from Duke University Press for Use of Duke University Press e-books

The reference to Duke University Press e-book products in this site license applies to all of the products listed in Appendix A. Please select the specific product(s) that you are ordering.

Duke University Press at Box 90660 Duke University, Durham NC 27708-0660 USA, as Owner and Publisher of Duke University Press e-book products, hereby grants to a nontransferable and nonexclusive annual right and license to access, receive, disseminate locally, and use Duke University Press e-book products (product(s) listed in Appendix A), according to the procedures, terms, and conditions set forth in this Agreement; and with the signature below, the Licensee accepts these terms.

1. Warranty of Publisher Right to Offer Resource

Duke University Press warrants to the Licensee that it is fully authorized to disseminate, in accordance with the terms and conditions hereof, the Licensed Material; and that the Licensed Material, if used as contemplated in this License, does not in any known way infringe any copyright or other proprietary or intellectual property rights of any natural or legal person. Duke University Press reserves the right to remove any content in cases where it becomes clear that Duke University Press does not hold electronic rights.

2. Scope of License

Access to Duke University Press e-book content will be made available to all Internet Protocol (ip) addresses within the domain of the Licensee, as described at the end of this document. All members of the Licensee's campus or institutional community who are authorized to use the computers within this domain are deemed Authorized Users of the site license. Walk-ins are also deemed Authorized Users of the site license, but do not have remote access privileges. For an organization with locations in more than one city, each location is considered to be a separate site and would require a separate license agreement unless a separate agreement could be negotiated between Duke University Press and the Licensee (with or without additional fees being required by Duke University Press). Any such amendments will not be valid unless attached in writing to the License Agreement.

3. Access and Availability

Duke University Press, either directly or through a contractor, shall use all reasonable endeavors to make access available on a 24-hour basis. But if access is suspended or interrupted or a defect occurs that prevents access, Duke University Press's liability shall be limited to using all reasonable efforts to restore access as soon as is practicable.

4. Permitted Use and Prohibitions

Authorized Users may view, download, save, and print Duke University Press e-book content from the database for their own noncommercial educational and research use, but may not further disseminate this content in its electronic form without express written permission from Duke University Press. It is strictly prohibited for the Licensee to engage in systematic bulk downloading of full text without express written permission from Duke University Press. The Licensee will exercise reasonable efforts to ensure that access to and use of Duke University Press e-books is limited to Authorized Users. Provisions for sharing by the Licensee of Duke University Press e-book content with persons outside the Licensee's campus or institution, or with other institutions (including institutions affiliated with the Licensee), may be negotiated between Duke University Press and the Licensee (with or without additional fees being required by Duke University Press). Any such amendments will not be valid unless attached in writing to this License Agreement.

Interlibrary loan: Licensee may fulfill requests from other libraries for single-use by a requestor. Licensee agrees to fulfill such requests in accordance with the U.S. Copyright Act. Requests may be fulfilled using electronic, paper, or intermediated means. This Agreement shall not diminish the rights of the Licensee or Authorized Users to use the Licensed Material in ways consistent with fair use, as defined in U.S. copyright law (U.S. Code Title 17, Sections 107 and 108). In the event that any content included in the Licensed Material is in the public domain or has been issued under a Creative Commons or other open license, Duke University Press shall not place restrictions on that content beyond those found in the open license, where applicable.

Artificial Intelligence: Training of Large Language Models and other artificial intelligence systems without permission granted by Duke University Press is explicitly prohibited, except where such artificial intelligence tool is used locally in a self-hosted environment or closed hosted environment and, in either environment, solely for use by Licensee; is not trained or fine-tuned using the Subscribed, Purchased, or Licensed materials or any part thereof; and does not share them or any part thereof with a third party. End-users may utilize AI research tools to enhance discoverability of the DUP content but not for the creation, distribution, or sale of new products.

Electronic reserves and coursepacks: Content for course or research use that is supplied to the end user at no cost may be made available without explicit permission or fee. Content that is provided to the end user for a fee of any sort may not be made available without explicit permission from Duke University Press.

5. Breach

Under ordinary circumstances, should a breach of this Agreement by the Licensee or an Authorized User come to the attention of Duke University Press, Duke University Press will inform the Licensee and provide a reasonable amount of time (ordinarily 30 days) for investigation and, if necessary, correction of the breach. But Duke University Press shall have the right immediately to suspend this License Agreement, without need for provision of proof, if it determines that the Licensee has committed a serious and material breach of the Agreement or one that is likely to continue. If it is feasible to cut off the access of a single offending user, rather than the entire institution, that will be done.

6. Changes to License

This Agreement constitutes the entire agreement and supersedes all prior communications, understandings, and agreements, until such time as modifications or amendments to the Agreement are mutually agreed to in writing and signed by the authorized representatives of both parties.

7. Usage Statistics

Duke University Press will make a reasonable effort to supply the Licensee with usage statistics in accordance with the guidelines of icolc (International Coalition of Library Consortia) and/or Project counter.
