9. When is it mandatory to report suspected indecency with a child?	Professionals must report when they have reasonable cause to believe that a child is a victim of the offense of indecency with a child and the child has been abused.	Tex. Penal Code § 21.11. Tex. Fam. Code § 261.101(b).
10. Can one person report on behalf of the school?	No. A professional may not delegate or rely on another person to make a report. Each professional school employee who suspects abuse or neglect must make a report.	Tex. Fam. Code § 261.101(b).
11. Should a report be made to DFPS, law enforcement, or both?	Generally, a person can submit a required report of suspected abuse or neglect to either law enforcement or to DFPS. But if the report involves suspected abuse or neglect by an individual responsible for the care, custody or welfare of the child, such as a parent or a teacher, then the report must always be made to DFPS. Often, school district employees choose to report to both agencies to ensure a swift response. DFPS and law enforcement have mutual obligations to inform each other immediately about reports of abuse.	Tex. Fam. Code §§ 261.103, .105(a)-(b). 40 Tex. Admin. Code § 707.487.

19. If a district receives a complaint, tip, or other information alleging abuse by a school employee, should the district confront the school employee before making a report?	As described below, DFPS and law enforcement strongly discourage notifying alleged perpetrators before DFPS can commence an investigation due to the high risk that valuable evidence (such as text messages, emails, etc.) will be destroyed before the investigation begins.	Tex. Fam. Code §§ 261.303, .406. 40 Tex. Admin. Code §§ 707.615, .619.
20. Is a reporter’s identity confidential?	Yes, the identity of a reporter is confidential and is redacted from all records shared outside of DFPS or law enforcement. In addition, reporters have whistleblower protection and immunity from legal claims arising out of the report.	Tex. Fam. Code §§ 261.101(d), .106, .110, .201.

Child Abuse Investigations
1. When will a report be treated as a school investigation?	A report will be treated as a school investigation when the allegations would meet the legal definition of abuse or neglect, the alleged perpetrator meets the definition of school personnel or volunteer , the alleged victim was a child at the time, the abuse occurred in the current school year or there is a likelihood that sufficient evidence can be obtained, and the abuse happened in a school setting .	40 Tex. Admin. Code § 707.609 (referencing definitions in 40 Texas Administrative Code section 707.607).
2. Will a district be notified when a school employee is being investigated regarding an allegation of abuse in the school?	If DFPS determines that that alleged abuse involves an employee at the student’s school, DFPS must orally inform the superintendent. Before conducting an investigation of abuse in a school setting, DFPS must notify the school principal of the nature of the report and the time the investigator will visit the campus.	Tex. Fam. Code § 261.105(d). 40 Tex. Admin. Code § 707.615(a).
3. May a superintendent tell an employee suspected of abuse that a DFPS investigation is starting?	A DFPS investigator beginning an investigation in a school setting must request that the principal not alert the alleged perpetrator or others regarding the report until the investigator has first	40 Tex. 	had an opportunity to interview the alleged perpetrator.	Admin. Code § 707.491(c) (indicating that initial interviews can be announced or unannounced at the option of the investigator).
4. Should an employee accused of abuse be suspended from duties?	Depending on the circumstances, it may be appropriate to place an individual on administrative leave pending an investigation or otherwise take steps to separate the accused from children in the school setting. The timing of this leave should take into consideration the need for secrecy, if any, regarding the launch of a DFPS investigation.
5. How soon will a DFPS investigator respond to a report of abuse or neglect?	DFPS is required to respond within 24 hours to priority one reports (defined as reports involving an immediate risk of death or serious harm) and within 72 hours to priority two reports (all other reports). 9. What records can a district give DFPS during an investigation?	Generally, under FERPA, parental consent is required before a school district can release a student’s personally identifiable student record information, other than directory information. Three exceptions may permit a school district to share confidential records with a child abuse investigator without parental consent: <ul style="list-style-type: none"> • Health and safety, if there is an “articulable and significant threat” to the health or safety of the student or of another individual. • CAPTA, the Child Abuse Prevention and Treatment Act, which requires school officials to report child abuse and release records related to suspected abuse or neglect. • A subpoena, and while normally the district must notify parents before complying with a subpoena, notice is not required if the issuing agency requires the content of the subpoena to remain confidential. 	20 U.S.C. § 1232g, 34 C.F.R. 10. Will the district be told the result of the DFPS investigation?	After an investigation of abuse in a school, DFPS sends the completed report to TEA. On request, the report is also provided to SBEC, the school district board of trustees or governing body of the charter school, the superintendent, and the principal or director, unless the principal or director is alleged to have committed the abuse or neglect.	Tex. Fam. Code § 261.406(b).
11. What if a school employee is investigated for the abuse or neglect of a child who is not a student (i.e. a non-school investigation), such as an allegation that the school employee abused or neglected the employee’s own child at home?	After an investigation report, DFPS shall release information regarding a person alleged to have committed abuse or neglect to TEA, SBEC, and the local district if DFPS determines that the accused poses a substantial and immediate risk to children outside his or her family and the release of information is necessary to protect other children.	Tex. Fam. Code § 261.308(d).
12. What can district employees tell a child’s parents about a DFPS investigation involving the child?	School district employees should not release information to parents about ongoing investigations. After a child abuse investigation is complete, parents may seek information directly from DFPS.	Tex. Fam. Code § 261.406(b).

