in the fund, such as amounts paid from untaxed public sector schemes or unfunded schemes. It is likely that the taxable component of your superannuation interest in legalsuper will consist solely of elements taxed in the Fund.

Tax deductible contributions

You can make personal contributions to superannuation.

You may be able to claim a tax deduction on these contributions.

Contributions in excess of the allowable deductions for any one year cannot be deducted in that year, and are treated as undeducted contributions.

Tax-free component

This comprises contributions made on or after 1 July 2007 that have not been taxed in the fund; plus an amount which crystallises certain components of the person's superannuation interests immediately before 1 July 2007 (the 'crystallised segment'). These are the person's undeducted contributions, the concessional component, the post-June 1994 invalidity component, the CGT exempt component, and the pre-July 1983 component.

TFN

Tax File Number.

Transfers in

Transfers in are superannuation accounts you transfer to legalsuper from other superannuation funds and any amounts received from the Australian Taxation Office on your behalf.

Trustee

A company (or person) that has legal responsibility for the financial aspects (receipts, disbursements and investment) of funds. legalsuper's Trustee is Legal Super Pty Ltd.

Trust Deed

A Trust Deed is a document that sets out the rules for the establishment and operation of a superannuation fund.

5. Nomination of beneficiary/ies

You may make a Non-binding nomination via MemberAccess.

All members of legalsuper may make a death benefit nomination. The Trustee will consider the most recent valid nomination that you have with legalsuper.

You may elect to make either a Binding or Non-binding nomination of beneficiary/ies to whom your accrued legalsuper entitlements (including any insurance proceeds) will be paid in the event of your death.

Please note that a death benefit nomination only applies to the particular legalsuper account that you specify that nomination for and the most recent valid nomination will apply only to that particular account.

A valid Non-binding nomination of preferred dependants is not binding on the Trustee, but will assist the Trustee in exercising its discretion.

The Trustee will determine what proportion of your entitlements goes to one or more of your dependants or your legal personal representative (estate) on your death. Unless the Trustee decides to pay the benefits to your legal personal representative, your entitlements will not form part of your estate and will therefore not be subject to the terms of your Will.

A valid Binding nomination of dependant(s) or legal personal representative (estate) will bind the Trustee to pay your entitlements on your death exactly as you specify. Your nomination will only be valid and binding if it is made in accordance with the relevant requirements. One of these requirements is that you sign the declaration in this Section and have two persons over 18 years of age witness the declaration in your presence.

legalsuper does not accept any Binding nomination made under any form of Power of Attorney.

You are able to nominate both individual beneficiaries and a legal personal representative (estate).

'Dependant' is defined as:

- (a) the spouse of the person, any child of the person and any person with whom the person has an interdependency relationship at the relevant time (being in the case of a deceased person the date of their death); and
- (b) any other person who in the opinion of the Trustee is at the relevant time (being in the case of a deceased person the date of their death) wholly or partially dependent on the person.

Interdependency

Two persons have an interdependency relationship if:

- (a) they have a close personal relationship;
- (b) they live together;
- (c) one or each of them provides the other with financial support; and
- (d) one or each of them provides the other with domestic support and personal care.

Two people have an interdependency if they have a close personal relationship but do not satisfy the other requirements of an interdependency relationship because either or both of them suffer from physical, intellectual or psychiatric disability.

Nominated dependant(s) or legal personal representative

6. Collection of Tax File Numbers (TFN)

Under the Superannuation Industry (Supervision) Act 1993, legalsuper is authorised to collect, use and disclose your TFN.

legalsuper may disclose your TFN to another superannuation provider, when your benefits are being transferred, unless you request legalsuper, in writing, not to disclose your TFN to any other superannuation provider.

Declining to quote your TFN to legalsuper is not an offence. However, giving your TFN to legalsuper will have the following advantages:

- legalsuper will be able to accept all permitted types of contributions to your account/s;
- other than the tax that may ordinarily apply, you will not pay more tax than you need to. This affects both contributions to your superannuation and benefit payments when you start drawing down your superannuation benefits; and
- it will make it much easier to find different superannuation accounts in your name so that you receive all your superannuation benefits when you retire.

