Olga: We're Out of Here!

Elise Gravel

Olga, the animal-loving scientist returns in a second laugh-out-loud adventure for fans of Tom Gates, Barry Loser and Timmy Failure.

Olga's trip to outer space is postponed when her possibly-alien but definitely-cute pet, Meh, comes down with a case of the Pink-Pox. Meh is acting weird. She won't eat olives. She sleeps for 12 hours at a time. She'd rather pee on the rug than go for a walk in the park. And she smells bad – REALLY bad – worse than usual!

But the vet is a silly human, and Olga does NOT trust humans. Can she solve Meh's mystery illness herself? Girl power, wacky jokes, kooky science facts and an adorable furry pink alien blob – resist if you can!

Walker Books are delighted to announce the acquisition of a teen handbook by Nikki Lilly – YouTube sensation with over a million subscribers, presenter of her own CBBC show Nikki Lilly Meets, and winner of the 2016 Junior Bake Off. Executive Editorial Director Denise Johnstone Burt acquired World Rights, all languages, for one book via Blakeway North, producers of Nikki's CBBC content. The book, titled Nikki Lilly's Come on Life: Highs, Lows and How to Live Your Best Teen Life will publish in hardback priced at £12.99 in October 2020.

Nikki Lilly began her YouTube channel at the age of eight, after being diagnosed with a rare medical condition called an arteriovenous malformation (AVM), which means there are no pathways between her veins and arteries, causing her veins to expand and rupture. The condition creates life-threatening nose bleeds, facial swelling and migraines, but despite this Nikki has built a huge online following, thanks to her inspirational messages of positivity. As well as her YouTube videos, Nikki has her own CBBC series, Nikki Lilly Meets, in which she chats to some of the country's top celebs from Louis Theroux to Theresa May. In 2016, she won Junior Bake Off and was awarded the Child of Courage Award at Pride of Britain. In 2019, Nikki won an International Emmy Kids Award for her programme My Life: Born to Vlog and became the youngest ever recipient of the BAFTA Special Award.

In Nikki's first book, she offers all teen readers an inspiring and contemporary outlook on how to live their best life. With pages of beautifully written content about Nikki own experiences, as well as inspirational quotes, top tips and reader challenges, Nikki Lilly's Come on Life: Highs, Lows and How to Live Your Best Teen Life is an essential handbook for all teens navigating modern life, by one of the most celebrated teen voices today.

Denise Johnstone Burt said:

"I feel privileged to have worked with Nikki. She is a deeply inspirational and life affirming young person who faces the challenges that life has thrown at her with incredible spirit. The amount she has achieved already at such a young age, and the huge following she has built up, are both testament to her brilliant outlook on life, how many young people she has inspired and how much other teens identify with her."

Nikki Lilly said:

"Life can throw many obstacles at you, but it's how you deal with them that defines who you are. I did not choose to be born with a chronic illness, but I do choose to make the most of every single day in my life and make every second count. Imagine if every single one of us could inspire just one person, what an amazing world this would be."

Mother Goose of Pudding Lane

Chris Raschka

Illustrated Vladimir Radunsky

From celebrated picture book creators Chris Raschka and Vladimir Radunsky comes one possible answer to the age-old question: Who was Mother Goose?

We all love to hear Mother Goose rhymes and riddles. But did you know that there was a real Mother Goose who lived in Boston three hundred years ago? In 1692, Elizabeth Foster married a widower with ten children. His name was Isaac Goose, and after they married, Elizabeth became Mother Goose. She and Isaac had six more children together, and to help her care for such a big and boisterous family, Mother Goose sang songs and lullabies and made up rhymes and poems. Her nursery rhymes and stories were published at a print shop on Pudding Lane in Boston, though no copies of her book exist today.

In a book featuring some of Mother Goose's best-loved works, Vladimir Radunsky's bright and humorous illustrations and Chris Raschka's rhyming poems tell the little-known story of the Goose children, Isaac and Elizabeth herself – the Mother Goose of Pudding Lane.

Elizabeth Goose
Met
Isaac Goose,
Who loved her from the start.

As I was going up Pippen Hill,
Pippen Hill was dirty.
There I met a pretty miss
And she dropt me a curtsy.
Little miss, pretty miss,
Blessings light upon you!
If I had half a crown a day,
I'd spend it gladly on you.

Mirror, mirror, tell me,
Am I pretty or plain?
Or am I downright ugly
And ugly to remain?
Shall I marry a gentleman?
Shall I marry a clown?
Or shall I marry old Knives-and-Scissors
Shouting through the town?

Elizabeth Goose
Asked
Isaac Goose,
"Will you be my true heart?"

On Saturday night
shall be my care
To powder my locks
and curl my hair.

On Sunday morning
my love will come in,
When he will marry me
with a gold ring.

