I-MED Radiology Network acquires Port Macquarie X-Ray
New name, same caring staff and quality services at 65 Lord Street clinic

6 November 2019: Australia's leading radiology provider, I-MED Radiology Network, has acquired Port Macquarie X-Ray.

Since expanding its presence on NSW's mid-north coast last year, I-MED Radiology has been providing state-of-the-art medical imaging, reporting and patient care to Port Macquarie residents and clinicians.

Port Macquarie X-Ray is a long-established and highly regarded radiology services provider in the region. The clinic's services include a comprehensive range of medical imaging procedures such as x-ray, MRI, CT, ultrasound and interventional procedures.

"Dr Bob Marshall and his team have an outstanding reputation in the local community for providing exceptional service to patients and referrers, which makes Port Macquarie X-Ray an excellent fit with I-MED Radiology," said Jason Martinez, General Manager I-MED Radiology NSW/ACT.

"We look forward to welcoming Port Macquarie X-Ray's staff and radiologists to the team and continuing to provide an exceptional service experience for both medical practitioners and patients on NSW's mid-north coast," Mr Martinez added.

The clinic at 65 Lord Street will be rebranded 'I-MED Radiology' in the coming weeks. The contact details for the clinic will remain unchanged.

I-MED Radiology is also located in the Port Macquarie Base Hospital, and in Kempsey, Wauchope, Coffs Harbour and Nambucca.