7. Declaration

3. Death and Total and Permanent Disablement (TPD) insurance

Subject to meeting the insurer's eligibility conditions, self-employed persons who are Personal members of legalsuper receive $250,000 of fixed Death and TPD insurance cover automatically upon joining legalsuper. This cover is subject to a Pre Existing Condition restriction. Cover commences on the later of the date that they joined the Fund or the date of receipt of the first contribution sufficient to cover their insurance premium. Spouse members of the Fund may only apply for Death Only insurance cover.

Members wishing to apply for higher cover need to complete a Superannuation change details form available at legalsuper.com.au or by calling 1800 060 312 (8am to 8pm [AEST] Monday to Friday).

4. Salary Continuance insurance

Personal members can protect up to 85% of their Salary (as defined by the insurer) for either 2 years, to age 60, or to age 65. To apply, complete a Superannuation change details form.

5. Nomination of beneficiary/ies

You may make a Non-binding nomination via MemberAccess.

All members of legalsuper may make a death benefit nomination. The Trustee will consider the most recent valid nomination that you have with legalsuper.

You may elect to make either a Binding or Non-binding nomination of beneficiary/ies to whom your accrued legalsuper entitlements (including any insurance proceeds) will be paid in the event of your death.

Please note that a death benefit nomination only applies to the particular legalsuper account that you specify that nomination for and the most recent valid nomination will apply only to that particular account.

A valid Non-binding nomination of preferred dependants is not binding on the Trustee, but will assist the Trustee in exercising its discretion. The Trustee will determine what proportion of your entitlements goes to one or more of your dependants or your legal personal representative (estate) on your death. Unless the Trustee decides to pay the benefits to your legal personal representative, your entitlements will not form part of your estate and will therefore not be subject to the terms of your Will.

A valid Binding nomination of dependant(s) or legal personal representative (estate) will bind the Trustee to pay your entitlements on your death exactly as you specify. Your nomination will only be valid and binding if it is made in accordance with the relevant requirements. One of these requirements is that you sign the declaration in this Section and have two persons over 18 years of age witness the declaration in your presence.

legalsuper does not accept any Binding nomination made under any form of Power of Attorney.

You are able to nominate both individual beneficiaries and a legal personal representative (estate).

'Dependant' is defined as:

- (a) the spouse of the person, any child of the person and any person with whom the person has an interdependency relationship at the relevant time (being in the case of a deceased person the date of their death); and
- (b) any other person who in the opinion of the Trustee is at the relevant time (being in the case of a deceased person the date of their death) wholly or partially dependent on the person.

Interdependency

Two persons have an interdependency relationship if:

- (a) they have a close personal relationship;
- (b) they live together;
- (c) one or each of them provides the other with financial support; and
- (d) one or each of them provides the other with domestic support and personal care.

Two people have an interdependency if they have a close personal relationship but do not satisfy the other requirements of an interdependency relationship because either or both of them suffer from physical, intellectual or psychiatric disability.

If you wish to make a Binding Nomination, you must submit this form with original signatures.

- Each beneficiary must be either a dependant as defined in this form or my legal personal representative at the time of my death.

6. Collection of Tax File Numbers (TFN)

Under the Superannuation Industry (Supervision) Act 1993, legalsuper is authorised to collect, use and disclose your TFN.

legalsuper may disclose your TFN to another superannuation provider, when your benefits are being transferred, unless you request legalsuper, in writing, not to disclose your TFN to any other superannuation provider.

Declining to quote your TFN to legalsuper is not an offence. However, giving your TFN to legalsuper will have the following advantages:

- legalsuper will be able to accept all permitted types of contributions to your account/s;
- other than the tax that may ordinarily apply, you will not pay more tax than you need to. This affects both contributions to your superannuation and benefit payments when you start drawing down your superannuation benefits; and
- it will make it much easier to find different superannuation accounts in your name so that you receive all your superannuation benefits when you retire.
