

NEED TO SELL UNUSED TEST EQUIPMENT?

Unlock the Value of Older Assets with Our Consignment Service

Companies often experience lab and storage space issues with rarely used equipment. In many cases, these instruments have remaining market value.

How Do I Get Started?

After we receive your list of unneeded test equipment, our team performs a comprehensive evaluation and provides a report with recommendations for each item. Units approved for sale are put 'on consignment', and equipment can be added or removed from the pool at any point prior to sale.

Why Electro Rent?

Electro Rent has implemented consignment solutions for global leaders in telecommunications, semiconductor manufacturing, and defense.

With a trusted network of buyers, a deep understanding of product specifications, and detailed condition evaluations, we can accurately assess the potential of older assets. Our experience and longstanding relationships with buyers help you get the most from your unwanted equipment.