Question	Short Answer	Citations	Other Resources
13. Does a school district have an obligation to complete its own investigation of alleged abuse of a student by a school employee? How should a district coordinate with DFPS and law enforcement?	Both state and federal law suggest that when a school employee is accused of abusing a student a school district should not rely solely on investigations by other entities but should conduct its own investigation. For the reasons explained herein, however, the district must carefully avoid interfering with a law enforcement or DFPS investigation. School employees should consult closely with legal counsel regarding this matter.
14. Will information about a DFPS investigation be shared during SBEC proceedings?	Yes, in a contested case related to SBEC or other licensure, either party may request information for the administrative proceeding. In addition, SBEC will receive or can request investigation information from DFPS. This in no way alters superintendents' reporting obligation to SBEC.	Tex. Alternative or Temporary Care Arrangements
1. Are all students living with relatives or other caregivers considered to be in foster care?	No, often a student living in a household without a parent is doing so through an informal arrangement, without formal documentation. (See power of attorney, below.) In addition, after completing an investigation, DFPS may permit temporary placement with extended family while changes are made to the home environment to avoid removal (See PCSP, below.) These arrangements are not considered foster care. If, however, a child is removed from home by DFPS under a court order and placed with a relative in Kinship Care, this is considered foster care, and the student will have a DFPS Placement Authorization Form 2085 (see below).
2. What is a Parental Child Safety Placement (PCSP) agreement?	A PCSP agreement is when DFPS and a parent agree on a short-term, out-of-home placement for a child because CPS has determined that the child cannot safely live in the parent’s home due to certain factors. The purpose of a PCSP is to keep the child safe until the child can safely return to the parent.	Tex. Fam. Code ch. 264, subch. L.	DFPS, Parental Child Safety Placement (PCSP) Resource Guide

Question	Short Answer	Citations	Other Resources
	If a child is in a PCSP pursuant to a DFPS investigation, the parties may enter into an authorization agreement for a nonparent relative to allow the caregiver to make certain decisions on behalf of the child. The agreement gives the nonparent relative temporary authority to authorize medical care, enroll the child in school, and agree to extracurricular activities.	Tex. Fam. Code § 34.002.
3. How should school employees respond if parents appear to be violating the terms of a PCSP?	School employees should give parents full rights and privileges, regardless of a PCSP agreement. A PCSP is voluntary by all parties, and parents can revoke at any time. Under the agreement, parents retain full parental rights.	Tex. Fam. Code §§ 34.003(b)(6), .007.
4. What is Kinship Care?	Kinship Care is substitute care by a family member or fictive kin (nonrelatives with whom the child has a close, long-term relationship) after DFPS removes a child from his or her home. In these instances, DFPS is the managing conservator of the child, and placement with the caregiver is established by a court order.		DFPS, Kinship Care

5. How should school employees respond if parents appear to be violating a court order regarding Foster Care or Kinship Care?	Call the child’s DFPS caseworker (or law enforcement for emergency response).
6. For students living with friends or extended family without a formal arrangement, can a school district require a power of attorney?	A school district may request a power of attorney, but a student who is residing in the district is likely to be eligible for admission regardless. A student who is not homeless, but is living separate from a parent or guardian, can be denied admission only if the district determines that the student is present for the purpose of extracurriculars or has had certain recent disciplinary issues. 7. What should a district do to assist a student in foster care with the transition to a new school?	Students in foster care often experience disruption in their education and home lives. Districts are required by law to have certain systems in place to ease transitions. For example, the Texas Administrative Code requires districts to facilitate transfer of student records, develop systems on the award of credit, placement in programs and courses, access to extracurricular activities, and more. In addition, districts must hold an enrollment conference for the student within the first two weeks of school or as soon as feasible.	19 Tex. Admin. Code ch. 89, subch.