Elizabeth Goose
With
Isaac Goose
Began her life anew.

Lavender blue and rosemary green,
When I am king you shall be queen;
Call up my maids at four o'clock,
Some to the wheel and some to the rock;
Some to make hay and some to shear corn,
And you and I will keep the bed warm.

In a cottage in Fife
Lived a man with his wife,
Who, believe me, were comical folk:
For, to people's surprise,
They both saw with their eyes,
And their tongues moved whenever they spoke!
When quite fast asleep,
I've been told that to keep
Their eyes open they could not contrive;
They walked on their feet,
It was thought what they eat
Helped, with drinking, to keep them alive!
What's amazing to tell,
I have heard that their smell
Chiefly lay in a thing called their nose!
And though strange are such tales,
On their fingers they'd nails,
As well as on each of their toes!

Theodora Hendrix 01: Monstrous League of Monsters

Jordan Kopy

Illustrated Chris Jevons

If you think monsters don't exist, just ask Theodora Hendrix. The start of a brilliantly funny new series, perfect for fans of Amelia Fang.

The first rule of the Monstrous League of Monsters is: Keep monsters hidden from humans. But when zombie George and his cat companion Bandit find an abandoned baby, they can't leave her to be eaten by hobgoblins. So they spirit her home where she quickly becomes part of the family. Fast-forward ten years, and young Theodora doesn't seem too scarred by her monstrous upbringing.

But now a series of anonymous letters suggest that someone is about to reveal their secret. If Theodora doesn't act fast, she may lose her family for ever...

On the Move: Poems About Migration

Michael Rosen

Illustrated Quentin Blake

Former Children's Laureates Michael Rosen and Sir Quentin Blake join forces for a personal and uniquely affecting collection of poems about migration.

"What you leave behind Won't leave your mind. But home is where you find it. Home is where you find it."

Michael Rosen and Sir Quentin Blake join forces for a landmark new collection, focusing on migration and displacement. Michael's poems are divided into four: in the first series, he draws on his childhood as part of a first-generation Polish family living in London; in the second, on his perception of the War as a young boy; in the third, on his "missing" relatives and the Holocaust; and in the fourth, and final, on global experiences of migration.

By turns charming, shocking and heart-breaking, this is an anthology with a story to tell and a powerful point to make: "You can only do something now."

A Story about Sorting and Classifying

WALKER STUDIO

One of a Kind

Neil Packer

Publishing in the Walker Studio imprint, this witty, magnificently-illustrated book plays with the idea of "sorting".

The animal kingdom, modes of transport, musical instruments, art and architectural movements, and even the clouds in the sky ... anything and everything can be sorted into groups! Framed by a charming narrative about a father and son, this is a book about categories; on a journey into town, a boy called Arvo explores the many ways in which we classify the world around us, to fascinating – and often charming – effect.

One of a Kind marks Neil Packer's debut as an author-illustrator, following his extraordinary artwork for Peter Frankopan's The Silk Roads. With a witty text and breath-taking pictures, this story deserves its title: a true original by a remarkable talent.

In the Half Room

Carson Ellis

From the Caldecott Honor–winning creator of Home and Du Iz Tak? comes a gorgeous and quirky tale of an extraordinary room where everything is a half.

The half room is full of half things. A half chair, a half cat, even half shoes – all just as nice and weird and friendly as whole things. When half a knock comes on half a door, who in the world could it be? With her trademark touch of magic and whimsy, Caldecott Honor winner Carson Ellis explores halves and wholes in an ingenious and thought-provoking picture book. The lightly rhyming text is soothing yet spirited, revealing the many absurdities and possibilities to be discovered in this irresistibly fanciful home. Ink and gouache illustrations featuring wry detail and velvety textures conjure a dreamlike mood while leaving space for imagining. A celebration of the surreal and the serendipitous, and the beauty of the two together, this brilliant picture book will have readers seeing the joys of halves with whole new eyes.

The Midnight Fair

Gideon Sterer

Illustrated Mariachiara Di Giorgio

A spectacular, surreal and cinematic wordless picture book about the secret life of animals.

Far from the city, but not quite in the countryside, lies a fairground. When night falls, and the fair is empty, something unexpected happens. Wild animals emerge from the trees, a brave raccoon pulls a lever, and the rollercoasters and rides explode back into bright, neon life. Now it's time for the woodland creatures to have some fun...

A story that asks the ever-enchanting question what happens when there are no humans around?, and imagines the most fantastical answer.

See all your favourite fairground rides – the carousel, a rollercoaster, bumper cars, tea cups, arcade games, candyfloss stands and many more!

Mariachiara's artwork is packed with clever secondary narratives to follow and characters to spot on each page – children will spend hours poring over these many hidden details.

Jabari Tries

Gaia Cornwall

Jabari is inventing a machine that will fly all the way across the yard! But making it go from CRASH to WHOOSH will take grit, patience, and maybe even a little help from his sister.

Jabari is making a flying machine in his backyard! “It’ll be easy. I don’t need any help,” he declares. But it doesn’t work! Jabari is frustrated. Good thing Dad is there for a pep talk and his little sister, Nika, is there to assist, fairy wings and all.

With the endearing father-child dynamic of Jabari Jumps and engaging mixed-media illustrations, Gaia Cornwall’s tale shows that through perseverance and flexibility, an inventive thought can become a brilliant reality.

SNOW WOMAN

David McKee

Snow Woman

By David McKee

Illustrated by David McKee

Master storyteller David McKee challenges gender stereotyping, when a child decides to build a snow woman instead of a snowman.

When Rupert and Kate tell their parents they're going to make a snowman, both Mum and Dad correct them, "You mean a snowperson." Originally published over 30 years ago, this is a deceptively simple story that overthrows gender stereotypes in a wonderfully tongue-in-cheek way that only David McKee could accomplish.

Challenges unnecessary gender stereotyping in a way which is very easy for children to understand.

David McKee is the creator of well-known characters including King Rollo, Mr Benn and Elmer the Patchwork Elephant. His books are enjoyed by children all over the world.

I Was Made For You

David Lucas

Cat was knitted by Mum out of the softest, fluffiest wool, and wrapped in shiny paper and a big, pink ribbon... but why was he made?

When you are brand new, the world is full of questions, and if you are brave it can be full of answers too. Cat asks the wind, the stars and the trees for help, but it is only when he discovers love that he also finds his purpose.

Cat was made from the softest, fluffiest wool.
"Why was I made?" asked Cat.

Mummy squeezed him tight and whispered,
"It's a surprise."

Cat was wrapped up with ribbon.
"Sit very still," said Mummy.
Cat sat very still. "No peeping."

Cat couldn't see out of his wrapping.
He didn't know where he was, but he could hear laughter and a little girl singing.

"Why was I made?" asked Cat,
but nobody seemed to hear.

Then there was silence, as if the whole world were asleep.
Cat peeped out of his wrapping.

There, just in front of his nose was a label:
DAISY.
"That's not my name," said Cat. "There must be some mistake."

Cat looked out at the DARKNESS.
"Why was I made?" asked Cat.
He didn't expect a reply.
"Wait until morning," said the DARKNESS, "then you'll see."
But Cat couldn't wait.
Cat needed answers.

The Polar Express

Chris Van Allsburg

Late on Christmas Eve, after the town has gone to sleep, a boy boards a mysterious train that waits for him: the Polar Express bound for the North Pole. When he arrives there, Santa offers him any gift he desires. The boy modestly asks for one bell from the reindeer's harness. It turns out to be a very special gift, for only believers in Santa can hear it ring.

On Christmas Eve, many years ago, I lay quietly in my bed. I did not rustle the sheets. I breathed slowly and silently. I was listening for a sound – a sound a friend had told me I'd never hear – the ringing bells of Santa's sleigh.

"There is no Santa," my friend had insisted, but I knew he was wrong. Late that night I did hear sounds, though not of ringing bells. From outside came the sounds of hissing steam and squeaking metal. I looked through my window and saw a train standing perfectly still in front of my house.

It was wrapped in an apron of steam. Snowflakes fell lightly around it. A conductor stood at the open door of one of the cars. He took a large pocket watch from his vest, then looked up at my window. I put on my slippers and robe. I tiptoed downstairs and out the door.

"All aboard," the conductor cried out. I ran up to him.

"Well," he said, "are you coming?"

"Where?" I asked.

"Why, to the North Pole of course," was his answer. "This is the Polar Express." I took his outstretched hand and he pulled me aboard.

The train was filled with other children, all in their pyjamas and nightgowns. We sang Christmas carols and ate candies with nougat centres as white as snow. We drank hot cocoa as thick and rich as melted chocolate bars. Outside, the lights of towns and villages flickered in the distance as the Polar Express raced northward.

Illustrated Jean-Jacques Sempe

A classic French story from Nobel Prize-winner Patrick Modiano and celebrated illustrator Jean-Jacques Sempe.

Beautifully illustrated, this is a love letter to Paris, ballet and childhood for fans of The Little Prince, Le Petit Nicholas and Madeline.

Catherine lives with her gentle father, Georges Certitude, who runs a shipping business in Paris with a failed poet named Casterade. Father and daughter share the simple pleasures of daily life: sitting in the church square, walking to school, going to her ballet class every Thursday afternoon. But just why did Georges change his name to Certitude? What kind of trouble with the law did Casterade rescue him from? And why did Catherine's ballerina mother leave to return to New York?
