

VT Downing Global Investors Fund

November 2021 Commentary

The price of the F share class accumulation units in the VT Downing Global Investors Fund went from 172.2183 pence to 177.8040 pence during the month.

November was a constructive month until Covid reappeared, and then it was back to the future. At present, the relevance of the South African variant is not clear. Some days the hospitality and airline stocks soar, others they tank, and always marching in the opposite direction are diagnostics and vaccine inventor shares. The Grand Old Duke of York's troops ain't seen nothing!! Our initial take is that higher energy and food prices were already diverting discretionary spending budgets to non-discretionary ones. To the extent that renewed Covid restrictions slow discretionary spending further those two forces do the job of suppressing inflation, if it were needed, that might have been done by higher rates. So, the likelihood of materially higher interest rates is pushed further out, which means we are earlier in the economic cycle than we all think.

Behind all of that, and according to UN trade and development body UNCTAD, worldwide commerce stands at record levels again. Encouragingly, trade flows continue to increase more strongly for developing countries (where the huge and economically immature populations are) than developed economies. So, Covid permitting, global economic conditions are indeed constructive.

And what about the metaverse? This is becoming a new theme for this fund and we are increasingly engaged through the enabling machinery, data management, and services businesses involved. Trading volume for non-fungible tokens (NFTs) hit $10.67 billion in the third quarter of 2021, up 704% from the previous quarter, according to analytics platform DappRadar. Out of that total value, $2.3 billion came from trade within NFT games according to Blockchaingamer.biz. Today, almost 3 billion people around the world play video games representing a $336 billion industry, according to BITKRAFT Ventures, making it the world's largest media category ahead of linear TV, on demand entertainment, film, and music. There is an entire infrastructure building around professional gaming, where money is being traded and collateralised, enabling a much broader 'ether economy'.

About the fund

The VT Downing Global Investors Fund is a thematically invested fund focused on the needs and wants of the growing middle-class population. We believe this population is a homogeneous borderless group, showing a single set of demands and aspirations. Currently numbering around 3.3 billion, we believe the global middle-class will be closer to 5.3 billion at the end of this decade. That is a needle-moving demographic to be engaged with that will drive our six key themes:
